Capacity crowd welcomes master

A capacity crowd turned out last Tuesday to welcome the Grand Master of Ontario, Bro. Emery Hathaway, on his annual visit to Madoc District No. 45.

This year the banquet was held in the IOOF hall where members from Thomasburg, Tweed, Stirling, Campbellford, Springbrook and Madoc Lodges were gathered for a meal and program.

The evening was chaired by Bro. Cecil Hagerman, District Deputy Grand Master of the district.

Following the introduction of the head table guests and visiting dignitaries from Grand Lodge, song selections were rendered by Elwood Hamilton, Springbrook, and Mr and Mrs. Harold Bailey, Madoc, accompanied at the piano by Mrs. Jean Bailey.

The Dr. S.R. Beatty shield for the Lodge initiating the most candidates in the past year was presented to Bro. Gary Reid of Madoc Lodge. The John Bristol shield for the member bringing in the most new candidates for the past year was presented to Bro. Ralph Atkinson, of the Campbellford Lodge.

Bro. Frank Varley thanked the Rebekahs Lodge for the meal.

The evening was brought to a close with selections with Jean Bailey at the piano, Bill Taylor at the violin and Cecil Hagerman on the banjo.

Variety of activity at C.W.L. Yule party

The annual Christmas meeting of Sacred Heart C.W.L. was held in the Parish Hall beginning with the celebration of Mass at six o'clock on Monday evening, December 1st. This was followed by a bounteous pot luck supper, to which about eighteen members and guests sat down.

The meeting opened with the League Prayer, led by Father Murphy. The minutes of the last two meetings were read and approved. Roll Call was taken. The Treasurer's report was given by Monica Tobin.

A discussion took place on the amount to be paid to a caretaker for the church and the hall. It was left to Father Murphy and League President, Mrs. Helen Murphy, to reach an agreement in the rate of pay with the person hired.

Eenie Mahoney reported that the float for the Christmas Parade, entitled, "Let's Put Christ Back into Christmas", is shaping up well. She requested financial assistance from the League for small expenses incurred.

Tickets are now printed for the New Year's Party. These were distributed to the members for selling. Lunch for this dance will consist of the usual cold salads, ham, etc.

A list of Christmas shut-ins was compiled to be sent seasonal greetings from the League.

A discussion took place on the scholarship to be awarded by the C.W.L. at next year's graduation ceremonies by C.H.S.S. Monica Tobin will look after making an investment at Victoria and Grey on behalf of the League, the interest from which will be used for the scholarship.

A thank-you card was read from Ed Tobin for the box of fruit he had received while in the hospital.

It was decided that the C.W.L. meetings would be held on a regular basis on the second Tuesday of every other month, the next falling due in February.

It was reported that $35 was sent to the Mental Health Association for the Christmas Party at the Madoc Manor.

The meeting adjourned on motion of Marion Mahoney, seconded by Helen Murphy.

Father Murphy then showed a film entitled, "The Good, Good, Good, Good Life", followed with a thought-provoking question-answer period.

An exchange of Christmas gifts brought the meeting to a pleasant close.

Major development

Says area losing out to south

Newly elected Hastings-Peterborough Provincial Liberal Association president Don Mullan of Marmora called upon the provincial government to quit treating residents of the area as second class citizens as he addressed the association's annual meeting in Madoc.

"Statisticians tell us there will be 2 million people living in Eastern Ontario by the year 2000," he said.

"This means a lot of new residential, industrial and commercial development, with its new assessment and tax dollars.

"But we along the Highway 7 area, in places like Norwood, Havelock, Marmora and Madoc, and to a lesser extent, the nearby centres of Stirling and Tweed, are not going to share in this year's wealth.

"The Conservative government, in planning the development for the southern areas along Highway 401, has designated us as a recreational area - a playground for the boys from the south.

"This means that our municipal councils, struggling already with the grips of inflation and increasing mill rates, are not going to get the new assessment that is so necessary to relieve the already overburdened taxpayers."

Mr. Mullan said that while the government has designated the area as recreational, it has failed to come up with very much help in the way of giving it a major tourist attraction.

"Yet it gave Toronto Ontario Place and the Science Centre, is helping the south with the Heritage Highways and has planned a large recreational complex for the north.

"What have we got in the way of help? Some colored brochures regarding the rock hunting in the Bancroft area. And with those crumbs, we are supposed to be satisfied?"

"It is time we let the government know we are not happy," Mr. Mullan contended. "We can only do it by actively campaigning for a change, and a government that cares about the rural areas of this province."

Flat tire cause area accident

Provincial police said Thursday a flat tire on a tractor trailer caused the vehicle to veer onto the right shoulder, jack-knife, and enter the north ditch.

The accident occurred on Highway 7, near the Whispering Pines Motel.

Driver of the vehicle, George Maisonneuve, 38, of Quebec, escaped serious injury, but damages were estimated at $5,000.

$275. damage two-car accident

Damage was estimated by police at $275 last Wednesday in a two-car accident on Highway 14, one-half mile south of Stirling.

Police said a car driven by David Wease, 19, of Stirling, was attempting to pass a second vehicle, driven by William Prest, 44, of Peterborough, when the two cars collided.

No injuries were reported in the mishap.

TODAY'S HEALTH

There are many ways of bringing health care to the people. However, the Ontario Government's recently-proclaimed Health Disciplines Act is a little different in that through it the government aims to bring the people into health care.

Under the Act, the various health professions — dentistry, medicine, nursing, optometry and pharmacy to begin with (others are to be included later) — will regulate their own affairs. But from now on each of their governing bodies or Colleges will include one non-professional or more to represent the public interest.

These representatives of the general public will sit on each College's general council, and on all major committees, such as those for discipline and complaints.

In addition, there's a new, independent Health Disciplines Board composed entirely of members of the public, who have never been public servants of the province or members of any health profession.

Brownies off to active new season

The Brownie year for 1975-76 is now in full swing. For the first venture of the year, the local girls joined with other Brownies, Guides, Cubs and Scouts for the annual Church Parade on October 26th in Marmora. Again on November 11th, the girls, at the invitation of the Madoc Legion members, joined with other groups for the Remembrance Day Service here.

November 18th and 25th saw 15 new Brownies enrolled. The new members are: Lori Blair, Janice Fleming, Barbara Franks, Kathy Bronson, Pamela Bush, Candy Lloyd, Dawn Adams, Shelley Bates, Jill Wiggins, Molly Clark, Lori Sawkins, Leigh Bates, Rita Hagerman, Sherri Whiteman, and Lois Parsons. Led by their sixers to the toadstool, they made their Promises and were welcomed to either first or second Madoc Brownies.

Coming Events include the Christmas Parade on December 13th and a Christmas Party on December 16th, as the final meeting before the new year. The girls are now selling Christmas cakes to help raise the money for future projects.

Farewell party honors Jim Kirk on departure

The Tweed District of the Ministry of Natural Resources hosted a farewell party for Jim Kirk, Regional Air Engineer, Russ Whitfield, Regional Fisheries Biologist, and Russell Barton, Forest Technician of the Ministry's Plevna Field Office on Friday evening October 17.

Jim Kirk was a ferry command pilot during WWII and flew commercial aircraft prior to joining the former Department of Lands and Forests.

In chalking up close to 10,000 flying hours Jim flew Ministry aircraft out of such bases as Pickle Lake, Geraldton and prior to taking over as air engineer flew for the Tweed Forest District.

Doug Calver, Ministry pilot based at Tweed, spoke highly of his association with Jim and introduced Mr. Tom Cooke, Director of Air Service Branch, Sault Ste. Marie, who made the presentation.

Mr. Cooke traced Jim's flying career from World War 2 and reminisced on his long association with him in all parts of Ontario under all kinds of weather and air base conditions.

Jim and his wife Jo will continue to make their home in Tweed.

Hobson urges continued preparations

MADOC - The members of the Hastings-Peterborough Liberal Association last week were urged by candidate Dave Hobson to continue preparations for the next provincial election.

Hobson, who lost in the September 18 election to MPP Clarke Rollins, said the results had, nevertheless, been "very encouraging."

He said the riding had only been lost by 16 votes per poll and felt confident the gap could be lessened or overcome.

"It's not a monumental job although it's a job that will require an awful lot of work."

He said the Liberal party had gained 5,000 votes in the riding while the Conservatives had gained only 1,700.

"So we really did very well even though we didn't win."

Not quite so confident a picture was presented of the association's finances. Hobson said $7,525.81 had been received to date but placed expenditures at $12,135.07, leaving a net deficit of $4,609.26.

"But it doesn't look that bad really because we are entitled to the new provincial financing," he said.

Hobson explained the party had coming a maximum of $5,011.22 which would leave the association about $400 within its budget.

James Watson hands over presidential reigns to Don Mullan at area Liberal meet

Many new faces found on 1976 executive

There's a lot of new blood leading the Hastings-Peterborough Provincial Liberal Association.

Only three members of the party's 1975 executive were returned to office during the association's annual meeting and election of officers at the Madoc Public School.

Returning are Don Mullan, of Marmora, who was elected president to succeed James Watson of Madoc; Gordon Hoad, of Stirling, who was elected executive vice-president to succeed Breen O'Connor of Marmora; and James Watson, of Madoc, who remains on the executive as immediate past president.

Mr. Mullan served as party secretary for the last four months, being appointed by the executive to replace Wayne Milroy of Norwood who had tendered his resignation because of the pressure of new business acquisitions. Mr. Hoad has been vice-president (youth).

Newcomers are Stephanie Foster, of St. Oia, vice-president (women); Gloria Leveque, Maynooth, vice-president (youth); Dr. Raymond Kurys, of Madoc, vice-president; Wilma Brady, of Marmora, recording and corresponding secretary; Frances Heffernan, Norwood, membership secretary; and Richard Rashotte, of Tweed, treasurer and chief financial officer.

DEATHS

GORDON, Mrs. Flossie - At the Belleville General Hospital on Wednesday, November 26th, 1975, Flossie Gordon, in her 72nd year. Beloved wife of George Gordon of Queensboro, dear mother of Roy of St. Catharines; Allan of Port Dover, Carl of Queensboro; James of Queensboro; Gerald of Milton, Cecil of Belleville; Kenneth of Trenton; Raymond of Queensboro; Melvin of Queensboro; Margaret (Mrs. D. Foster); Lorraine (Mrs. F. Devolin) of Oshawa; and Doris (Mrs. B. Moore) of Belleville. Dearly loved by her 27 grandchildren and eight great-grandchildren.

Mrs. Gordon rested at the MacKenzie Funeral Home, Madoc, where services were held on Saturday, November 29th, 1975, at 1:00 p.m. Rev. A. Creaser officiated.

MPP GUEST SPEAKER

Need gov't incentives to aid smaller centres

John Eakins, Liberal MPP from Victoria-Haliburton, called upon the provincial government to give incentives to industry to move from the urban sprawl to the smaller communities as he addressed the annual meeting of the Hastings-Peterborough Provincial Liberal Association during the group's annual meeting in Madoc.

Agreeing "100 per cent" with new riding association president Don Mullan of Marmora, who earlier had told the meeting government incentives were needed to help the smaller municipalities of the area, Mr. Eakins said instead of the provincial government establishing land banks, it should encourage industry to move into the smaller centres, such as Madoc, and other area villages, where it would give the communities a "real shot in the arm."

Liberal critic for industry and tourism, Mr. Eakins said that while the provincial government has designated the area for tourism, it is giving the district "very little help."

Ontario Place, he pointed out, "is running a deficit of $4 million a year - think of how many areas could be helped with that kind of money."

Mr. Eakins said the Liberal party, and he, would support the Davis minority government on legislation which is felt to be good; but would oppose legislation, with constructive criticism, which is felt not to be in the best interests of the province. He contended the Liberal caucus is stronger and more united than ever before, and that with a new leader to be chosen in January, will be all set to fight and win the next election whenever it may come.

"And we want the Hastings-Peterborough riding to be part of that new Liberal government," he said, noting that the riding holds a great deal of respect among Liberal members at Queen's Park.

The speaker was introduced by Dave Hobson, area Liberal candidate in the past election, and was thanked by James Watson, the riding's immediate past-president.

New president Don Mullan of Marmora confers with Richard Rashotte of Tweed and Gord Hoad of Rawdon

Teachers should get back to priority!

Teachers should forget about trying to develop new curriculum and spend more time getting back to the number one priority - that of teaching in the classroom."

"These were the words of Lawrence Butt, a Grade 12-13 teacher of chemistry in an Ottawa high school, as he addressed members of the Hastings County Science Teachers Association in Belleville.

He said "teachers have failed in the whole concept of curriculum development. They have great ideas, but get frustrated."

"Teachers should leave the curriculum development to those with the time and the expertise," and spend their available time working with individual students.

Stressing the value of individualized instruction, he said the goals are the same, but that students move along the common track at differing speeds depending on their various abilities.

"Often teachers want the whole show to revolve around themselves. Individualized instruction removes the teacher from the spotlight - a shocking experience for some.

"Instead, the role of the teacher becomes one of consultant, reference person, learning experience organizer, developer of individual learning experiences, exploiter, case study initiator, evaluator and interviewer.

"Tell the kids exactly what's up - lay all your cards on the table.

"But you must have commitment - make your decision and work at it. If you just think it is a good idea, it won't work - unless the students make it work for you."

MONEY AVAILABLE

Wally Beevor, science co-ordinator of the Hastings County board of education, noted teachers are often confronted by various barriers. But he contended there are some funds available for projects, and suggested teachers apply for them.

"There are various sources," he said, suggesting if teachers can't get them from one fund, they may get them from another.

As you see it/ What about the tourist trade, Marmora?

What about the tourist trade, Marmora, if the rights to the waters are closed? As the invited guests to a birthday Thanksgiving dinner held at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Chute we speak with concern.

The guests included Mr. W. McGarvey and Benson Ivan Smith from the Carleton Board of Education of Ottawa, and relatives from Marmora and Miss Clark. We were appalled at the situation that arose.

We would like to say Glenn Mawer was asked if we could remove the boat from the river. We were told to go to hell. Immediately a number of friends of the Mawers arrived, including Barry Mawer. The road was then completely blocked by cars.

We were invited as huskies from Ottawa to come and they would show us what would happen. Ken Bonter also was there and the Reeve's son and later the Reeve. We refused to go. Mr. Mawer had been in his yard working all morning. There was no sign of fishing equipment in sight. There was a gun taken out of the truck and out of the case. Why? To try and show us we couldn't go to the river? Mrs. Chute doesn't believe Coun. Ted Bonter told his brother to have the gun there.

It was a disgraceful thing to happen. There was no profanity used by the Chutes. We did not force our way to get the boat Ollie Dollie out of the river. Later in a week's time Mr. Chute had Mr. Potts remove it with a backhoe.

Why were the police called? We understood it was public property and voted as so by the council. However if Marmora and township cries out to the Ontario government "we have no tourist trade" or industry, if the roads to beautiful Crowe Lake and river are closed, what then?

You will have to look back and remember one road was closed by Mr. Wells and council against the wishes of 59 people named on a petition. You need a man of principle such as Deputy-Reeve Wilkes who has public interest at heart.

It's a case for the Ontario Municipal Board and some government men of Ottawa say it's up to the people to go to the OMB.

What's the matter with the local MP Mr. Rollins who received a call supposedly from Claude Bennett, minister of tourism, to act before the last council meeting?

Can people take the river bed and fill it in? Many feet of it are involved at the Mawer property. Not according to Floyd Caverly from the Tweed office who phoned Mrs. Chute to be at rest they did not approve the situation as stated at council and while there investigating.

They state they will be at the next council meeting and left an invitation for Mr. and Mrs. Chute to be there. They will give a statement to the Herald later after the council meeting.

Marmora, how about your summer visitors and tourists who visit your stores? Take your excellent local paper - three people promote business in your area. In the future will they want to visit your area if the roads are closed to the water? Are you going to let it happen? You must face the future without the tourist trade if you don't at this time come forth in support of people like the Chutes who loved their area and lawn enough to protest so other roads won't be closed.

It took courage for them, and especially Olive, to walk to the river and face numerous people who laughed and taunted her with unkind remarks such as "Drop dead". She knew that gun was there somewhere.

They are respected in Ottawa. Carl is the son of Dr. Frank Foster Chute BA MD CM of the city of Ottawa, a member of the Canadian Pension Commission, also serving as an acting physician in the Canadian forces overseas.

Olive's parents and Olive owned a business for over 25 years in Marmora. Mr. and Mrs. M.J. McGarvey are sure Olive earned the love of many people there.

We feel they used wisdom at the time, also, in waiting to not go to council until they received a survey proving the road was there. We understood all of that ground or most of it in question was owned by the Wells brothers.

How about it Marmora and township residents? What are you going to do about it? We repeat, do you want visitors and tourists to visit your town and have them hear "Sorry, it's all private property", "Keep off, don't you see the signs?", "No trespassing". Watch it! It's already happening at the lake and the river on supposedly public property. How many of you will attend the next council meeting and hear for yourselves what's going on and stand up for your community interests.

BY CATHY POST FIELD

Jerry Lewis consistently refuses to tell why he is so involved with the muscular dystrophy cause. He makes it seem such a secret. Have you any idea what it is? P. Jenks, Akron, O.

Yes, but it is only my own guess after years of knowing him. When Jerry was on TV years ago he did a skit which ridiculed a spastic child. Letters criticizing him poured in and at least one critic (me) blasted him for his lack of compassion and almost cruelly poor taste. I believe this unfavorable publicity opened his eyes to the terrible unkindness he had committed because shortly after that he became involved in the muscular dystrophy cause.

Where did the two girls who are on "Tony Orlando and Dawn" come from and do they share equally in the money with him? They certainly deserve to. Richard Dallas, St. Louis, Mo.

Joyce Vincent Wilson and Telma Hopkins were two background singers with such Motown stars as Isaac Hayes and The Four Tops and making good bread. It took a lot of convincing on Tony's part to get them to join his act, which he owns. At first the girls received 12-and-a-half per cent each of the net, but recently it hit them that there was no "net" since Tony was plowing all the profits back into the operation. So, they now get 20 per cent each of the adjusted gross.

I read once where W. C. Fields was weird about money and to avoid paying taxes, he had bank accounts all over the world, but in different names. If true, did his estate manage to uncover all of them when he died? M. Lewis, San Bernardino, Calif.

Fields used such names as Samuel Bisbee, Eustace McGargle, etc. These were among the accounts found. Only 30 were discovered after his death but his lawyer believed he had as many as 750 in various names and parts of the world.

To J.L., Macon, Ga. Yes George Burns still smokes cigars but he's down to five a day. At one time he was up to 20.

Percy Orval Green dies in his 56th year

The sudden passing of a lifetime resident of the Tweed area came as a shock to his friends and relatives when Percy Orval Green entered into rest at the residence in Actinolite on Wednesday, Nov. 19 in his 56th year.

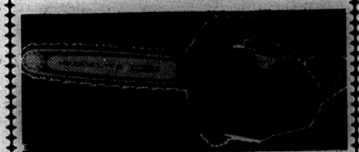

He was the son of the late John Green and the former Mary Foster.

He is survived by his wife, the former Ruth Anderson and by children Ernest, Belleville; Mrs. Sharon Salotola, Grimsby; brothers Morley Green, Tweed; sisters Mrs. Irene Clark, Tweed; Francis, Tweed; Mrs. Velma Sinclair, Tweed; and four grandchildren.

He received his education at Tweed schools and was an employee of the Tweed Steel Works Eastern, in Tweed.

Services were held Nov. 22 from the McConnell Funeral Home, Tweed, for interment in the Victoria Cemetery. Pallbearers were Orval Green, Delbert Benn, Harold Long, Francis Leveck, Cecil Trudeau and Clarence Woods.

Women more involved in organized labor

Local 4854 of United Steelworkers of America held their annual Ladies' Night at the Kiwanis Centre in Madoc, on Saturday evening.

Joan Tingley, of USA headquarters in Peterborough, was guest speaker at the banquet, speaking on the involvement of women in organized labour and industry today, compared to years ago. As an illustration, Ms. Tingley quoted from the list of rules and regulations laid down by a school board for a teacher in 1915. She pointed out that women were confined for many years to teaching, nursing, clerical work; now they are actively involved in politics, unions and many new areas of industry.

A warm welcome to the gathering of 250 members, wives and friends was extended by Reeve Tom Barton of Madoc Village and Reeve Cecil Woods of Madoc Township. Four long service employees, Leo Provost, Sr., Elwood Dulmage, Fred McGibbon and Osborne Seabrooke, were honoured on their retirement. Delayed because of the mail strike, the presentation of honorary life memberships in the USWA and the customary gift of cuff links and tie clip will be made at a later date.

Seated at the head table were Captain James Thompson who pronounced the blessing, Mrs. Thompson; Mr. and Mrs. Barton; Mr. and Mrs. Woods; Mr. Grant Taylor, area representative, and Mrs. Taylor; President Bill Jones and Mrs.

Jones and Ms. Tingley. Following the banquet dancing to Murphy's Merry Mixers was enjoyed.

SUNDAY closing laws will make law-abiding citizens...

ONE-DAY
CRIMINALS

Both Religion and Business have a stake in Sunday laws.

Some merchants back them to control competition. Some clergy back them to protect what they call "the Lord's day." Because our courts would not approve religious Sunday laws, the religious motivation is usually played down.

This Sunday law penalizes certain stores prohibiting them from operation on Sunday. They do not guarantee you one common day of rest with your family. Thousands of motel and resort operators, gas station attendants, people working with commercialized sports, etc., are not helped by Sunday laws. What about their families?

Men do not go to church because they have to. They go because they want to. Here are the figures of church attendance for several nations having century old Sunday laws:

GERMANY	5%	GREECE	1 1/2%
FRANCE	15%	ENGLAND	6% (on Easter)
ITALY	25%

Christianity Today, July 20, 1962, pp. 11-15; Ibid., July 31, 1961, p. 5.

Whom we obey - is a question of loyalty... but it is NOT for man to legislate.

1st DAY SUNDAY MONDAY TUESDAY WEDNESDAY THURSDAY FRIDAY 7th DAY SATURDAY

Sunday laws will NOT protect the SABBATH. THE FOURTH OF THE TEN COMMANDMENTS SAYS:

"Remember the Sabbath day to keep it holy. Six days shall thou labour and do all thy work: but the SEVENTH DAY is the Sabbath of the Lord thy God." Exodus 20:8.

Say that a Communist dictator visits this country: "Forget that your parliament asks you to celebrate Dominion Day on the first of July," he might say. "Celebrate it on the fifth of July." Would it matter if we followed his suggestions?

Would we not say that the integrity of our Canadian institutions is at stake? That the real question would be, "To whom do we owe allegiance?"

Is not the same issue at stake in the Sabbath-Sunday question? God said, "Remember the Seventh Day." Man said, "Remember the First Day." Is not the real question, "To whom do we owe allegiance?" Said Christ, "In vain do they worship me, teaching for doctrines the commandments of men." Mark 7:7.

Nationalization of the oil industry: Party sources indicate it could be coming Toronto high school teacher Ted Culp drew a round of "oh's" and "boos" as he addressed the annual meeting of the Quinte Provincial Liberal Association in Belleville.

One of three aspirants to the provincial leadership of the party to address the group, he drew the reaction when he suggested the provincial government "nationalize" petroleum and natural gas companies.

Brushing off the boos, he said those critical of such a step now will find it will eventually come anyway.

And he might not be all that wrong. Progressive Conservative and NDP brass, speaking just one day later, spoke on the same subject. Ontario Energy Minister Dennis Timbrell used a veiled threat of nationalizing oil companies in a speech at the University of Toronto.

"Nothing is more politically and publicly acceptable today than to tear a strip off the major petroleum companies," he said.

"They are the whipping boys of public officials from coast to coast. And, regretfully, I think they are often fostering the climate of opinion where people turn to government more and more for solutions."

Contending profit is not a dirty word to him as it is with some political philosophies, he emphasized it is fair to ask how much of a reward is warranted.

He went on to point out that leading oil companies in Britain and Germany are partly publicly owned, and that leading French and Italian companies are wholly public.

Warning that the companies must recognize that citizens create the form of a society, he said they should "take a long, hard look at the situation in this country" and "encourage a climate of frankness and respect". The royal commission studying oil prices, he emphasized, would be a good place for companies to speak candidly to the public about "where our money spent for gasoline and home heating oil is going."

The NDP's T.C. (Tommy) Douglas, speaking in Toronto, said Canada should take over Imperial Oil Ltd. as the first step toward nationalizing the oil and gas industry.

Nationalizing Imperial Oil, about 70 per cent owned by Exxon Corp., of the United States, would mean large profits which normally go to the U.S. would be available to further Canadian exploration, Douglas said.

One man in the Belleville audience asked Mr. Culp if he thought government could handle things better than private enterprise.

Mr. Culp pointed to Ontario Hydro as an example of "yes", and noted he hadn't experienced any kind of prolonged power failure in his area in the last 15 years.

David Peterson, of London Centre, and Michael Houlton, an Ottawa businessman, were other leadership hopefuls addressing the Belleville meeting.

Of the three speaking locally, Mr. Peterson is considered a possible contender, and the other two as potential also rans. But Mr. Culp opened a can of worms in his remarks on nationalization of the fuel industry, and the topic will not only be discussed many times between now and the Ontario Liberal leadership convention in Toronto, next January, but for a long time after!

Honor Belleville girl as outstanding 4H'er

Diane Jarrell of Belleville was honoured as the 1975 outstanding 4H club member during Awards Night held at Centre Hastings Secondary School in Madoc last Friday evening. Miss Jarrell was recently named Hastings County Dairy Princess.

Everett Barrons, of Marmora, president of the Hastings County 4H Club Leaders' Association for 1975, emceed the program which saw the distribution of awards, trophies and prizes for the 272 completed projects.

After congratulating all the 4H club members on their fine achievements, Mr. Barrons said "I know there are some disappointments, some who feel that their efforts have been greater than their accomplishments - but remember, that while we cannot all be award winners, there are no losers. The knowledge, experience and friendships you have gained are most valuable to you".

Diane Doyle, of the Marmora Community 4H Calf Club, was awarded two Hastings County awards - the Madoc Kiwanis Club Beef Showmanship Trophy and the Elzevir Hereford Farms Award for Top Beef Showman; also a pen and pencil set from the Ontario Hereford Association.

John Brass was winner of the Simpson Sears Award, presented by John McGregor, president of the Marmora Agricultural Society; the Marmora Feed Mill prize presented by Clara Walker and a cash prize donated and presented by Mr. and Mrs. Everett Barrons. John also received an award donated by the Canadian Maine-Anjou Association for participating with a Maine-Anjou calf.

Shirley Brooks received the T.Eaton Company Award for top intermediate member, presented by Mr. McGregor; a pen and pencil set from the Ontario Hereford Association and a cash prize donated by Mr. and Mrs. Barrons for top intermediate member.

The Toronto-Dominion Award for the top senior member went to Beverly Brooks and was presented by Manager William Callingham; the Marmora and Lake Township Trophy for top senior stockman presented by Reeve Ritchie Wells and a pen and pencil set from the Ontario Hereford Association and a cash prize donated by Mr. and Mrs. Barrons.

Gregory Shannon and Stephen Shannon received awards from the Hastings County Holstein Association for exhibiting a Holstein calf.

For exhibiting a Hereford calf, Ann Caverly received a one year subscription and crest and Bob Caverly received a pen and pencil set from the Ontario Hereford Association.

The Marmora club had 14 members enrolled in 1975, 10 of whom completed their projects - and all but one attaining 75 percent or over.

Diane Doyle was president this year.

secretary was Shawn Hughes and Bob Caverly, press reporter. Club leaders were Mr. Barrons, who is completing his eighth year as leader, and John Shannon.

There were 21 clubs formed with a total of 169 members enrolled in 329 projects. The clubs range from calf clubs through leadership courses, light horse and pony clubs, field crop, corn clubs, potato clubs, conservation, engineering, snowmobile, veterinary and bachelor survival clubs. At the close of the meeting, Lorna Gunning of Tweed and Sandra Hannah, of Belleville, spoke on "What the 4H Club Means to Me".

Bronson and Bateman wed in St. Andrew's United Church

A lovely fall wedding took place at St. Andrew's United Church recently when Rev. John Peters united in marriage Elaine Patricia Bronson, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. James Bronson, RR 2, Marmora, and Ronald Murney Bateman, son of Mr. and Mrs. Murney Bateman, RR 1, Springbrook.

The bride was given in marriage by her father, wearing a white floor length gown of silk nylon over net ascending into a train; fashioned with a high neckline and long sleeves which were decorated with lace.

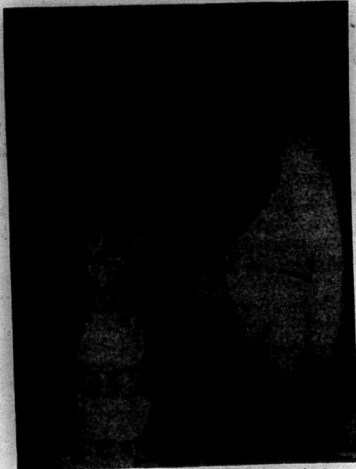

She wore a chapel length veil trimmed with tiny daisies. The veil was held in place with a Julietta cap. She carried a cascade of white mums and yellow roses with baby's breath and ivy.

Matron of honor was Carolyn Francis. She wore a light blue floor length gown of polyester crepe, featuring an empire waist, low squared neckline and short puffed sleeves. She carried a cascade of white daisies with yellow centres and baby's breath.

Bridesmaids were Cathy Stark, sister of the bride, and Marie Bateman, sister of the groom. They were dressed identically to the matron of honor, carrying identical bouquets.

The flower girl was Angela Bronson, sister of the bride. She carried a white basket of white daisies with yellow roses and baby's breath.

Best man was Larry Thompson and ushers were Ralph Francis and Jack Davidson, brother-in-law of the bride. The groom and attendants wore white dinner jackets.

The reception was held at the Royal Canadian Legion where the bride's mother received guests. She wore a blue flowered sleeveless gown with matching long sleeved coat. She wore a corsage of pink and white carnations. The groom's mother wore a floor length gown long sleeved of pink lace with a matching sleeveless coat. She also wore a corsage of pink mums.

Following a wedding trip to Niagara Falls the couple took up residence in Springbrook.

Guests were present from Trenton, Belleville, Peterborough, Kingston, Marmora, Springbrook, Cobourg, Douro and Wilberforce.

Miscellaneous showers were held in honor of the bride before her marriage by Mrs. Theresa Davidson, Wilberforce, Mrs. Carolyn Francis, Belleville. A community shower was held at Springbrook, given by Cheryl Westal and Judy Danford; Cathy Stark and June Bronson, held in Marmora and the staff of Erie in Trenton.

Harold Perry dies at 55

Harold Clayton Perry, of Cloyne, died at the Kingston General Hospital Nov. 16 following a brief illness. He was 55.

He was the son of Mrs. Sarah Perry and the late James Perry. He was born in Cloyne and had spent his entire life in the area.

He was a member of the United Church and was a long-time employee of Ontario, Hydro.

He is survived by sisters and brothers Wallace, Paul, Cloyne; Mrs. Wilton H. Spencer, Mrs. William O'Brien, both of Cloyne. A brother, Gerald, died in an accident two months ago.

Services were held from the McConnell Funeral Home, Tweed, for interment in the Cloyne Cemetery. Pallbearers were Harry Meeks, Ted Snider, George Hawley, Bill McDonald, Dick Hook and Emerson Mills.

As you see it...

"I do not believe it."

I just cannot believe it.
All the Beautiful people on all the Beautiful Beer Ads, showing our Beautiful Country and Beautiful Sporting events.

And then.
Hassles like in Marmora. Hassles like in Madoc.

Hunters hassles like near Tamworth. Neighborhoods threatened with skid row conditions by people with too much Beautiful Beer in their systems.

I just cannot believe it.

And now - a place promising the respectable name of Cocktail Lounge coming up in Cloyne, just a moose-call distance from the Education Centre.

As Pierre Berton would claim, "This is my country."

I just cannot believe it.

This is my Canada. This means that I, and you, have many civil rights to protect our freedom. But, sons and daughters of Canada, this does not mean that you and I have licence to do just as we jolly well please whenever and wherever we wish, to the detriment of others, and the breaking of the law. We have law enforcement officers to help remind us of the rights of others.

If, somewhere in the Third World, one were to tell me that my country has many people who want it to become a country of bumbling, baboonlike bums, or aging aimless apes, I would strongly reply: "I do not believe it."

But, I sometimes wonder.

Kingston woman misses curve

A car driven by a Kingston woman failed to negotiate a curve last Thursday morning, skidded on the slushy road and went into the east ditch where her car struck a bank.

Damage to the car, driven by Anita Dobbs, 43, was estimated by police at $250.

The accident occurred 1.5 miles south of the junction of the Gilmour Road.

Lawrence offers definite "maybe"

BEWDLEY - Over 100 Northumberland-Durham Progressive Conservative Association members expecting last week to hear a decision from MP Allan Lawrence on his candidacy in February's national leadership convention received instead a definite "maybe."

Lawrence, addressing an association meeting here to elect delegates to the convention, said he had originally decided against running. The decision by Alberta Premier Peter Lougheed not to seek the position had, however, changed the situation and had again opened the possibility of his candidacy, he said.

Lawrence said he did expect to announce his final decision within a short time.

The MP instead spent much of his address criticizing both the federal government and some of his own party's leadership candidates.

"I think more than ever in the history of our country, in the recent political history in any event, you can just feel the tensions and the signs occurring there (Ottawa)," he said. "In more ways than one things are changing and I think the people of this country are getting to the point where they really and honestly feel they deserve to have a change of government."

He said in travelling around the country he had never heard "so many people being so upset about our national affairs and the way the government is being run."

He said the February convention would provide an alternative to that government and went on to describe his own opinions of the necessary qualifications for the new PC leader.

"I think we've got to pick a person who is first and foremost interested in the benefit of the people of all sections and all regions right across this country."

He said he was firmly convinced the current government was discriminatory in many of its policies.

"I think there are many areas of this country that are discriminated against as far as governmental policy and I don't think there's any question about that at all."

He said he hoped to see a PC leader emerge who would operate a "sane, sensible government" but conceded it was no easy task.

"Certainly there are people who are running in the campaign so far that I don't know why they're running. I can tell you I think people who are running simply to gain publicity for themselves in their riding or who are simply trying to assure themselves of a cabinet post in the next Conservative government really are abusing the democratic process of our party."

"Let's not beat around the bush about it. The thing is beginning to look a little bit ridiculous. How we solve that I don't know."

He said there has been some discussion of limiting the number of candidates by striking off those who failed to win reasonable support in the first ballot at the convention.

His own choice, he said, would be a candidate who is either a member of the caucus, has had parliamentary experience, or is a national figure.

"There are at least four candidates now who are not members of the caucus and who have, as far as I know, never even run as dogcatcher."

"Running for public office, as some of you know, can do strange things to you. It is a trying job, it is a trying thing to get involved and certainly I think that you need somebody who's at least been tested as far as public life is concerned."

He felt the successful candidate should also be acceptable to the people of Ontario "just for a change."

"The last election, 1974, in my book anyway, was lost right here in good old Ontario. The same thing can happen again. It can be lost, or conversely, it can be won right here in Ontario."

He stressed he was not advocating the party should ignore the province of Quebec, but reminded the audience of the last election's results when only three Conservative members were elected from the province.

"Ladies and gentlemen, you do not reinforce your failures, you reinforce your successes. Surely it's far more sensible for us to take a look at this country and figure out where the greatest potential lies as far as our success is concerned and then we follow that strategy, or those tactics, and put our limited resources into the area where the greatest potential lies."

"If any extra effort is going to be required, if any extra effort is available, surely it makes sense to put it right here in the province of Ontario."

He felt the Conservative party could still win a federal election without major support from Quebec, especially with a redistribution to take place across the country that would increase the number of seats in some provinces.

He said he would also be looking for a leader who would heal the wounds of the Conservative party, "not pour salt in them."

"Sometimes you get the feeling down there that we're so damned busy quarrelling and fighting amongst ourselves that we haven't got time to do our proper job of making sure that democratic government returns to Canada."

"It's about time that some people in our party forgot what happened 10 years ago and started thinking about what is happening today and what is going to happen over the next 10 years."

HORSE LUCKY THIS TIME!

A southbound car 300 feet south of Madoc Friday morning struck a horse wandering on the roadway.

Provincial police said two officers from the detachment were attempting to remove the horse from the roadway at the time of the accident. Two cars going down the highway missed the animal but the third, driven by Carl Shane Winterburn, 19, of RR, 1 Madoc, struck the horse, resulting in damages estimated at $300. The horse escaped with a cut to its right leg.

Leaves the road and enters ditch

A northbound car on County Road 8 Sunday evening failed to negotiate a curve, left the road and entered the ditch.

Driver of the car, Robert Dieble, 21, of Hanover, Ont., was taken to Belleville General Hospital with head injuries.

Police estimated damage to his car at $2,500, with a further $100 to a hydro connector and an insulator.

The accident occurred about two and a half miles east of the Northumberland-Hastings County line.

A SPECIAL THANK YOU

The executive and members of the Madoc and District Figure Skating Club would like to thank the ladies and men of Branch 363 of the Royal Canadian Legion for their recent donations to the club. Many competitors in Jr 4-H section Highlights over the year for 4-Her's included a Judging Day in Peterborough, which was a successful outing, with one hundred and sixty competitors in the Junior Section. Terry Jarrell of the county was twenty-fifth; George Thompson, twenty-ninth; Leslie Martin, thirty-first and Barry Danford, thirty-fourth. There were fifty contestants in the Senior Division, with Henk Bergveld, twelfth; Brian Kerby, fifteenth; Mary Ellen Thompson, nineteenth; Diane Jarrell, twenty-fourth; and Angus McKinnon, twenty-sixth.

Another new venture this year was field crop entries at the Royal Agricultural Winter Fair, with high placings. A hay entry from Diane Jarrell won its class. In wheat, Vincent Brennan was second and in seed potatoes, John Gunning placed third. Barbara Irish and Gail Bowker competed in the Robert Graham Horse Judging Competition. Our top two showmen, as determined at Madoc Fair, competed in the Lawara Showmanship competition. Mary Ellen Thompson and Bruce Thompson did well, with Bruce placing ninth in the finals.

Sandra (Stein) Hannah was one of the major award winners. Sandra has been an outstanding member and leader in the Madoc Clubs over the past seven years. She has completed twenty-eight projects with an average score of 905 points of a possible 1000.

Sandra has completed calf, corn, potato, natural resources, field crop, horticulture, grain, and conservation clubs. Sandra has also been a Youth Leader for three years and in 1975 was the leader of the Madoc 4-H Corn Club. She has held all executive positions.

Sandra attended the Provincial Leadership Conference in 1974 and has been a member of the Hastings 4-H Council. In 1975 Sandra was a member of the Madoc 4-H Corn Club, Madoc 4-H Potato Club and the Madoc 4-H Calf Club, and was a Youth Leader. Sandra has received her County and Provincial Honours in 4-H Homemaking Clubs.

Prize money was paid on a pro rated basis, according to the amount of prize money available for each club. In the case of all 4-H Clubs, with the exception of North Hastings, prize money was paid as follows: 951 - 1000 points, $4.00; 851 - 950, $3.00; 750 - 850, $2.00; 749 and below, $1.00. All members from North Hastings completing a project received $3.00 as requested.

The 4-H Plaques were awarded to all first year 4-H members in Hastings County who have completed at least one club in which they accumulated 600 points or more during the club year.

The Year-Bars are received by 4-H members who have already received the 4-H plaques. One bar is received for each year a member is enrolled in the 4-H program and meets the same requirements as for 4-H plaques.

The Madoc 4-H Calf Club, led by David Foley and sponsored by the Madoc Agricultural Society, had 87 per cent completion. The Top Intermediate member, Peter Neal, with 921 points, received the Eldorado Cheese and Butter Co-operative Award. Sandra (Stein) Hannah, as Top Senior Member, received the Toronto-Dominion Bank Award for scoring 929 points. The Sager Award for the Top Junior Stockman was presented to Craig Robinson, with 279 points. The final award for this club went to the Top Senior Stockman, Allen Stein, with a total of 279 points. He received the Madoc Agricultural Society Award.

The Madoc 4-H Light Horse and Pony Club, led by Mrs. Barbara Irish, had 80 per cent completion. It was sponsored by the Madoc Farm and Garden Supply (John Thompson, Madoc). Gail Bowker and Deborah Raynsford tied for the title of Top Member and the Ralston Purina Award.

The Madoc 4-H Corn Club is to be congratulated for their 100 per cent completion. Leader of the club was Sandra Hannah. Carl Chambers received the Wilfrid Forestell Award, presented to the Top Intermediate Member. Carl had 955 points, the Beulah Co-operative Butter and Cheese Company (Ivanhoe) Award went to the Top Senior Member, Joyce Brownson, who had 967 points. Top Junior Member was Beverley Stein, with 947 points. She received the Doug Bailey and Sons (Eldorado) Award.

Also having 100 per cent completion was the Madoc 4-H Potato Club, led by Allan Sager and sponsored by the Madoc Kiwanis Club. Top Junior Member, Beverley Stein, received the Elizabeth Sager Trophy, having 947 points. The Madoc Co-operative Association Award went to the Top Intermediate Member, Allen Stein, with 952 points. Sandra Hannah with 960 points received the Mr. and Mrs. Fred Stein Award for the Top Senior Member.

During the 1974-75 club year, 260 members enrolled in the 4-H Homemaking Club Project, "Taking A Look At Yourself", 254 members enrolled in "A World of Food in Canada", and 120 members in the garden club, "Home Beautification".

A total of 309 individual members completed 576 units.

Sterling silver spoons are presented to each member and leader on completion of each Homemaking Club unit. In the 1974-75 club year, spoons were presented to 576 members and 58 Club Leaders and Assistant Leaders. Certificates of Achievement are awarded to each member after completion of every second project. During the past year, 266 Certificates of Achievement were presented to club members. County Honours are awarded to each girl who completes six 4-H Homemaking Club units. This award included a County Honour Certificate and Pin.

Local girls receiving County Honours in 1974-75 are: Kerri Fleming, Mary O'Riordan and Carol Reynolds, all of Madoc.

Provincial Honours are awarded to each girl who completes 12 projects in recognition of her outstanding achievement. The award includes a Provincial Honour Certificate and Pin. In the 1974-75 year, 13 girls received Provincial Honours. Those from Madoc were: Brenda Ashe, Kathleen Ashe, Wendy Aylsworth, Joanne Easthope and Marlene Preston, all of R.R. 5.

Attractive Certificates of Achievement are presented to 4-H members after successfully completing six, twelve and eighteen Agricultural Projects with at least 75 per cent proficiency. These awards are provided by the Extension Branch of the Ontario Ministry of Agriculture and Food.

Winners of the Six-Project Certificates included Beverley Stein and Gary Robinson. Winners of the Twelve Project Certificates included Allen Stein and Angus McKinnon.

Leadership Awards, a 4-H Leader's Pin, are presented to each new Agricultural Club Leader. Sandra Hannah was among the recipients of these.

An award is presented to the top two members exhibiting a Holstein Calf from each of the calf clubs in the County. From the Madoc Club, Craig Robinson and Sandra Hannah received the Hastings County Holstein Club Awards.

The Canadian Imperial Bank of Commerce Award, a Bulova watch, is awarded to the Senior 4-H member to recognize his or her leadership abilities, spirit of competition, enthusiasm, contribution to 4-H in Hastings County and the worthiness of the recipient as representing the 4-H program. The 1975 winners (tied) were Lorna Gunning of Tweed and Sandra Hannah of Belleville (formerly Sandra Stein of Madoc).

A lunch and social time concluded the evening.

11 accidents, six charges, for area OPP

During the past week officers of the Madoc detachment of the Ontario Provincial Police investigated a total of 11 accidents, laying six charges. Damages amounted to $14,075 with five persons injured.

Three thefts were reported, three reports of break and enter, one of disturbance, one of assault, one of wilful damage. Three persons were charged with impaired driving and six were charged under the Liquor Control Act.

Approximately 26 other occurrences have been investigated, such as compassionate to locate and erratic driving.

Village of Madoc

Mul-lan it over... with Don Mullan

ALMOST EVERYBODY drives an automobile during their lifetime.

In fact, most people own several. They usually start out with an older model used car, and keep graduating upward until the day comes when they are finally able to afford a brand new one.

Few people, however, have ever received basic instruction in all aspects of the automobile.

A friend or relative may have taught them a few things about the basics of driving, but they have never taken a formal course.

They have purchased cars, but many don't really know what to look for, especially in buying a used model.

They know a bit about maintenance, but really don't understand all the savings that can be gained.

FOR THESE REASONS ALONE the Hastings County board of education made a wise decision in deciding to establish driver education as a full fledged credit course in the secondary schools of the county.

Providing Ontario's Ministry of Education agrees, the course will become an optional one that students may take as one of the 27 they need for a Grade 12 diploma or as one of 33 credits they require for a Grade 13 certificate.

The course will involve 115 hours in the classroom and 25 hours behind the wheel.

Class instruction will provide a psychological environment that will create safe driving attitudes, help improve students reading and writing skills through note taking, projects and testing, improve mathematical and science skills by teaching nature's laws and financing an automobile, ensure students understand the safety, economy and efficiency of car maintenance and teach students more responsibility as well as respect for themselves and others.

In-car instruction will teach how to manoeuvre and control a vehicle, parking, defensive driving, the execution of legally prescribed acts, avoiding collisions, etc.

TRUSTEE DON WILLIAMS of Stirling, the board's voice on the task force that brought in the recommendation, noted that the equivalent of an entire high school class is killed each week in Canada in car accidents.

Because of it we suggest that the full credit course driver education program shouldn't only be approved for Hastings, but should be made mandatory in educational systems throughout the province.

It's money well spent - and an education well worth having.

WAS THIS YOU? - The lady who got her coat outlined in paint while attending the Hastings-Peterborough Liberal Association meeting at the Madoc Public School? Painters apparently painted the doors of the school gymnasium while the meeting was in progress, and then didn't hang a 'wet paint' sign to warn people about them. Shame! Shame!

WAS THIS YOU? - The woman who went into a Belleville pharmacy to pick up some AC & C tablets only to discover the price of a bottle of 100 had jumped by about 244 per cent in rising from $1.29 to $3.15? The federal government supposedly froze wages and prices, but if this is any indication, small wonder the working man is objecting. Inflation of this sort is most unreasonable, and the government should take steps to see to it that prices increases of this nature are stopped - pronto!

WE NOTE PREMIER William Davis says MPPs won't be getting a pay hike, even through their pay hasn't been raised for quite some time.

His remarks came after a committee recommendation that pays be hiked, and approval of same by several members of the Legislative Assembly.

Davis, to nobody's surprise really, is being very firm.

And he has almost dared the NDP and Liberals to outvote his minority Conservative government on the issue.

Being a money matter, such a vote would be a move of non-confidence in the government, and would result in an election.

Davis is quoted as saying he would be quite happy to fight a campaign on just such an issue - indeed he would.

The Tories would nab a majority government on this issue alone for most people, it seems, don't like to see our politicians get a raise no matter how justified one might be.

Ah, well...we very much doubt we'll ever have an election on the issue.

Neither the NDP or the Liberals would be silly enough to fall for that.

WAS THIS YOU? - The young man who was nabbed for speeding while going through an area village one night recently? Your lesson may have hurt you in the pocket book, but it should serve as a lesson for others. Watch out - area OPP are operating night radar traps with a new hand device that's really effective. If you're smart, you'll take note - and slow down!

WAS THIS YOU? - The gent who took advantage of the first snowfall of the season to whip a snowball at a friend? You were right on target - the snowball connected and your friend toppled to the ground in an unconscious condition. He could have died, but luckily he didn't...and from our reports, he is OK. But you learned your lesson...for we've heard that you have said you'll never throw a snowball again. Hopefully, other would-be snowball throwers will take heed.

HASTINGS MP Jack Ellis introduces new employee David Black to Hastings Federal P.C. Party president Kel Kincald of Madoc during an association meeting in Madoc.

Mr. Black has been retained for MP's Ottawa office and will specialize in research. [Staff photo by Bev Mullan.]

Ellis says leader should have concern for others

"A leader should have political experience, intelligence, a concern for others and an ability to project themselves", Jack Ellis, Hastings MP, suggested at a meeting of federal Hastings Riding Progressive-Conservatives as they met last Wednesday to appoint delegates to the leadership convention in Ottawa, February 19-22.

Mr. Ellis said he felt these qualities were more important in a leader than a record as a provincial premier or a cabinet minister. He said he personally knew all but two of the candidates who have declared themselves in the running and noted that they represent every part of Canada. "You will find more than one of them capable of becoming our leader and the next prime minister", Mr. Ellis said.

There was some difference of opinion at the meeting as to whether the delegates should carry to Ottawa with them the local Association members' preference as to candidates. Mr. Ellis supported a suggestion that the delegates are intelligent enough to make a wise choice when they vote. He urged them not to make a decision until they have heard all the candidates speak on the Saturday night of the Convention.

Between six and eight thousand people are expected at the Convention to elect a successor to Robert Stanfield, Mr. Ellis noted. He reviewed some of the arrangements that have been made for the Convention. Mr. Ellis is in charge of accommodation for the delegates and urged local delegates to get their registrations in early.

A massive farewell party for Mr. Stanfield will be held on Friday evening of the Convention, Mr. Ellis announced. Voting for a new leader will start at noon on Sunday and continue until one is chosen.

REEVE STILL TRUE GRIT!

Make no mistake about it - Madoc Village Reeve Tom Barton is still a Liberal.

Addressing the annual meeting of the Hastings-Peterborough Liberal Association in Madoc, the reeve said it was a good opportunity to put down a rumor circulating the area that "I had switched politics".

It was said, he contended, "that if I couldn't beat them, I'd join them."

"Such isn't the case," He said he had often been given the privilege of welcoming delegates to Tory meetings in the village, but that the annual meeting of the H-P Liberal Association accorded him his first opportunity to welcome the Grits to Madoc.

"And I do so - with pleasure."

125 boys register for Madoc minor hockey season

A total of 125 boys are reported registered for hockey this year.

Fourteen are registered in the 6 years and under group; 19 in the Novice age group (7-8 years); 14 in the Atom group (9-10 years); 28 in the PeeWee group (11-12 years); 22 Bantams (13-14); 16 Midgets (15-16 years); and 11 Juveniles.

All Juvenile, Midget and Bantam aged players play on OMHA all-star teams.

The Bantams, however, have six more players than they can sign for a game. This means six players must sit out each game.

This has caused a problem because six players are not enough to start a "B" squad nor are they enough players for a house league team. If another six or seven Bantam-aged players were interested in forming a "B" squad this could be arranged, according to hockey officials.

Those interested should contact Bev Browning as soon as possible. Fee for this team would be $15 and would include home and away games with other centres.

The PeeWee's are broken down into "A" and "B" teams. The Atom and Novice-aged players are playing in a three team house league on Thursdays after school and Saturday mornings.

The 6 and under group are learning to skate and learning some hockey skills on Saturday mornings.

The youngest skater is three and a half years old, while two boys who are four and a half also attend.

Any parents still wishing to register players in this group are asked to do so soon. The group skates from 11:15 a.m. to noon on Saturdays. Hockey instructor for this year is Sonny Osborne, who works with the Atoms, Novices and the 6 and under group as well as handling the Bantam practices.

He is also holding skating and hockey skill drills from 10:30 to 11:15 every Saturday. The drills are open to all Atom and Novice aged boys.

Until further notice, the timeable for the drills is:

8:30 - 9:30 PeeWee "B's"
9:30 - 10:30 Atom-Novice game
10:30 - 11:15 Hockey drills(Atom-Novice)
11:15 - 12:00 6 year olds and under.

Six-year-olds who can skate well are welcomed to attend the 10:30 skills session as well as their own session.

Pee wee A's win

The Madoc PeeWees had their first win of the season last Monday when they defeated Marmora 4-2.

Excellent goal tending by Dale Benson was a deciding factor in the game. In the first period the teams were well

Pee Wee B's whip Marmora 5-1

A pair of goals by Billy Bateman and singles by Brennen Devolin, Tim Willemssen and Andy Ringleman led the Madoc PeeWee B's to a 5-1 win over Marmora last Saturday afternoon.

Early in the first period Brennen Devolin scored after being set up by Dougie Reid. Midway through the period Andy Ringleman and Brad Love set up Billy Bateman's first goal.

In the second period Todd Kirkwood and Brennen Devolin assisted on Timmy Willemssen's goal to give the Madoc squad a 3-0 lead.

During the final period Jeff Nickle passed the puck up through centre ice and a second effort by Billy Bateman paid off in a breakaway and Madoc's fourth goal. Near the end of the period Andy Ringleman finished off a scoring play from Jeff Nickle and Peter Kelly.

matched with neither getting on the scoreboard.

Each team scored twice in the second period. Bryan Willemssen, unassisted, counted for Madoc's first while David Anthony, assisted by Robert Empey, marked the second.

In the third period Madoc scored two more to win the contest. Garry Wood, assisted by Randy Gray, and Paul Mason, unassisted, were the local marksmen.

In Madoc Friday night the locals went down to defeat in a 9-3 contest against Stirling. Scoring for Madoc were Danny Brown, Bryan Willemssen and Randy Gray, all unassisted.

In their next two games, Madoc will be travelling to Tweed Wednesday at 7 p.m. and to Colborne Friday at 7 p.m.

Bantams host Tweed

The Madoc Bantams hosted Tweed last Thursday, going down to defeat in a 9-4 contest.

Madoc goals were scored by Gary Johnston, from Don Moore and Wayne Willemssen; Joe Preston, unassisted; Paul Hyde, unassisted; and Wayne Willemssen, from Paul Hyde.

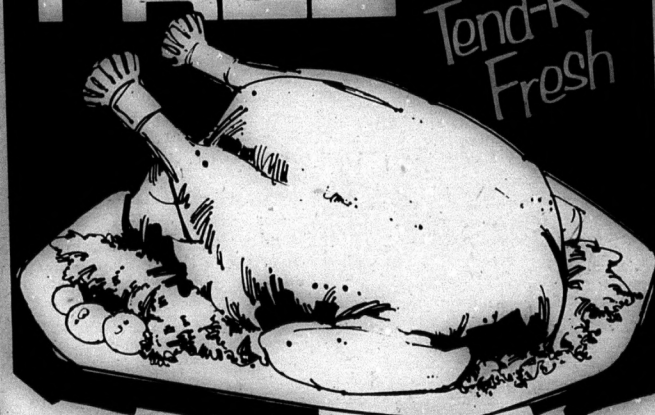

Madoc travelled to Frankford Monday and will be playing a home game Thursday against Colborne.

THE ASSESSMENT ACT NOTICE TO PROPERTY OWNERS AND TENANTS

Due to the interruption of regular postal services, the Ministry of Revenue has extended the date for return of the assessment rolls from December 16, 1975 to January 21, 1976 in all municipalities and localities across the province.

Therefore, in accordance with the provisions of The Assessment Act, assessment notices will be delivered to all assessed persons on January 6, 1976, 14 full days prior to the return of the rolls.

This extension affects the time period during which owners and tenants may appeal their assessments. Therefore, the final date for commencing an appeal to the Assessment Review Court has also been extended from January 6, 1976 to February 11, 1976.

Should the postal disruption continue into the month of January, the date for the return of assessment rolls may be further extended. A notice of any further extension will be published at a later date.

NOTE: TOWNSHIP OF WICKSTEED -

These alternate arrangements will not be in effect for the Township of Wicksteed in the District of Algoma. Assessment notices will be delivered to owners and tenants on the regular date, December 1, 1975 and the assessment roll will be returned on December 16, 1975. The final date on which owners and tenants may commence an appeal to the Assessment Review Court in the Township of Wicksteed is January 6, 1976.

NOTICE

IN THE MATTER OF THE MUNICIPAL ACT

AND IN THE MATTER OF A PROPOS-ED BY-LAW OF THE CORPORATION OF THE VILLAGE OF NORWOOD TO STOP UP AND CLOSE PART OF ELM STREET IN THE SAID VILLAGE

NOTICE IS HEREBY given, pursuant to Section 446 of The Municipal Act, that the Corporation of the Village of Norwood proposes to consider and, if deemed advisable, to pass at its regular meeting to be held at the Village Hall in Norwood on Monday, the fifth day of January 1976 at 7:30 o'clock in the evening, a By-law to stop up and close that part of Elm Street in the Village of Norwood more particularly described as follows:

ALL AND SINGULAR that certain parcel or tract of land and premises situate, lying and being in the Village of Norwood, in the County of Peterborough and the Province of Ontario, and being composed of a part of Elm Street opposite Block J as shown on Registered Plan Number 6 for the said Village; and which said parcel is more particularly described as follows:
BEARINGS herein are astronomic and are referred to the meridian through the north western angle of Lot Number 18 east of King Street and north of Elm Street;
COMMENCING at a survey monument in the southern limit of said Block J distant 126.25 feet measured on a course south 72 degrees 03 minutes east from the south western angle thereof;
THENCE south 72 degrees 03 minutes east, along the said southern limit a distance of 773.75 feet to a survey monument;
THENCE south 18 degrees 05 minutes west, 66.0 feet to a survey monument in the southern limit of said Elm Street;
THENCE north 72 degrees 03 minutes west, along the said limit, a distance of 735.94 feet to a survey monument;
THENCE north 11 degrees 57 minutes west, 76.14 feet, more or less to the point of commencement.

AND TAKE further notice that before passing the said by-law at its meeting to be held at the time and place above mentioned, the Council of the Village of Norwood will then and there hear in person or by his counsel, solicitor or agent, any person who claims that his land will be prejudicially affected by the said by-law and who applies to be heard.

DATED AT THE Village of Norwood, in the County of Peterborough this 25th day of November 1975.

I WISH TO thank all my friends, relatives and neighbours for their visits and many acts of kindness, also special thanks to Rev. Neilson and Rev. Colwell, while I was a patient in Civic Hospital. Many thanks. -- Wilfred Chrysler.

I WOULD LIKE to thank my friends, neighbours and relatives for the lovely gifts and flowers and cards that I received while a patient in Campbellford Hospital. Special thanks to the doctors and staff of the first floor. -- Sincerely Vi Clemens.

WE WISH TO thank all friends, relatives and neighbours for their tribute of flowers, donations to Cancer Society and Heart Fund. A special thanks to Centre Hastings Nursing Home, Dr. Parkin, Howden Funeral Home, Rev. Peters, Rev. Kemp, Diane Cole, United Church Choir, Marmora, Cordova and Zion U.C.W., United Steelworkers No. 4854, and the pallbearers. Your kindness will always be remembered. -- "The Caverly Family."

I WISH TO express my sincere thanks to all those who sent cards, flowers, and treats, also for visits while I was a patient in Kingston General Hospital and since my return home. -- William Bateman.

I WOULD LIKE to say thank you to all the doctors at Centre Hastings Medical Centre, the ministers and all my friends for their visits, treats and cards while I was in the hospital. -- Charles Wannamaker.

IN MEMORIAMs

ELLIS - In loving memory of a dear husband, Orvie, who passed away Dec. 3, 1973.

Everytime we think of him,
We seem to hear God say:
"Have faith and trust my promise,
We'll meet again some day."
If I could have one lifetime wish,
One dream that could come true,
To God I'd pray with all my heart,
For yesteryear and You.
Sadly missed by wife, Meta (May).

BYERS - In loving memory of a dear Husband, Father, and Grandpa Bill, who passed away December 5th, 1974. Remembrance is a golden chain Death tries to break, but all in vain;
To have, to love, and then to part,
Is the greatest sorrow of one's heart.
The years may wipe out many things,
But this they wipe out never.
The memory of those happy days,
When we were all together.
Ever remembered by his wife, Thelma, sons, Jack, Gordon, and Grandchildren.

IN MEMORIAMs

STEVENSON - Garnet (Buzz) who passed away November 28, 1974. There is no parting for those we love, No distance can divide,
For each day in memory's garden,
We shall still walk side by side.
Wherever life may take me,
Whatever I may do,
The memories of the years we shared,
Will keep me close to you.
Lovingly remembered by his wife, Mary, and family.

$800 damage

A two-car collision in the village of Madoc Monday afternoon has resulted in damages totalling an estimated $800, according to provincial police.

A car driven by James Arthur Coles, 45, Kingston, was in collision with a second vehicle, driven by Calvin John Andrews, 20, of Eldorado.

The Andrews vehicle was westbound on St. Lawrence St. and had turned north onto Russell St. when the accident occurred.

Police said Daniel Declair, RR 2, Madoc, escaped injury in the accident, but estimated damage to the car at $750.

The mishap occurred one mile north of Highway 7.

Dense fog cause

A two-car accident in dense fog Thursday morning has left damages totalling $850 to cars driven by Paul Robert Dejussel, 33, RR 3, Belleville, and Betty Margaret Parsons, 44, also of Belleville.

The accident occurred on Highway 62, nine miles south of Madoc.

A FRIENDLY BOY

TODAY'S CHILD

BY HELEN ALLEN

THE TORONTO SUN SYNDICATE

The minute you meet Jim he's your friend. He likes everybody and everybody likes him.

This handsome 11-year-old is Anglo-Saxon in descent and has dark eyes, brown hair and fair skin. He is in good health. He was treated over a year for a punctured eardrum but doctors say he is functioning normally.

Though Jim is average in intelligence he has had some difficulties in school, especially in reading. He is in grade five. Being a sports-minded boy, he plays hockey and baseball and enjoys camping, swimming and hiking. He is an enthusiastic Scout and stamp collector. His ambition is to be a fireman.

Jim appears to be an easy-going, happy-go-lucky lad but underneath his self-confident manner is a great need for security and acceptance. He needs a family to belong to.

To inquire about adopting Jim, please write to Today's Child, Ministry of Community and Social Services, Box 888, Station K, Toronto M4P 2H2. In your letter please tell something of your present family and your way of life.

For general adoption information, consult your local Children's Aid Society.

New lights will be in arena in time for re-opening

The new lights for the arena have arrived and hopefully will be erected in time for the official re-opening on December 20, chairman Gord Bennett of the renovation committee reports.

Everyone seems pleased with the renovation job, he said.

The new manager, Don Logan, is working out well and the curlers are reportedly satisfied with the condition of the ice.

Although the renovation job cost more than the original estimate, it was worth it, Mr. Bennett said. Expenses so far total $68,487.85 without the new lighting and new floor. The engineer changed the plans when it was decided to remove the old roof and replace it. This made it possible to dispense with the cables used on the Millbrook arena.

Mr. Bennett said enlargement of the ice surface has not been considered yet but probably will, perhaps at a public meeting.

An area behind an adjacent apartment building has been gravelled and turned into a parking lot so that parking at the south entrance of the arena can be eliminated. It was felt this area should be left clear for an ambulance or doctor if one should be needed. The "no parking" signs will be erected shortly.

The new lights will give eight times the light now.

Clerk-treasurer William Shannon confirmed that another bill from the design engineer and contractor have not been submitted yet.

CANADA INTERNATIONAL EQUESTRIANS

If you have a friend who is a horse lover, your Christmas present problem is solved. Give him or her a copy of Canada's International Equestrians by Zita Barbara May.

The book, available in soft-cover or hard-bound editions, is the story of Canada's International Equestrians from the early days in the 1880's, to the coveted gold medals won at the 1968 Olympics.

The book is profusely illustrated with over 150 fine photographs and magnificent sketches including two fine double-page spreads, one showing spectacular upsets and the other possible Olympic contenders.

And if the photographs are a joy, another bonus in the book is the superb collection of drawings by C. William Kettlewell of Black River in Prince Edward County. Bill Kettlewell is known as one of Canada's top portrait painters of horses, as well as an outstanding historical illustrator. He captures the essence of the horse in his fine sketches and the superb meld of text, photo and drawing is also due to the careful work of Bill Kettlewell.

A handsome color print of the Grand Military Steeple Chase at London, Canada West, adds still further to the value of this volume.

A chapter tells of the value horses had in the first world war and recalls those early days of the war when buyers went around the country purchasing horses for cavalry remounts. By the soldier with two horses saying "Don't you worry it'll be a long time before they can do without us." In fact, interest in horses and riding is now probably the highest in history, and it has been said that in many parts of Ontario more horses exist now than did when the horse provided a means of transportation and a helper on the farms.

In the year 1496, not long after Christopher Columbus discovered America, a man named Wynkyn de Worde wrote of the 15 points which he considered essential in a good horse:

A good horse sholde have three propyrties of a man, three of a woman, three of a foxe, three of a hare, and three of an asse.

Senators fight

THE GENTLE ART OF POLITICS was apparently taken to an extreme recently when two United States Senators squared off against each other. Actually, it was a karate exhibition between Sen. Quentin Burdick [D-N.D.] at left and Sen. Ted Stevens [R-Alaska]. The match was declared a draw, with both men holding the floor.

Trustees little choice

Hastings County board of education trustees really had little choice when they decided this month to extend bus service to students in the urban areas of the county.

Rural students living a fair distance from elementary and secondary schools have been bused for years, while children in the urban centres, regardless of how far they lived from a school, were forced to walk. Now, following a specific study of the problems and costs, the board has decided to extend the service to 634 elementary school students living in Belleville, Bancroft, Frankford, Stirling and Trenton, and to 235 secondary school students in Trenton.

The elementary students involved live more than a mile from their schools, and the secondary students to get bus service live more than two miles away from their place of learning.

Gross cost for a school year is estimated to be $64,000, of which $56,158 will be paid by grants, and only $7,842 by local ratepayers.

The local cost works out to about $9.02 per student - or about four and a half cents per round trip.

It's a pretty good bargain - and one the students deserve to have in order to catch up to their rural counterparts.

Rev. Orville Thamer of the Madoc Baptist Church congratulates first prize winner Susan Walker and little five-year-old Barbie Moorcroft, who received Honourable Mention in their paintings. Second prize winner, Lisa Beaudrow, was not present for the presentation of a Children's Bible Book, which all three girls received. All other entrants in the contest were awarded chocolate bars for their efforts. This was a follow-up from the recent children's week of meetings held at the church. Some supplies for the arts and crafts and other work were left over and it was decided to make this a continuing program for the children. The Christmas party is coming up on December 20th beginning at 7:00 p.m.

CARD OF THANKS

A most sincere thank you to our relatives and friends for the beautiful gifts, cards and best wishes we received on our 25th wedding anniversary on November 25th. A special thanks to Evelyn and Fred Bailey, Marie and Ed. Hyde for our party at the hall. And a special thanks also to our children for our supper party on Friday night. Thanks to all who made this a wonderful anniversary to remember.

The trench mortar gun, which was a gift to the town some years ago, has been painted and mounted on a suitable base and placed in the town park. This work was done by the local chapter of the IODE as a tribute of honor to those who served in the Great War and also to aid in the improvement of the park.

This week The Review installed a new electric casting machine for manufacturing cuts from mats. The service will give the local stores the opportunity of using the latest illustrations in their advertisements. Formerly this service was only available in the larger centres.

A chimney burning out at John Armstrong's residence on East St. Lawrence St. gave the Madoc firefighters a run Sunday evening about 6:30 p.m. The fire was brought quickly under control and little damage was done.

24 years ago

Nominations for Reeve, four Councillors, three public school trustees and one hydro commissioner will be held in the town hall Friday evening. Reeve Kincaid informed the Review he will definitely be in the field for re-election. He feels that there is still a lot of work to be done regarding the waterworks and those who are familiar with the project should remain in office until the work is completed. "Another reason is that, if re-elected, Reeve Kincaid will probably head one of the most important committees in County Council. Several names have been mentioned to fill the vacancy caused by the resignation of Philip Rivers several weeks ago, but whether they will fight an election remains to be seen. Among these are Jack Baker, Ken Holmes, Presley Nickle, Dorian Stewart and Ken West.

One of the most satisfied and thrilled party of deer hunters we have ever seen reported their hunt to this office last week. The party was hunting in the Lingham Lake district and in four days of hunting killed four deer and two bears, weighing 290 and 60 pounds. The party was composed of Everett Reid, Art Simpson, Glen Elliott, Orval Keller and Bill Reid, of West Huntingdon.

The hunters and fishermen of Madoc and district have recently formed an association to be known as the Madoc District Hunters' and Anglers' Club. This club is affiliated with the Ontario Anglers' and Hunters' Association. Officers of the Madoc club are: president Lloyd Blue; vice-president Gordon Pigden; secretary-treasurer Paul Jones; and directors Ross Caverley, Raoul DeButte, Bill Armstrong, John Bristol, A. Fox, Bill Gordon, Walter Milligan and Dan Robinson.

ENVIRONMENTAL PUSHING

Would it be wise to let Deloro Village "buy in" to disposal site?

With the life expectancy of the joint Marmora township and Marmora village disposal site estimated at eight years, the two councils are wondering if it would be wise to let Deloro village "buy in" as they have requested.

"Deloro isn't really anxious to come in with us - it's just the environmental people pushing it," Reeve Ritchie Wells of Marmora and Lake suggested.

"They are hoping our price will be so high they won't be able to afford it."

After some discussion the matter was referred to a committee of Councillors Dave McLellan and Joe McGrath for further study.

Marmora's Jack Reynolds noted that the arrangement whereby the townships were managing the disposal site was working out well. The contract runs out March 1 and will have to be reviewed at that time.

Some discussion took place on whether people who deliver waste to the disposal site should be charged an additional fee.

Deputy-Reeve Grant Airhart said: "Business people shouldn't have to pay twice when they transport their own waste."

Clerk-treasurer Bill Shannon pointed out that a motion was passed in 1972 to charge outsiders a fee for using the disposal site but it hasn't been enforced because of the difficulty of identifying outsiders. The matter of identification cards was considered unworkable and the matter was dropped.

It was noted that trenching has had to be done twice this year.

Variety of activities at B. of E. meeting

The Hastings County Board of Education, in a meeting held last week at the Madoc Public School, approved the continuation of the present co-curricular course in driver training.

The members also agreed to increase the hours of behind-the-wheel training to eight from six and voted an increase in the charge to students to $35 from $30.

Trustee D. Williams commended the Task Force for their research on the driver training course.

The Board accepted the Task Force report on electronic calculators as presented at the meeting Nov. 10. They agreed that recommendations contained in the report should be a statement of policy for the use of the calculators in schools in Hastings County.

The Board also approved transportation for urban elementary students living more than one mile from school, and for urban secondary students living more than two miles from school.

Clause 10 of the Board's transportation contract was amended to read: "When the owner-operator does not cover his/her route due to mechanical failure or for any other reason except weather conditions, he/she shall not receive payment for that day."

To enable the teaching staffs of the schools for trainable retarded children to attend the annual meeting of the Ontario Association for Teachers of Mentally Retarded Children, the professional activity day scheduled for May 12, 1976 has been changed for these schools to April 30, 1976.

The Board members had been welcomed to the Centre Hastings area and to Madoc Public School by Trustee J. Spry. He introduced village Reeve Tom Barton, who also welcomed those present.

Mr. Spry introduced Madoc township Reeve Cecil Woods who extended a word of greeting, and public school principal John Murphy.

Mr. Murphy expressed his pleasure at having the Board hold their meeting at the school and introduced the other principals of the Centre Hastings area as well as the staff of the school.

Two of the delegates from North Hastings at the Ontario Federation of Agriculture Convention in Hamilton on November 24th, 25th and 26th. On the right, Wilfrid Forestell, Madoc and on the left, Charles Fargey, Stirling. Wilfrid also represents North Hastings on the O.F.A. Board of Directors.

Area delegates attend agriculture meet in Hamilton

The annual convention of the Ontario Federation of Agriculture was held Nov. 24, 25, and 26 in Hamilton. Three hundred and eighty delegates were in attendance. North Hastings was represented by Mr. and Mrs. Paul McKeown, Charles Fargey and Wilfrid Forestell. There were also four delegates from South Hastings.

Gordon Hill was returned for a sixth term as president and Peter Hannam, of Guelph, was chosen as vice-president.

The theme of the convention, "Producers and Consumers - Partners for Progress", was designed to recognize the growing need for co-operation between the two segments of society and to emphasize the common bonds.

Guest speakers were the Hon. Kevin Drummond, minister of agriculture for Quebec; the Hon. Wm. Newman, Ontario minister of agriculture; the Hon. Stephen Lewis; the Hon. Robert Nixon; the Hon. Dennis Trimble, minister of energy; and the Hon. Mr. Snow, minister of transportation and communications.

The delegates agreed that one of the most important resolutions passed was the complete support of the OFA for the wages and price control guidelines proposed by the federal government.

Agriculture minister Drummond made it very apparent that the Quebec government was very concerned about retaining the farmers of Quebec in a viable position in order to ensure that they continue to produce sufficient food and in this regard makes certain that all farm policies are arrived at in consultation with farmers.

Mr. Drummond said he was looking to the future and was prepared to support the cow-calf operator to approximately $86 per herd in comparison to $45 by the Ontario minister of agriculture.

In common throughout the convention was the criticism of Mrs. Beryl Plumtre and her staff. The minister of agriculture for Quebec, the Ontario minister, the president of the Consumers Association of Canada and the president of the Ontario Federation of Agriculture all expressed their disagreement and dissatisfaction with the findings of the Food Review Board as presented by Mrs. Plumtre.

It became apparent how vulnerable the farmer is when it was disclosed that when the Essex Packing Plant went into receivership recently, the farmers that had supplied beef worth in excess of one quarter of a million dollars received only NSF cheques. Banks who had made loans to the same company and employees who had demanded wage increases in the early summer were paid first.

The convention closed on an optimistic note, heartened that the Consumers Association had a better understanding of the contribution made by farmers in the production of food.

Mrs. George Warbrick hosts W.M.C.

The November meeting of the Women's Mission Circle was held recently at the home of Mrs. George Warbrick.

The meeting was opened with a hymn and prayer. The roll call was answered by a verse of scripture on wisdom.

Mrs. Parsons, program convener, gave a talk on practical wisdom, reading from several sources in the Bible on her topic.

Install Rebekah officers

District Deputy President, Elvi Brownson, and her staff made their official visit to Oakdale Rebekah Lodge No. 134 on Thursday night for the purpose of installing into their respective chairs, the officers for the coming year.

The new officers installed are as follows: Noble Grand, June Walker; Vice Grand, Anna Carman; Treasurer, Aleatha Woods; Financial Secretary, Ruby Danford; Recording Secretary, Helen Wannamaker; Musician, Jean Bailey; Warden, Sheila Bird; Conductor, Karen Bailey; Colour Bearer, Audrey Johnston; Outside Guardian, Blanche McMurray; Inside Guardian, Edith Keller; R.S.N.G., Wanda Dunford; L.S.N.G., Irene Gordon; R.S.V.G., Eva Brownson; L.S.V.G., Ruby Sprague; Chaplain, Mary Crawford; J.P.N.G., Mary Danford.

After the officers were installed, the D.D.P. gave a short address, and thanked her District Marshall, Ruby Danford, and the installing staff. She also thanked the Oakdale Sisters for the lovely bouquet of 'mums and for the piece of luggage which had been presented to her.

A light lunch and social evening followed.

Classes moving to homes?

Hastings County Board of Education may have to move some classrooms into private homes in the not too distant future.

It may also have to move into churches, halls, warehouses, office space, shops, apartment and other schools, such as Albert College or Sir James Whitney.

This was the warning of Eric Runacres, director of education, as he warned board of education trustees Monday that spending on expanded facilities is to be sharply curtailed.

He said that during the past six years the system has consolidated a number of schools in new buildings in appropriate locations, and at the same time has requested additional funding for other new buildings, renovations and additions.

"Each year we have requested approximately 15 or more millions of dollars for these purposes. Each year we have received a miniscule part of our requests," Mr. Runacres pointed out.

"Earlier this year we were informed that capital funding would be extremely 'tight' in 1976.

"Information received this week indicates the very real possibility of serious limitations in all funding for education in 1976 and for years beyond, and capital funding is not included.

"It appears we will be required to make use of every available asset of site or building as we plan for the next four or more years. In addition, we must plan to utilize alternatives to our usual mode of resolving space problems."

The Mr. Runacres said a number of alternatives present themselves for consideration:

1. Additions: A normal mode but extremely unlikely except for major enrolment difficulties.
2. Portables - add or more and a useful solution if the core building is unsatisfactory.
3. Share facilities with the Hastings and Prince Edward County Separate School Board.
4. Reactivate 'old' buildings as satellites for inadequate core buildings.
5. Rent other space in the community, such as homes, churches, halls, etc.
6. Move students to space in schools (for example, grade 8's to secondary schools in September and January.
7. Adjust time shifts within the regular school day.
8. Home instruction.
9. Adjust boundaries to balance enrolments.

The director recommended the present staff resources at the school and support level produce a county study of suitable alternative space, with the information to be available for consideration during the spring term of 1976.

Santa coming to town Sat.

Saturday will be a busy day in Madoc when traffic in the main streets will be temporarily stopped to make way for the big Christmas parade. The Madoc Volunteer Firemen, together with some area teenagers, have spent a great deal of time in preparing for the big event. A large number of entries are already in. These include clowns, floats, antique cars, vans, surreys, horses, dogs, fire trucks, people, and of course, Santa Claus himself.

The parade will get underway at 1:30 in the afternoon, starting from the new fire hall behind Kramp's B.P.

Entertainment has been planned for the children in the Kiwanis Centre following the parade. Cartoons will be shown at this time, giving Mom and Dad a chance to shop.

Don't miss this opportunity for your children to visit with Santa and to have a little extra fun at this time of year.

The parade is sponsored by the Madoc and District Businessmen's Association.

Single-car crash sends two people to hospital

A single-car crash on Hwy. 37 sent two persons to hospital early Sunday morning, December 7th.

Taken to Belleville General Hospital by private car were the driver, 17-year-old Christopher Orr of Tweed, and the only passenger in the car, James Lambert, 19, also of Tweed. The two were treated for cuts and bruises.

The mishap occurred five miles south of Tweed at approximately 2:30 a.m. Orr was southbound with the 1967 Plymouth. Police report he was going too fast and lost control and struck a hydro pole 19 feet from the paved portion of the road. The cost of replacing the pole was estimated at $300. Although the pole was broken, there was no power interruption as a result of the incident.

The car sustained $2500 damage to the windshield, complete back and left side. Const. John Ball of the Madoc Detachment, Ontario Provincial Police, has charged Orr with Careless Driving as the road was dry and visibility good at the time.

Men's High in the WI card party went to Murray Morgan; second was Dick Dafee and consolation winner was Ronald Brown. Mrs. Archie Wickens won the door prize.

Mrs. Maggie Martin attended an LOBA banquet at Warsaw on Friday evening and was an overnight guest of Mrs. Annie Corvett.

Mr. and Mrs. Percy Mumby were recent guests of Mr. and Mrs. Everett Boldrick, Steven and Carol at Belleville.

Don and Shawn McKeown, Foxboro, Kathy Morton, Stirling, and Steven McKeown were guests of Mrs. Fred McKeown on Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. Ben Acker, Oshawa, were weekend guests of Mr. and Mrs. Jack Reid and family. Mr. and Mrs. Wayne Schwager and Dawn, Moira, were dinner guests at the same home on Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. Alex Fleming, Carol Anne and Kevin were guests of Mr. and Mrs. Alex Fleming on the weekend.

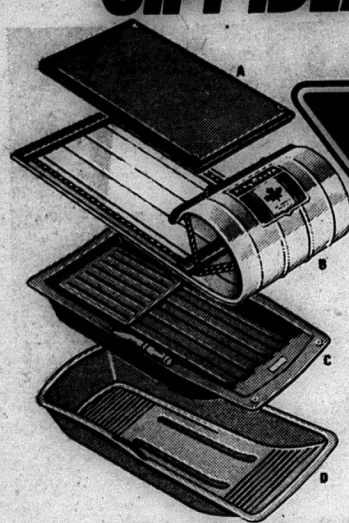

Mr. and Mrs. Cliff Anderson, Seymour, Bill and Dick Morton, 9th line, Mrs. Fred McKeown and Mrs. Etta Hailstone visited Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Reid on Thursday when they celebrated Mrs. Arthur Reid's birthday.

At the regular monthly meeting of the Hastings and Prince Edward Mutual Firemen's Association, held in the Stirling fire hall Wednesday evening, Rawdon fire department were awarded the plaque given out each year for general maintenance and good housekeeping. They are to share the plaque with the Wellington fire department.

New ski chalet opens east of Arden

Ross Baker, an Arden area businessman, has announced the opening of his new Cross-Country Ski Chalet Dec. 6 at Baker's Valley.

The Chalet is located just east of the Arden turn, with direct access off Highway 7.

Mr. Baker is the owner and will manage the business, which feature marked and groomed trails and a toboggan hill.

The resort will exclude all snowmobiles but it is hoped this facility will increase winter business in this predominantly summer tourist area.

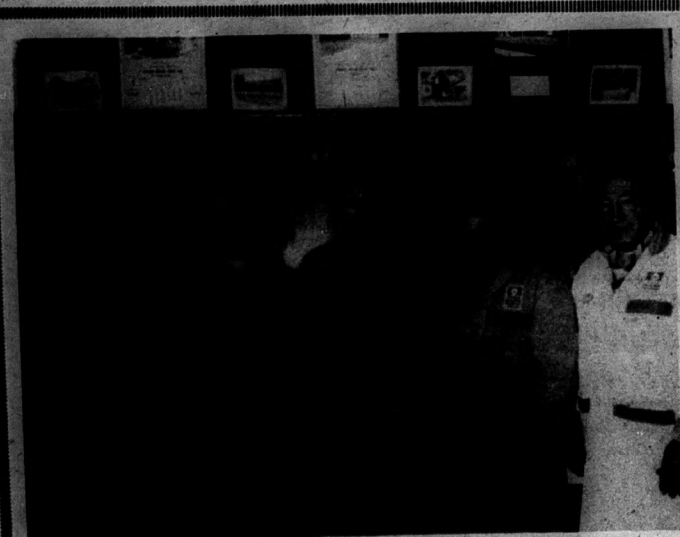

Although the whole idea is far from completed, Mr. Baker admits the results thus far have been 10 years in the making.

A large wood cook-stove will provide heat while oil lanterns will be used for lighting. The Chalet is designed with heavy wood beams and an orange steel roof to give a Swiss appearance.

A limited number of sets of cross-country ski equipment and toboggans will be available as rentals in the beginning but the number is expected to be expanded greatly as the business improves. An entrance fee of $1 per day per person will be charged at the resort.

Trail conditions and further information will be available through Baker's Valley Cross-Country Ski Resort, RR 1, Arden, or by phoning 335-5547 or 478-2632.

25-Year EMPLOYEE AWARDS

Pigden Motor Sales staff enjoys annual Yule party

Pigden Motor Sales employees held their annual Christmas party at the Madoc Legion Hall Saturday.

A roast beef dinner was prepared and served by the Ladies Auxiliary. Following the dinner friends and customers joined the staff for dancing to the music of Harry Ashton, disc jockey.

A buffet lunch supplied by the employer was enjoyed by all later in the evening.

Four employees received awards for their dedicated service to the business.

Receiving gold watches for 25 years of employment were Grant Gaebel, mechanic; Russell Dunford, mechanic; and Cecil Trudeau, mechanic.

A silver beer stein was presented to Wilfred Thompson, mechanic, for 35 years of service. Wilfred has actually been employed at Pigden Motor Sales for 38 years.

The awards were presented by Harold Pigden, President, and Doug Pigden, Secretary-Treasurer.

There'll be no interest charges on TD Chargex purchases

Toronto Dominion Bank will waive interest charges on TD Chargex purchases made during the recent postal strike, the bank announced this week.

Statements to be mailed to the Bank's Chargex customers will contain a notice stating that "if a reversal of interest shows on the accompanying statement, it relates to the interest charged on new purchases made preceding and during the strike for which you had not received a statement from us".

Interest on balances outstanding prior to the postal strike and on all cash advances is not affected.

Because delivery of TD Chargex statements was interrupted by the strike, many cardholders were unable to make payments on their accounts.

Farm Labor manager has been involved

Walter Rutherford, RR 4, Colborne, present manager of the Quinte Farm Labor Pool, has been involved in both agricultural and municipal affairs for a number of years.

He graduated from the Ontario Agricultural College in 1953 with a BSA. Following graduation he farmed for a short period and worked eight years at the Smithfield Experimental Farm with the Canada Department of Agriculture.

From 1964-68 he was employed with the Extension Branch of the Ontario Ministry of Agriculture and Food working out of the Bowmanville and Picton offices. In 1968 he purchased the home farm from his father and operated this until 1973. Since that date he has been operating a farm on a rental arrangement.

Mr. Rutherford has been involved in local government for several years, having served on the council of the village of Colborne for five years. He is presently a member of the Northumberland County Council.

Mr. Rutherford assumed the post of manager of the Quinte Farm Labor Pool on August 1, 1975.

TINA RIVERS, Donna Rivers, Robert Lajole, Noreen Kinlin and Joan Kinlin are among area members of the Nicholson College Band. It makes its debut next

PREPARING FOR DEBUT

Sound of music at Nicholson College

The world is alive - with the sound of music.

And the portable classroom at Nicholson Catholic College, Church Street, Belleville, is the "world" for a group of musicians who give up their lunch hours two or three times a week to belong to the fledgling school band.

Gathered together under instructors Arden Lewis and Bill Long, the group was formed just this year and is really making progress.

Principal Sister Mary Therese says those interested didn't have to have previous musical experience.

"In fact," she told this newspaper, "they didn't even have to have an instrument." As long as they were interested, and sincere, they were welcome. And they're really working hard.

Members are allowed to take the instruments home for practice - signing them out at night, and returning them the morning of the next school day.

The group hopes to make its debut Tuesday, December 16, when it plays a selection before Hastings and Prince Edward Separate School Board members as they meet for a regular board meeting.

Sister Rose-Marie, co-ordinator of the band, is just as optimistic as the students.

"They're coming along," she smiles.

Principal Sister Mary-Therese feels the band is "just the beginning. I think it will grow."

A concert band is her goal.

And the way the students are working, it's a goal that seems sure to be realized.

Failure to bring friend results in 10 cent fines

Mrs. Lorne McInroy was the hostess recently for a meeting of the Springbrook Women's Institute.

The president, Mrs. Myrtle Cassidy, welcomed the members and several guests.

The roll call was Bring a friend or pay a fine. Members present without a friend paid a fine of 10 cents. As a result 90 cents was added to the treasury.

The December meeting was announced for Dec. 17 at the home of Mrs. C.L. McKeown. A Christmas program and a gift exchange will take place. The gifts are to be of $1 value this year.

Mrs. Barlow, the secretary, reported from the principal of CHSS. She said he was very thankful for the $100 award to be given out and said the WI would hear from them in June and September.

Two members paid birthday fees and happy birthday was sung.

The program followed with conveners Mrs. L. McInroy and Mrs. M. Bateman on citizenship and world affairs.

A reading of a modern version of the poem Night Before Christmas was given by Mrs. C.L. McKeown.

Mrs. G. Burkitt read a poem which she had written.

Mrs. L. McInroy introduced the guest speaker, Mrs. Torr, who, with her husband, have lived in Stirling for two years and own the Stirling Commercial Printing business.

She took as her topic "Looking as a citizen, what are my privileges".

Mrs. McInroy thanked the speaker and Mrs. Bateman presented her with a gift.

The program concluded with a cake contest by Mrs. M. Bateman.

Thankyou

The Santa Claus Parade Committee would like to thank everyone for their co-operation and assistance in making Marmora's Parade a success.

Mr. and Mrs. Lindsay Tanner, Stirling, were recent supper guests of Mr. and Mrs. Ted Preston.

Know good use former Marsh Hill School?

Do you have a good idea on how the former Marsh Hill Public School in Sydney Township can be utilized?

If so, Wayne Brooks and David L. Smith of the Hastings County Board of Education would like to know.

The two, along with many others, feel the board should not sell the school, but retain it for other uses.

And they told the Hastings County Board of Education trustees of their feelings during the board's December meeting at the education centre in Belleville Monday night.

Brooks and Smith feel the school could be used as a rural residential activity centre for the county.

And "we are convinced from our studies that similar views are shared by local groups such as: the newly amalgamated parks and recreation committee of Sydney Township and the Information and Education Advisory Board of the Moira River Conservation Authority".

Many leadership programs, they say, require instructional sessions, and practice in: preparing meals, routine house keeping duties, fellowship in passive recreation, the social dynamics of an "evolving group" and late evening follow-up sessions with early morning starts.

"We have met with representatives from the Belleville Community and Social Services and the Ministry of Culture and Recreation regarding in-depth leadership training for senior students who might be instructing in any one of many summer trips, camps, playgrounds and activity projects.

"We believe that the Marsh Hill School could be an excellent centre for such programs."

Mrs. Wendy Donovan-Neale, director of recreation for the Township of Sydney, agrees. She would like to use the centre for a leadership development course planned for this winter.

It includes four two-hour lectures on such subjects as leadership techniques, program planning, age group characteristics, discipline, staff relationships, creativity, leadership responsibility etc.

"I would like to follow this lecture series with a weekend residential training session in which we will have practice sessions in nature programs, camp crafts, game leadership and arts and crafts.

"A residential session is important in that it will give me an opportunity to see how each person relates to others over an extended period of time. Also it will allow us the time and environment to conduct sessions of a more practical nature."

The location of the Marsh Hill School is also considered ideal. Considerable private acreage immediately surrounds the school property and access to the land for centre activities is possible.

Push burning car away from house

Tweed volunteer fire department were called to the scene of a car fire Friday evening at the home of Fred Purchase in Sulphide.

A car owned by Wayne Purchase, Sault Ste. Marie, a grandson of the Purchases, had caught fire only four feet from the home.

Purchase used a commercial fire extinguisher to contain the blaze but was unable to use water from the house. The men did manage to push the vehicle far enough away from the house to save the building from damage.

No estimate of damage was available at press time but it was reported as minor. Purchase, 20, said he expected to be able to operate the car again after repair work.

Vandals hit new homes

Damage estimated by police at $3,000 was left by vandals last week in two new bungalows on St. Joseph St. in Tweed.

Police said entry had been gained to one of the houses by smashing a screen and breaking a window. The other had been entered by smashing the door. The water had been turned on in the basement of one of the bungalows, leaving a depth of almost nine inches.

The houses, owned by Percy Shearer, Toronto, were almost completed and were ready for occupancy, police said.

Mul-lan it over... with Don Mullan

NOW THAT TELEVISION is no longer the stay at home attraction it once was, it's surprising more people don't take advantage of the 'live' shows when they step out for a night on the town.

Live shows, like the just concluded "My Three Angels" comedy presented at the Pinnacle Playhouse in Belleville over the past couple of weeks, are really worthwhile attending.

Directed by Ernest Kneisel, the three-act comedy was staged by the Belleville Theatre Guild, and just has to go down as the best show this writer has seen in the year to date.

It was absolutely superb! Fred Webster, Iris Sanderson and Debbie Kemmett played the troubled Ducotel family of a father, mother and daughter who escape their problems through the hilarious antics of three convicts played by Peter Kitcher, Ernest Kneisel and Steve Bone. The six just couldn't have done much better - their performances were almost flawless.

Jim Alexander as the Ducotel's hard line cousin, Jim Spence as his heir apparent, Susan Dawes as the gadabout Mme. Parole and John Wonnacott as the lieutenant, also performed well.

So did the snake, which we never saw, but which was villainous enough to knock off Alexander and Spence so the Ducotel family could live happily ever after.

We commend the Guild on its presentation, and eagerly look forward to its next presentation.

Other upcoming shows that should be good include the Kampus Kapers slated for B.C.I. next February, and an as yet un-named 1976 program to be presented by Campbellford Little Theatre as part of their town's Centennial year celebrations.

Why more people don't take advantage of attending live shows of this sort, and instead pay out even more money to go to the movies which they can eventually see on the TV anyway, is indeed puzzling.

Of course, live theatre isn't everyone's cup of tea so to speak.

But far more people should take a sip, before dismissing the brand as no good. Most of them would go back for more.

A FAMILY WHO CAME to this country from Luxembourg 24 years ago thinking Canada was a safe place to live are having second thoughts.

Michael and Maria Leuty adopted Gideon 12 years ago because their only natural son was killed at birth during the war - a German nurse took the couple's new born baby and smashed its head against a sink.

But as Gideon went home from air cadet squadron 618, which meets twice a week at the HMCS York near the CNE, two youths started calling the uniformed lad names. When he ignored them, one pushed him down to the sidewalk while the other put the barrel of a starter's pistol in his ear and pulled the trigger.

The boy passed out, but was later able to stagger to police who took him to a hospital where fragments of the cartridge from the pistol were found to have pierced the lad's eardrum and shattered cartilage. It isn't known, at the time of this writing, whether he will lose the hearing in his ear or not.

The Leutys moved to Canada thinking it would be safe. But now...

"This country has gone crazy," said Mr. Leuty. "All we have read about, and now our own boy."

It is but another example of how things are going in this dominion...and how they will continue, if we don't rally around our law enforcement officers, and work together to rid our nation of those who would do us harm.

WAS THIS YOU - The very upset lady who was sounding off in the Belleville Arena last Wednesday, 'fit to be tied' because the man you were supposed to see (from the minor hockey association) failed to show up for your scheduled appointment? Boy, were you angry! Luckily you left the building before your 'steam' melted the artificial ice.

But we do sympathize with you - the man who had said he would be there, should have kept the appointment. It's no fun going out of your way only to be let down.

WE PICKED UP a trio of hitch-hiking teens enroute east from Norwood last Friday, and dropped them off just east of Havelock.

"What are you doing tonight," we asked, in an attempt to make conversation.

"Going to get drunk," came the enthusiastic reply.

How sad. Life has so much to offer, and yet, so few really taste its fulfillment.

Olympic co-ordinator for guest speaker

Rev. Keith Parks, co-ordinator for Christian witness at Olympic '76, was guest speaker at the annual Christmas banquet held by the members of Marmora Pentecostal Church on Saturday evening at St. Andrew's Church Education Hall.

Rev. Parks is also national director of Christ Ambassadors for the Pentecostal Assemblies of Canada. His topic on Saturday evening was "Love".

On a prior visit to Marmora Pentecostal Church, Rev. Parks spoke on the special services of witness that will be held in connection with the Olympics. He also revealed that plans are in the making for 1,000 young Pentecostal members to spend a memorable and spiritually rewarding month in Montreal with other Christian groups attending the Olympics. To participate in this program the young person must be at least 17 and must pay their own way to Montreal and $225. for expenses during their stay.

Following the delicious turkey dinner prepared by St. Andrew's UCW, the gathering was entertained by the Jubilaires, of Verona.

Among the 120 who attended the banquet were guests from Bancroft, Peterborough, Belleville, Norwood, Eldorado and Marmora.

Ontario CAREER

A c t i o n

Available to unemployed persons, aged 16 to 24, under the Ontario Career Action Program.

Program

More than half of the unemployed in the Province are young people. Because of this, the Ontario Government has created a work-experience program, with a living allowance, that is designed to help young job seekers find gainful employment.

To be eligible, you must be at least 16 years old, but less than 25 years of age, and you must be unemployed, but actively seeking employment. You must not now be receiving full-time formal education.

Assistance includes on-the-job training plus an allowance of $100 per week up to a maximum of 52 weeks. The aim is to provide the guidance and experience necessary for employment in private business or industry. The Ontario Government and Canada Manpower will assist trainees in their search for employment.

To apply, fill out an application form at your local Canada Manpower Centre. Final selection of applicants and allocation of training assignments will be made by the Government of Ontario.

The first program begins January 1976. Apply soon. Further information about the program is available at your Canada Manpower Centre.

The Ontario Career Action Program is administered by the Ontario Ministry of Colleges and Universities in cooperation with the Ontario Youth Secretariat.

Experience at gut level - out on the street!

BELLEVILLE - "My experience has been at a gut level, out on the street, working with people. My job now is not breaking up the home-my main concern is keeping the family together."

Len Smith is an ex-policeman. Nearly two years ago he resigned from the force and moved to Belleville. Since then he has energetically pursued a full-time career in social work. During the day he studies for a B.A. in Psychology at Queen's University, and by night he is the Emergency Duty Worker for The Family & Children's Services of Hastings County-The Children's Aid Society.

As his job title suggests Len looks after emergencies-a situation that his background and cool head has imminently prepared him for. After normal office hours the Family & Children's Services doesn't just shut down...life's not like that. Emergency calls are routed through by an answering service. His reaction is swift-get to the spot as soon as possible...he has learned to expect just about anything...a teen-ager may be breaking up the home in an outburst of adolescent frustration...children are left alone and he has to literally babysit until the parents are located and he is satisfied that the situation is under control...kids won't go home to their parents' place and he has to begin the often lengthy task of sorting out the emotional tangle that has brought this to a head. It can often make for a long day, and it's tough to have to face into your studies the next day with only a few hours' sleep, but Len Smith knows it's what he wants to do and he knows that he's good at it.

Len will graduate in 1977 and will then continue to study for his MSW - Master in Social Work. He's got his career tightly planned, and he's going to achieve his objectives because he's bright and disciplined and very dedicated. He believes that he can be an influence for order and decency in the community, and that through the Family & Children's Services he can be of real service to families in helping to straighten out problems between parents and kids-from pre-schoolers to teens.

Len Smith ex-policeman

It is just over 75 years since the first Children's Protection Act was passed in Ontario to deal with children found begging, wandering about without a home, children who were orphans, who had a parent in prison, or were themselves found guilty of a petty crime. Today there are 50 Children's Aid Societies in Ontario, and although each is autonomous and responsible for a specific geographic area, together they provide a network of services to children and families the length and breadth of the Province. The prime function of the Children's Aid Society is to administer the Child Welfare Act in a given area on behalf of the Government of Ontario. And the prime function of dedicated people like Len Smith is the positive one of strengthening and unifying the family. It's enormously important work, aimed at preventing problems from arising. Len Smith is typical of the new social worker who can contribute both skill and experience that will help others function better and enjoy life more. That's a worthwhile objective!

TWELVE OF 30 MEMBERS

Farming dominates councillors background

Farming dominates the background occupations of the 30 member Hastings County council.

Twelve councillors, including the county warden, William S. McCrae, Reeve of Hungerford, list their occupation as a farmer.

Four say they are "retired", 14 others list a variety of occupations, and one member, Reeve Ray E. Short, of Stirling, lists no occupation.

Listing as "retired" are Ritchie Wells, reeve of Marmora and Lakes Township; Frank Graham, reeve of Wollaston Township; Jack McKenzie, reeve of Faraday Township; and James Haddow, reeve of Herschel Township.

Other councillors, each with a different occupation listed are as follows:

Kenneth G. Smith, reeve of Elzevir and Grimsthorpe Townships, motel proprietor.

Ross Sprckett, reeve of Tudor & Cashel Townships, lumber dealer.

Frank Robbins, reeve of Limerick township, grader operator.

Arthur McMunn, reeve of Mayo township, transport operator.

Felix Browne, reeve of Bangor, Wicklow and McClure townships, engineer technician.

George Lyons, reeve of Deseronto town, merchant.

Russell Hawley, reeve of Bancroft village, oil dealer.

Douglas Lynch, reeve of Deloro Village, quality control chemist.

Carman Mikel, reeve of Frankford village, quality assurance.

Tom C. Barton, reeve of Madoc village, electrician.

John R. Reynolds, reeve of Marmora village, inspector.

Mrs. Barbara Allen, reeve of Tweed village, and the only female councillor, psychiatric social worker.

There's likely to be little change in the occupational background of county councillors next year, unless some retire or change jobs.

Councillors are just now completing the first year of two-year terms, and won't be facing their respective municipal ratepayers in a municipal election until late 1976.

Huntingdon clerk heads county clerk-treasurers

Dorothy Thompson of the Township of Huntingdon was elected president of the Hastings County Clerk-Treasurer's Association as the group held its annual meeting in Belleville. Talking with her, just before her inauguration, are Bill Barlow, clerk-treasurer of Rawdon Township; Bill Shannon, clerk-treasurer of Marmora Village; Bernice Young, clerk-treasurer of Deloro Village; and Carl S. Bateman, the county clerk-treasurer and administrator.

Life long area resident dies in Belleville

Life-long resident of the Rawdon Township area, Everett Heath, of Bonarlaw, died at Belleville General Hospital on Wednesday, December 3, 1975. He was in his 89th year.

Mr. Heath rested at the Howden Funeral Home in Marmora before the service in St. Mark's Church, Bonarlaw, on Friday, December 5 at 1:30 p.m. Rev. John Lombard, rector, and Rev. Robert Stewart, of Picton, officiated at the service.

Interment was in Mont Nebo Cemetery, Springbrook. Bearers were Percy Reid, Earl Finch, Ensil Andrew, Roy Shortt, Don Reid and Ronald Brown.

Son of the late Charles Heath and the late former Annie Dunn, he was born at Harold and educated at the 8th Line School of Rawdon Township. Mr. Heath farmed for most of his life.

He was predeceased by his wife, the former Anna Laura Neal, who died six months ago, and one infant daughter.

He is survived by one daughter, Mrs. Don

(Helen) Case of Hastings, and nine sons: Charles, of Delhi, Thomas and Alvin, of Bonarlaw, Russell and Cecil, of Rochester, N.Y., Carl, of Hastings, Melvin, of Orillia, James, of Lindsay, and Murray, of Campbellford.

There are 22 grandchildren and 12 great-grandchildren.

Four hurt, 3-car crash

Four people were taken to Belleville General Hospital Friday evening after a three-car accident on Highway 37, seven miles south of Tweed.

Treated and released were Reta Symington, 61, Almonte, Ont.; Sharon Jeanette Hawryluk, 21, RR 5, Belleville; and John Clement, 17, RR 4, Tweed.

Taken to Belleville General Hospital and later transferred to Kingston General Hospital with head injuries was 2-year-old Shane Smith, Belleville.

Police said a half ton truck driven by Edgar Geen, 33, Thomasburg, was stopped in the road about to make a left turn. A car driven by Sharon Hawryluk pulled around the truck and collided with a car driven by Charles Earl Symington, 64, of Almonte. Clement and the Smith boy were both passengers in the Hawryluk vehicle.

Damages were estimated at $1,500 to the Hawryluk car and $500 to the Symington car.

Flyers and Stars share

Standings in the Atom-Novice House League this week have the Flyers and the North Stars tied with four points apiece. The Leafs have yet to count any points.

The Flyers have won two games and lost none. The North Stars have won two and lost two while the Leafs have lost two.

Thursday, Dec. 4 saw the North Stars defeat the Leafs in a 5-3 game. Goals for the Stars were by Tim Willemssen with three and A. Ringleman with two. Leaf goals were from Steven Willock, Ted Ash and Peter Rollins.

Saturday, Dec. 6 saw the Flyers down the North Stars 7-5. Flyer goals were from Doug Reid with six and Ronnie Wallace. North Star goals were all by Tim Willemssen.

Games this week have the Leafs against the North Stars Thursday, Dec. 11 at 4 p.m. and the Flyers Vs. the Leafs Saturday, Dec. 13 at 9:30 a.m.

Madoc pee wees sink Tweed

Madoc PeeWee A's defeated Tweed Wednesday, Dec. 3 in a 6-2 contest.

In the first period Madoc scores two goals to Tweed's one. Madoc scorer was Randy Gray.

The second marksman for Madoc was Paul Mason. Assists in the two goals went to Darryl Wood and Carl Johnston.

In the second period Madoc counted two more while Tweed scored once.

Paul Mason scored both Madoc goals with Danny Brown picking up an assist on the second.

The third period saw count two more goals, one from Bryan Willemson unassisted, the second from Paul Mason with an assist to Bill Bateman.

In a game Friday, Dec. 5, Madoc was defeated by Colborne 6-2.

The first period score was 3-1 with Randy Gray getting the goal from Ian Johnston.

Madoc scored again in the second period with Randy Gray again the marksman. Darryl Wood and Robert Empey assisted.

Colborne came back in the third however with three more goals to win the game.

Upcoming games have Marmora visiting Madoc Friday, Dec. 12 at 7 p.m. and Madoc playing an exhibition game in Bancroft Sunday, Dec. 14 at 6 p.m.

Late goal is needed to earn tie with Marmora

A goal by Doug Reid with four minutes left in the game pulled the PeeWee B's into a 3-3 tie with Marmora Friday night.

Marmora opened the scoring in the second period but a goal by Scott Shaw assisted by Darcy Kirkwood pulled the local squad even.

David Anthony, assisted by Michael Franks and Peter Rollins, gave Madoc a 2-1 lead but this was short-lived as Marmora tied the score before the end of the second period.

Marmora broke the tie early in the third and held on until Reid's goal, assisted by Michael Franks and Tim Willemssen, left the two teams in a 3-3 deadlock.

The PeeWee B's will be playing Thursday night at 7 p.m. against Stirling. This game replaces a cancelled Bantam match and will be followed at 9 p.m. with a Campbellford - Madoc Juvenile game.

OMHA games coming up

Upcoming games in the OMHA schedule have Stirling going against the Madoc PeeWee B's Thursday, Dec. 11 at 7 p.m. while on the same day Campbellford goes against the Madoc Juveniles at 9 p.m.

Friday, Dec. 12 sees Marmora vs. the Madoc PeeWees at 7 p.m.

On Tuesday, Dec. 16, Stirling will play the Madoc Midgets at 7 p.m.

On Thursday, Dec. 18 Stirling will play the Madoc Bantams and the Madoc Juveniles in 7 p.m. and 9 p.m. games.

Madoc OPP kept busy with accidents, thefts

Madoc provincial police last week reported investigating a total of seven accidents. Two charges were laid and damages amounted to $5,260, with one person injured.

Two thefts were reported; one complaint of break and enter; one request for periodic checks; one report of wilful damage; one fraud complaint; two assaults were reported; two persons were charged with impaired driving; and five persons were charged with having liquor under the Liquor Control Act.

Approximately 26 other occurrences have been investigated, such as found animals, lost licences and persons to locate.

Deterrent doctor's fees

Recently, in a report to our Provincial Government, it was recommended that deterrent fees of $2.00 for each doctor's visit, and $5. for each day in hospital, be instigated in order to discourage those who take unjust advantage of free medical care. Obviously, this is another attempt to decrease the spirally costs of medicare.

However, it is a bad one.

First, most of those who take unjust advantage of free medical care are those who need the doctor to gain attention for themselves; who are in various stages of hypochondria. Two Dollars per visit, or Five Dollars a day is a small price for a hypochondriac to pay for medical care. He believes he is sick and will go to any length to get attention. The $2. or $5. is no deterrent.

Secondly, the fee deterrent is a deterrent most to those with a low income. In my experience as a pastor, I find that free medicare is not even adequate for them. Often these people have three or more children. If there is sickness, they will put off seeing the doctor as long as possible, because to go means getting a babysitter, which they cannot afford, or taking the children, which can be a traumatic experience. Most doctors' waiting rooms are so sterile, silent, and pure, that any noise sounds like an explosion. Imagine how a mother feels when she brings her three, four or more children into such a waiting room. Fortunately, most pediatricians and some family practice doctors are now having waiting rooms in which children and parents can feel somewhat comfortable. I was recently in a doctor's office with my three children (ages 8, 6 and 3) in which there were no children's books at all. Rigid, strict, silent doctor's offices are a good enough deterrent in themselves to discourage all who want to bring their children with them. It has been one of the failures of our Medicare system, that it has not met the needs of low wage earners, or those on government assistance, the way it should. No further financial deterrents are needed.

As far as I can see, the only alternative that will not hurt the people it is trying to help, is for the doctor to charge those persons who unjustly take advantage of his services. This is already done to those who use the ambulance when there is not a good reason for them to have used it. The doctors could do the same.

Thirdly, a $5. a day deterrent fee while in hospital, is totally preposterous. I find at Belleville General Hospital that a person is in hospital no longer than he has to. Often I wonder about the advisability of the patient's going home in his or her condition. The only people I have heard of who can take advantage of hospital care not needed, are people with political pull, and it is expedient for the hospital not to make a fuss. (This is in general, I am not speaking of any hospital in particular). I have also heard that certain doctors are so domineering that they can get their patients in before other doctors (and presumably, might be able to leave them in longer, also). I am also told that on long weekends, the pediatric ward or wards are usually filled up because the doctors want an undisturbed weekend, if possible; so any child who might get worse, is admitted. The doctor then, hopefully, is free.

As far as hospitals are concerned, they are so completely controlled by the doctors, there is no need for a deterrent fee. The main problems are their own, and to foist them off onto us is unfair and unethical. They are problems that they themselves should face up to. If people are in hospital improperly, then the doctors can change that. Let's not blame us.

Fourthly, at $5. a day, it will not take long for that money owed the hospital to mount up, especially those on low income. One month's stay will be $150. extra. I do not know many people who can afford that.

The most preposterous aspect of this whole proposal is the fact that we are hurting ourselves if we go ahead with it. Our health is important. Everyone of us is going to need a doctor sooner or later. Every time a cost cut for Medicare in the hospitals comes through, in spite of what the Ministry of Health says, the patient care suffers. I visit in Belleville General Hospital weekly. The vast majority of the nurses are dedicated and do a good job, but they are so busy and understaffed because of budget cuts, that they do not have the time to take care of all the patients' problems the way they should. Next week, that may be me, or someone from my family in that hospital, not getting enough care, and we blithely agree when the Health Ministry says that they are cutting back on medical expenses. We are cutting our own throats. Surely our own and our family's health has a greater priority than a lot of other government programs.

Where are our senses? Where are our priorities? It is obvious that this deterrent scheme is simply another money-making gimmick of the government. It is terrible. If medicare costs go up to keep people healthy, then let's pay for it. There is an expensive new instrument for detecting breast cancer. Very, very few hospitals have it because of its expense. If that expense prevents my wife or mother or aunt or best friend from dying of cancer, is it not worth it? The government should cut down on expenditures somewhere else. If hospital administration budgets are cut, then let's make certain that only administration is cut, not patient care. A very high percentage of people are in hospital due to smoking related diseases and alcohol related diseases. If the government wants to cut medical costs, then ban smoking and alcohol advertisements, for openers. It looks like we are finally going to have to fasten our seat belts, by law. That should cut down on medical costs. But let's not cut down on our medical care. That is important. That could hurt me, my wife, my child, my relative, my best friend.

In conclusion, such proposed financial deterrents are not deterrents which will in any way effect the ones they should. How can our priorities be so screwed up that we make ourselves, and families suffer, so that our government can save money, probably to be put on much more non-essential projects? Let us not be duped any more!

The Rev. John A. Lombard.

YOUR STARS

ARIES (3/21-4/19): You can be very persuasive as week begins, so this is the best time for contacts with others. Then, matters around the house, including a surprising development, hold your attention. Love closes week.

TAURUS (4/20-5/20): A potential monetary problem needs your attention. Don't put it off, or the molehill could become a mountain. Later, read (and listen) between the lines to get the complete message. Heed this and week ends well.

GEMINI (5/21-6/20): You begin the week in the driver's seat, so turn your corners expertly. Then, a sudden expenditure may appear necessary. Make sure it really is before you make it. A call from a handsome stranger completes week.

MOONCHILD (6/21-7/22): This is a busy week. It's full of ups and downs like a roller coaster; but no problem, there are more ups than downs. Do take care of any unfinished business. Lastly, go ahead and buy that item you've wanted.

LEO (7/23-8/22): The spotlight is first on friends. Lots of activity here, and you may even have to help someone make up his mind. Handle with care. Later, love takes a giant leap forward. Have fun.

LIBRA (9/23-10/23): You may look industrious this week, but beneath the flurry there might not be much going on. Point: if you really have things to do, fine; if not, why look so harried. Latter days may bring word from far away.

VIRGO (8/23-9/22): Crossed wires could be confusing and may bring a jolt, so keep track of affairs. Don't get too busy or you'll pass yourself on the way. Then, good news from a friend perks you up. Week ends helpfully.

SCORPIO (10/24-11/22): Odds and ends to clear up. Scorp. You may not have as much zip as normal, but dig in anyway. Midweek is warm and wonderful — socialize. Then, a financial gain brings a smile. Finally, know who you are and what you're about and don't be sidetracked.

SAGITTARIUS (11/23-12/21): The phone lines may be hot. Sag, with several people vying for your time. Don't forget to do what YOU want to do, too. The sun enters your sign this week, giving you an extra glow of energy and light. Enjoy your birthday and this great aspect.

CAPRICORN (12/22-1/19): At least two matters to claim your time this week. Take breaks along the way to fill your rest quota or you'll be running on nervous energy alone. Later, a possible confrontation can be worked out harmoniously.

AQUARIUS (1/20-2/19): The three C's: cupid, children, and creativity, begin your week with great possibilities. Then, a call may be necessary to straighten out details before you can proceed with a project. Finally, someone may want to slide out from under a load and leave you holding it.

PISCES (2/20-3/20): Activity centers around home, romance, and work. Be sure you don't turn off a romantic partner with too much mother-type concern. The iceberg tip of a new problem may emerge. Keep your eye on it; as with the iceberg, there's much more below the surface.

TODAY'S CHILD

THE TORONTO SUN SYNDICATE

Joey is 12, tall and slim with dark eyes, light-brown hair and medium complexion. He is in excellent health but much below average mentally so he needs guidance and supervision. He is attending a special school and is in a group home operated by a young professional couple with a particular interest in below-average children. Joe is making great progress there.

Joe loves to be given responsibility. He is proud to be trusted with chores and conscientious about carrying them out. As an adult he should be employable in a sheltered, supervised setting.

Joey likes other children and gets on well with them. He enjoys family-type activities — camping, swimming and skating.

Gentle, sensitive Joey needs a quiet, loving family where he will feel secure and where the parents, while realizing his limitations, will help him develop as much as he is able.

To inquire about adopting Joe, please write to Today's Child, Ministry of Community and Social Services, Box 888, Station K, Toronto M4P 2H2. In your letter tell something of your present family and your way of life.

For general adoption information, contact your local Children's Aid Society.

Texas - the myths and the facts

By Robin Morris of the Prescott Journal.

"We'll give you the real facts on Texas — if you're willing to part with a few myths."

So reads the advertisements for Texas Monthly, a new publication that puts itself forward as focussing on "Texas as it is today, without the provincialism of local observers, or the preconceived ideas of national ones."

Air Canada's recently inaugurated direct flight from Toronto to Dallas-Fort Worth could well make the same claim for itself. At least that's the impression this writer had when he joined 15 other travel writers and editors for the inaugural flight and a week's stay in Texas.

The Lone Star State just isn't what it's cracked up to be. And that isn't necessarily a bad thing. Notions of deserts lapping at city gates and endless herds of longhorns being driven to the rail head, born and nurtured by years of horse operas, began to be dispelled before our Air Canada 727 had even touched down at the sprawling, 17,500 acre Dallas Fort Worth (DFW) Airport. Situated midway between the two modern cities, DFW gives the visitor an immediate impression of the vitality, wealth and sophistication of the state.

Dallas and Fort Worth are the heart and nerve centre of what is known as the "Southwest Metroplex" and any resemblance they may have had to the wild American west is now carefully guarded in small historic parks and museums buried in the concrete and glass canyons of the cities. They are to the gunslinging days of Wyatt Earp and the OK Corral what Toronto is to the War of 1812 — a myth, a legend.

Air Canada's flights are designed primarily to accommodate the businessman. The "Metroplex" is the banking and light industry centre of the state. Centrally situated, DFW is only a few minutes by car from the centre of either city.

Dallas is ready to greet and accommodate visitors with over 22,500 hotel and motel rooms, both on the outskirts of the city and in the downtown core.

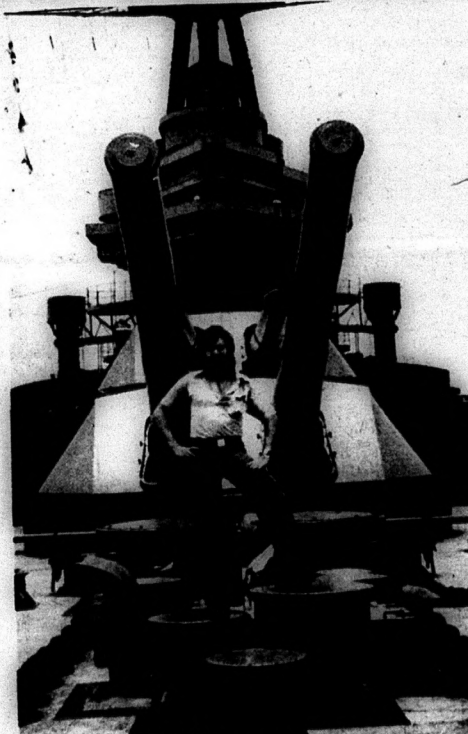

In the Bicentennial spirit, Texans have paused to see not only where they are going, but where they've been. With this in mind, Dallas has started an ambitious project to recreate a pioneer town, known as Old City Park, in the centre of the city.

Fort Worth is a modern, industrial city, clean and spacious, built primarily around the General Dynamics Aircraft Company and the Bell Helicopter Company. It is also a growing convention centre, as testified to by its 14-block downtown Tarrant County Convention Centre.

If the visitor wants to get out of the city and see some of the state he has been brought up to think is the "real" Texas, he can take a short drive out of Fort Worth to places such as Mansfield to the Saturday night rodeos in which modern-day cowboys pit their skills against the primitive strength of bucking broncos and brahma bulls.

Houston is the largest city in the state and its business, industrial, port and financial centre. It's a sprawling city, with a population only slightly larger than that of Toronto, it is spread over 507 square miles, compared with Toronto's 265. And very nearly everything smells of money.

The Astrodome is the focal point of Astrodome, a huge entertainment complex replete with four hotels and an amusement park. The stadium seats over 40,000 for baseball, over 50,000 for football and over 60,000 for special events such as boxing matches and musical shows. A 12-storey building could be erected over second base and still fit under the dome. It is kept at a constant 72 degrees fahrenheit, a relief from the summer temperatures which soar into the oper 90s in the subtropical city.

If Houston was once spelled o-i-l, it is certainly now spelled s-p-a-c-e. The American space program has its nerve centre in the Lyndon B. Johnson Space Centre a few miles outside the city. Our group visited the centre the day before the Apollo-Soyuz launch. The tour included a visit to the glassed-in mission control, as well as the regularly visited areas. The centre is open to the public, and conducted tours are available.

Galveston, one of the oldest cities in the state, came perilously close to becoming no city at all. In 1900, a hurricane whipped the Gulf of Mexico into a frenzy, and almost wiped out the entire Galveston Island. After the storm, a sea-wall was built, and the city was raised 14 feet.

In and on Galveston, the aim is on warm weather recreation and commercial fishing. For the visitor, the two go hand in hand as seafood reigns supreme in the city's restaurants. In particular, shrimp is the monarch and food is served in Texas-sized portions.

Energy crisis, deaths, problems

TORONTO — The Ontario government has announced plans to make the wearing of seatbelts mandatory and to reduce speed limits on all highways throughout the province.

In announcing the two measures, Premier William Davis told the Legislature that "two of the major problems facing all Canadians today are the energy crisis and the soaring number of deaths and injuries resulting from traffic accidents."

NEW SPEED LIMITS

The government intends to amend the Highway Traffic Act, reducing the 70 mile per hour limit on Ontario's 662 miles of freeways to 60 miles per hour for cars and commercial vehicles.

At the same time, said Mr. Davis, 60 mile per hour highways considered part of the King's Highway system will be reduced to 50 miles per hour. In addition, any King's Highway now designated 55 miles per hour will be reduced to 50 for all vehicle traffic.

Mr. Davis said the Ontario government will ask all municipalities to reduce speeds on sections of similar highway under their control.

It is expected to take at least two months to change speed limit signs across the province.

The government will also introduce an amendment to the Highway Traffic Act to require the mandatory use of seat belts in all motor vehicles equipped with them, said the premier.

The seat belt legislation is expected to become law on January 1, 1976.

Exemptions will be provided for such situations as children under the age of two, persons holding a physician's certificate stating the reason they are unable to wear a seat belt and persons required by nature of their work to enter and leave vehicles frequently.

The premier told the Legislature the government was taking the measures for the following reasons: to conserve gasoline and to save lives and medical costs.

The suffering, deaths and soaring hospital costs resulting from accidents were major persuaders in the provincial cabinet's decision to go ahead with the seat belt and lowered speed limit plan, he said.

The seat belt law will be the first of its kind in Canada. Premier Davis told the Legislature that "our consumption of motor fuels has reached a staggering 3.8 billion gallons annually, while over 1,200 people die in motor vehicle accidents every 12 months."

"And it annually costs an estimated $90 million in direct Ontario Hospital Insurance Plan charges alone for medical treatment of the injured."

Fact sheets published by the premier's office to accompany Mr. Davis' announcement said hospitals in Australia are reporting a 24 percent drop in bed occupancy since that country made the use of seat belts compulsory three years ago. Traffic fatalities dropped by 20 percent in the first year the law was in force.

INJURIES REDUCED

Other facts provided by the Premier in outlining the basis on which his cabinet reached its decision to make seat belt use compulsory included — The Automotive Crash Injury Research Program at Cornell University in the U.S. established that there were 50 percent fewer dangerous and fatal injuries to the belt wearer compared to the non-belt wearer.

— The Cornell Laboratories' most recent study indicates that the failure to use seat belts increases the risk of instant death or severe injury by at least 100 percent and of less severe injury by at least 40 percent.

— Publicity campaigns alone are not effective in convincing the public to buckle up. In the U.S. $50 million was spent with few appreciable results.

— Legislation does work. Surveys have shown, and the Australian, New Zealand and European experiences have borne out, that the majority of the public will comply with such legislation.

In Britain, which followed Australia's lead in seat belt legislation, 400 fewer road deaths were reported in 1974.

The background papers cited two "misconceptions" about seatbelts — that they can be dangerous in case of fire or drowning. The government's researchers said that in 1973 there was not one case in which someone wearing a seatbelt was killed by fire. There was one case in which a person wearing a seatbelt drowned but the victim was intoxicated at the time.

"After a serious crash, belted passengers are more likely to be conscious and in shape to escape," the researchers said in commenting on incidents involving fires and the danger of drowning.

The legislation calling for mandatory use of seat belts must be passed by the Legislature before becoming law. When passed, all motorists and passengers in 1968 or newer cars equipped with belts will risk fines of $20 to $100 for failure to wear the safety equipment. A driver can be held responsible for the failure of his passengers to comply with the law.

Recent government surveys have shown about 16.4 percent of Ontario residents now use seat belts.

Premier Davis said the seat belt decision was "a matter of conscience" and it would be "less than responsible to do nothing" about the toll of deaths or injuries caused by traffic accidents.

The government hopes to save 300 lives and $100 million in hospital and medical costs a year through compulsory buckling up.

Investigating evidence organized crime in Ont.

Solicitor-General John MacBeth said Ontario is investigating recorded evidence, arising from the Quebec Crime Commission, that reputed organized crime leaders there have "operations" in Ontario.

Responding to a question in the Legislature from Liberal Albert Roy, MacBeth said his ministry is aware of the evidence indicating a link between Ontario and Quebec crime operations and "we are following up on the matter."

Outside the Legislature, MacBeth told reporters that "all organized crime has links and connections in various places. I guess that's the nature of organized crime."

Asked if that meant crime syndicates operated in Ontario, he said, "Sure, there are connections here."

MacBeth said OPP officials are monitoring the Quebec crime prob "as part of ongoing law enforcement. You lay charges if you have sufficient information and this kind of evidence helps build up a case. We're always looking for evidence to build up a case and somewhere along the line you might get enough evidence to lay charges."

Davis, retarded, winners

Bill Davis is a prime target for charity fund raisers who want the publicity of having the Premier buy the first ticket in a draw or lottery. It finally paid off. Davis won $1,000 in a draw sponsored by the Ontario Association for the Mentally Retarded. He presented the $1,000 cheque to the Brampton-Caledon Association for the Mentally Retarded, the Premier's hometown branch.

GOVERNMENT MISHMASH

End this collective blackmail

By KENNETH McDONALD

It's impossible not to sympathize with Ottawa. The Government, trying to please everybody, succeeds only in offending us all. Its mishmash of welfare and make-work schemes encourages free-loaders while failing to provide enough help to those — the aged, the infirm, the dependents — who need it most.

Unemployment insurance, which puts an ever-increasing burden on employer and employee alike, will pay out $4 billion this year in benefits. Of the beneficiaries, 37 per cent are under 25. Only 28.5 per cent are heads of family units, while 17 per cent are part-time workers.

The talent for doing the right things for the wrong people reached its peak when Ottawa allowed civil servants to strike. The essential services whose shutdown hurts the public most, hurts Ottawa least. The mail strike which ruins small business imposes no hardship on Ottawa. When Canadian airports are struck, civil servants merely stay in Ottawa — a not unwelcome development to businesses they would otherwise be harassing.

The small business community suffers from public service strikes in two ways: by loss of business through interruptions in essential services, especially the mail; by the pressure on wages in the private sector from excessive public sector settlements.

The wage part of Ottawa's wage and price controls is aimed not at industrial trade unions, where settlements are already declining in step with the declining economy, but at the unchecked monopoly power of public service unions. That's why the postal union heads tried so desperately to keep their strike going. It wasn't the posties they were thinking of, but defeat of the Government's anti-inflation program.

The Canadian Federation of Independent Business has recommended that public service strikes at the federal level be ruled out in all areas which prejudice public health and safety, or which result in serious economic damage. The collective blackmail of the public service strike must be replaced by a form of compulsory arbitration or by final offer selection, where each party presents a proposal to an impartial arbitrator knowing that one of the proposals will be selected and will become binding on both parties. This prevents either side from proposing an unreasonable solution — which the arbitrator would be obliged to reject.

Now let's hear it for the tax collectors, the inspectors, the regulators, the designers of forms and returns, the statistics gatherers. They have the right to strike too. Why don't they use it? They'd never be missed.

Mullan urges Turner to leadership

John Turner the next premier of Ontario? "Who knows?", says Don Mullan, president of the Hastings-Peterborough Provincial Liberal Association. "But I'd sure like to see it."

Mullan has sent a telegram to Mr. Turner, minister of finance in the federal Trudeau government until his resignation last September, urging him to seek the Ontario Liberal Party leadership.

"Ontario needs a man of your calibre in the premiership," he said. "With you as leader, we will win the next election and put Ontario back on the tracks. Don't let us down. Will help you in any way possible — now and after."

Mullan says he has the backing of several of his executive members in the move.

"I haven't been able to talk to all of them," he said, "but those I have been in touch with also feel Mr. Turner is the man we would like to see run for the leadership of our party, and go on to become the next premier of this province."

"I don't know whether Mr. Turner will contest the forthcoming leadership contest or not; if he does, we'll have a darn good man. If he doesn't, it will probably be because he feels the federal leadership will be open shortly, and we'll have to look elsewhere in the ranks for a good man in Ontario."

Liberals throughout the province, in ever increasing numbers, are stepping up the pressure on Mr. Turner to contest the leadership race slated for Toronto in late January of 1976.

While Mr. Turner said previously he wouldn't be seeking the Ontario leadership, latest word out of Ottawa is that he is not saying 'yes', but he is no longer saying 'no'.

It cost only $1.00 to visit the doctor away back in 1855

TORONTO - In the Ontario Medical Association building's glass display cases, which contain historical bric-a-brac, there's one faded momento that lists doctors' fees in Toronto back in 1855.

The cost for a visit to your crusty old pioneer family doctor then? One dollar.

Today the tab, under OHIP, is $7. Upstairs in the same building sits Dr. Ed Moran, a family doctor himself for 17 years in Toronto. He thinks today's cost for a visit to him is still "a hell of a bargain."

Too good, in fact. Which is why Dr. Moran, now the associations' director of medical services, is only one of many doctors in Ontario who want to see it changed. The solution? Jack up those fees by 35 per cent, which will result in doctors earning 48 per cent more than they do now.

And since most of them are already making more than $40,000-a-year now, the only thing you are tempted to do is grasp in pain. And wonder, as you hear Dr. Moran discussing the "cure" for doctors' economic ills, if your hearing is going bad on you.

"We decided to forego a raise two years ago. Who have held off, and now inflation has caught up with us, too."

What is surprising him, he says, is that there has been so little response by the public to the doctors' request. He admits there were a few "knee-jerk reactions", but certainly not the uproar that has characterized the high school teachers' and postal workers' strikes.

Why?

"The provincial government knows we're justified. They know we can defend it. Even the media," and here he looks across his desk, "know we have a case."

Dr. Moran, who earned between $8,000 and $9,000 in his first year of practice, says his "union" is only trying to maintain the lifestyle "they think they have to have. It's not a matter of choice. There's the sheer cost of operations."

"And listen, doctors really do work goddamned hard. There're no two ways about it."

The doctor says that while doctors try as hard as possible to maintain professional standards, they also have to keep the shop going - "we're small business men," which is why some patients think they're in a supermarket line-up some days when they go to see their friendly neighborhood "Dr. Welby" down the street.

To keep the cash coming in, you sometimes have to take more patients, and there is a danger that professionalism may be the victim. And if the government says it can't afford more money for health care (and thus more money for doctors) then Dr. Moran believes it may be time to let more private money in on the action.

"If you freeze fees," he says, you could end up with a situation where the excellent health care in Ontario now provided will deteriorate. And if things drift the way they seem to be, in the eyes of doctors, the public may end up "rueing the day."

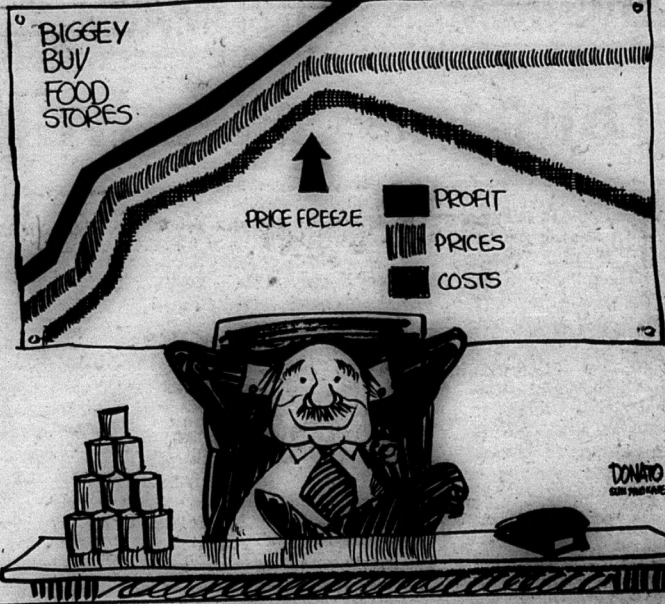

All things considered, Dr. Moran says, "$10.50 an hour is the base we're working from now. And when you recognize the teachers turned down $12.50 an hour, you have to ask yourself..." and here his voice trails off.

And as for Canada's new bogeyman, the Anti-inflation Board which will not look too fondly on doctor's orders for a fee change, Moran thinks that it might just be a new horse that hasn't made it to the gate yet.

"We have some concern that the legislation for the board, and the government, might not survive."

But the "visit" to this doctor was finishing then, and one noticed a toy on Dr. Moran's desk that said: "They can't fire us - A slave has got to be sold."

Well, if the doctor says so...

No full time fire fighter for total village fire fighting costs

"You can't get a full time fireman for that amount" Marmora Village Councillor Bert Gray remarked as the Village and Marmora and Lake Townships Councils approved for payment a bill of $3628 each for volunteer firefighting services.

Fire Chief Cec Neal reported that the men had held their bi-annual election of officers recently and the same ones had been returned to office: Cec Neal, Chief;

Les McKeown, Deputy-chief; Howard Sabine, Instructor; Garnet Brownson, 1st captain; Ted Fox, 2nd captain; Pete Empey, secretary and Stan Kerr, treasurer.

Chief Neal advised the council that it had been decided that the four people with fire phones in their homes would be responsible for a weekend a month. This would release the others to go away if they wished to.

See 100,000 enrolment drop in Ontario

TORONTO - Ontario's secondary school enrolment will decrease by more than 100,000 in the next 10 years, Education Minister Thomas Wells said last week.

Mr. Wells said that a Ministry enrolment projection indicates that secondary school enrolment reached its peak last year and is expected to fall from 589,650 to a low of 479,526 in 1984. He said that school board officials across the province have been warned to prepare themselves to deal with the many problems associated with declining enrolments.

The projections indicate that elementary school enrolment, which began to drop a few years ago, will continue to decrease by another 100,000 between now and 1980.

The projection forecasts that elementary school enrolment will drop from the 1,404,839 of last year to 1,303,884 in 1980. However, the study foresees an increase of 55,719 elementary students between 1980 and 1984.

Enrolment in Ontario's elementary and secondary schools has been dropping steadily since the 1971-72 school year when it reached an all-time peak of 2,031,360.

There's danger in ice-related sports

This is the season when folks across Canada are enjoying ice related sports. The excitement of that speedy, new snowmobile or the satisfaction from a perfectly executed figure eight can serve to warm us against the most chilling winds.

The cold we experience on the ice is minimal compared to that beneath, if we are careless enough to break through. A plunge into icy water is not merely shocking. It can be fatal.

Do you know what to do if you or a fellow skater should fall through?

The Canadian Red Cross Water Safety Service offers this advice:

-Don't panic. Instead of grabbing the ice, extend your hands and arms onto the ice surface before you.

-Kick your legs out behind you to an extended, nearly level position.

-While kicking, slide or roll slowly forward onto the ice ahead.

-DO NOT STAND! Your concentrated weight can cause the ice to break.

If someone else falls in:

-Shout to the person to let him know help is on the way.

-Extend rescue equipment like a rope, ladder, ring buoy or pole to the victim. (Some places are equipped with such devices.)

-If no equipment is available, tree branches, a hockey stick, planks, boards or shirts and sweaters securely tied together can also be used.

-A human chain can be made by lying flat on the ice, each person holding the ankles of the one ahead of him. Or each person can lie spread-eagled, side-by-side, holding hands with the person next to him. After the victim has been reached, the entire chain can inch its way back to shore.

If you must leave shore to reach the victim:

-Tie a rope around your waist and have someone on shore hold it or anchor it to a rock.

Both you and the victim should then roll or slide to safety.

It's important to remember that an ice accident victim should be taken to a shelter immediately. There his freezing clothes can be exchanged for warm, dry clothing or blankets. This will help ensure his body temperature does not drop to a fatal level.

If you like sports and want to continue enjoying them, the Red Cross reminds you that the chances of rescue are better if you know exactly what to do.

In general, if you're not sure the ice is safe, keep off.

No restraint in bilingualism?

By Peter Ward

OTTAWA — (SF) — The federal government is telling us all to restrain ourselves in the interest of beating inflation and improving Canadian productivity. In at least one area of federal jurisdiction, however, we are unlikely to see any restraint — the implementation of bilingualism in all things touching the federal government.

Take for example the Department of National Defence. For years Francophone Canadians have been outsiders in all but a few units of the armed forces. Exceptions were outfits like the Royal 22nd Regiment.

Representation of Francophone Canadians in the armed forces has climbed close to the target ratio of 28 per cent, and many Francophones occupy senior positions because they, unlike many English speaking Canadians, are bilingual.

But the cost of creating a truly bi-lingual armed forces is nothing short of staggering. Imagine the number of engineering drawings and specifications involved in describing the Defence Department equipment. When they built the Avro Arrow back in the 1950s, specifications for the plane weighed more than the actual aircraft itself.

Defence has now embarked on the translation of every weapon specification handbook and engineering description. It's highly technical stuff, and no ordinary translator could handle the job. One Defence official told me that the government was left with the choice of teaching engineers to be bi-lingual, or giving bi-lingual translators courses in engineering.

A rough estimate claims it will cost close to half a billion dollars for the translation job of defence engineering documents and specifications — almost the amount it would cost to buy new long range patrol aircraft.

Admittedly Defence has more such documents to translate than any other department, but even so, it means we'll be paying something in excess of a billion dollars merely for making the government's equipment specifications bi-lingual.

It makes you wonder whether or not we can afford it, however justified the aim may be in theory.

Ontario Gov't followup will be more difficult

By Paul Hellyer
(former MP)

OTTAWA - Maxwell Henderson, former auditor general of Canada, can be expected to stir up a small or large storm in almost anything he tackles. He has the rare ability to be able to cut through the fog and put his finger on very sensitive issues.

His most recent foray into the never-never land where angels fear to tread is the operational effectiveness of the Ontario Government. The mandate given to the special program review was to "inquire into ways and means of restraining cost of government through examining issues such as continued usefulness of programs, alternative lower cost means of accomplishing objectives and the problems of increased public demand for services in an inflationary period." That's as near carte blanche as anyone can get.

In a relatively short space of time Henderson and the committee were able to come up with 184 recommendations which, if implemented, could save the Ontario taxpayers $3.6 billion over the next two years.

Henderson's telescopic overview is one that he has long recommended and occasionally practised federally. In doing so, he upset the feds who took the point of view that the function of the auditor general was to ensure that money was spent legally - not effectively. Henderson insisted the mandate should be wider. He thought the auditor general should look at the effectiveness of government programs, i.e. is the public benefit sufficient to justify the cost?

In a parliamentary democracy, it might be assumed that the Members of Parliament would undertake this job. Theoretically Parliament controls the purse strings and won't provide the funds unless government programs make sense. In practice, however, it doesn't work that way certainly not now, if it ever did.

Members of Parliament don't have the time nor the means to evaluate programs in a way that would stand up to cross-examination. Instinct might tell them - and indeed it often does - that a program is wasteful. But it is one thing to say another thing to prove it to the satisfaction of the press and the public. So unless someone else does it, the job doesn't get done.

There are many areas that deserve a close look, the Company of Young Canadians, for example. Early disenchantment with the program was so great that Mike Pearson considered winding it up. The theory was great but the practice left much to be desired. Does the CYC now turn out enough good work to justify the tax dollars collected for it?

And what about the Local Initiative Program? (LIP). Some of its projects have been great. Others were a total write-off. Is the program as a whole worthwhile or are there better ways of keeping the good and eliminating the bad?

Doubts have been raised, too, about the unemployment insurance fund. It was designed to provide money for people who want to work and can't find work. It was not designed to encourage people to make dresses in the basement for cash, or to work a couple of nights a week as a bartender while refusing to accept full-time employment. Has the system become an incentive not to work rather than a financial net for people who can't find work?

The housing mess is another area in need of a broad axe. Government housing has become so expensive, if all the hidden costs are included, that a fair accounting would bring outrage in the populace and perhaps even from the press which to date has been well hoodwinked.

These are just a few of the programs that should be looked at with a microscope. If new programs are born constantly, the law of survival suggests that some must also die.

But it can only happen with a government that wants to find the truth and has the guts to apply the axe when necessary.

The Ontario Government made a good start in commissioning the study. The follow-on will be more difficult. Ottawa could follow suit and put the really big money on the table.

Where are the good old days?

NDP'ers hold out hands for alms

By Don Fredericks

TORONTO - Remember the good old days when politicians used to say they were in politics to serve the public?

Now, alas, it appears as if some of our NDP friends have abandoned that approach and are publicly holding out their hands for alms.

Bill Davis told them no, no, a thousand times no, and of course they accuse him of cheap politics.

Actually, there's nothing cheap about it at all. An MPP already gets a basic salary of $15,000 plus a $7,500 tax-free allowance, plus another $3,000 tax-free for those from out of town and either mileage or 52 return air trips a year.

There are some people who could get by on that.

It seems, however, two New Democrats on the committee studying the Camp commission report are having difficulty living in the style to which they've become accustomed.

Both Sudbury's Elie Martel and Ottawa's Michael Cassidy think the MPPs are underpaid. Oh the irony of it all. Was there ever a more sanctimonious party than the NDP? Yet here they are, less than two months after running in an election with full knowledge of what the salary was, clamoring for more money.

Martel and Cassidy argue that although they received a healthy pay increase two years ago, MPPs pay since 1969 has risen by 25 per cent while the consumer price index rose by 52 per cent and wages generally by nearly 75 per cent. Freezing their pay another two years will mean prices will have increased 72 per cent and other wages will have doubled they say.

The fact their pay was, and is, well above what the vast majority of people earn seems to have escaped their calculations.

In any event, Martel says for Davis "to stand up in the Legislature and announce there will be no pay increase when a committee of this Legislature is studying that very question...is the cheapest, crassest form of politics...Davis is being an ass on this issue."

It's perhaps a small point, but Davis didn't make an announcement at all. He rose to give his personal opinion when he was asked during question period how he felt about it.

In addition, Davis said a million times during the election campaign he would not favor an increase in pay for two years, but perhaps Martel and Cassidy weren't paying attention then either.

"It would be irresponsible to consider a salary increase for the members of this Legislature at this time and I make that abundantly clear," Davis said.

He then added that he'd be "quite delighted to walk down the hall and visit Her Honor (Lieutenant-Governor Pauline McGibbon) on that particular issue..."

Davis was obviously chuckling at the time, but that didn't stop most of the media from reporting the story that Davis challenged the NDP to an election over the pay issue, despite knowing no political party would ever bring down a government in a million years on an issue like that.

In any event, it was Dalton Camp and his commission who started the whole thing by suggesting MPPs are underpaid--(as compared to whom?)--but they copped out when it came to setting a new figure.

They did, however, come up with a nifty wrinkle which NDP Leader Stephen Lewis subscribes to, which would allow MPPs to enjoy regular salary increases without the public knowing about it.

Lewis says it's always "very embarrassing" to have to vote yourself a raise, and although he doesn't think an increase is appropriate now, he agrees with Camp that there should be a mechanism set up to allow for automatic increases and avoid this kind of periodic public debate.

It strikes me that one on the few checks and balances against political skulduggery has always been public exposure, and Lewis knows full well that automatic increases would remove the factor of public scrutiny. Very neat. If he, or any other MPP is embarrassed about discussing salary, it could be because he's not sure he's worth that much anyway, let alone more.

Many MPPs earn more than their political incomes as well, by virtue of the fact they have law firms or another business, and many others especially Tories, get extra money for committee work or other appointments.

Martel says Davis' strong stand has undermined the work of the committee and he's thinking of resigning. Balderdash. He won't resign from that committee because there's an even greater plum about to be discussed.

Dalton Camp, never a man to be restrained by public cost, and his commissioners recommended constituency offices for each of the 125 MPPs. Not only would that cut down the MPPs' workload (poor devils) that they are) but it would assure many of them re-election at public expense.

It would also cost the public many millions every year, as opposed to the mere thousands involved in pay increases. In theory, constituency officers have nothing to do with politics, which is why the government would pay for them. They are, the theory goes, simply a method of bringing government closer to the people.

Some Ontario hospitals are unsafe

Some Ontario hospitals are unsafe, Health Minister Frank Miller said in the legislature.

Bob Bain (NDP - Timiskaming) asked the minister whether there are hospitals that do not meet safety requirements such as fire regulations.

Miller said outside the Legislature that he does not know how many hospitals could be classified as unsafe.

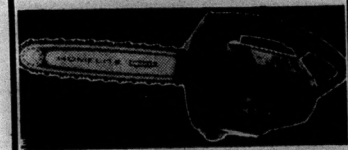

He recently indicated to the Legislature that his ministry has a list of 24 hospitals that could be closed without any loss of service in order to cut medical costs in Ontario.

He said a recent inspection by fire officials at the Huntsville hospital indicated the building is unsafe.

Miller said the facility, which is in his riding, will not be closed but will undergo extensive renovations because it is the only major medical facility in the area.

One foot in the furrow' by Bob Trotter

Letters are appreciated by Bob Trotter, Eldale Rd., Elmira, Ont. N3B 2C7

North American farmers are in much the same position of power as the OPEC oil producers: they command a large share of an essential and limited resource.

I have said this before in this corner but not quite as succinctly. Although the thoughts behind those words are in complete harmony with mine, they were said originally by a man far more famous and more knowledgeable than I am.

He is John H. Graflund, president of John Deere Ltd., a wholly-owned subsidiary of Deere and Company of Illinois.

John Deere Ltd. had sales of $2.5 billion last year, $1.9 billion in farm equipment and that makes John Deere the world's largest supplier of farm equipment. The Canadian subsidiary grosses more than $200 million a year. The company sells in more than 100 countries.

Mr. Graflund, then, has a voice that should be heard.

He maintains that attempts to solve the problem of enough food is causing headaches now and into 1977. But what about 1990 and the year 2000? If feeding the hungry is causing problems today, think of the headaches 25 years from now.

By that time, 3 billion more people will have to be fed in this ever-diminishing globe. The extra production of grain alone will have to be two and a half times more than what is being produced right now. It will take an extra 225 million tons of grain, according to Mr. Graflund.

"If we put it all in box cars it would stretch from St. Johns to Vancouver 10 trains abreast or fill one train 50,000 miles long.

"The only conclusion I can reach from all this is that the best years for the farmer are certainly still in the future."

Mr. Graflund's remarks are quoted from the October issue of Executive Magazine, a Southam business publication, and he says he would like to preach on the world food situation once a month.

Why preach?

Because preaching is necessary because of what happened in oil. Most Americans in the administration branch of the government over there are strangely silent about a report prepared about 25 years ago that actually pinpointed that the mid-1970s was a time when Americans were going to have an oil crunch.

"That report warned: You'd better do something about it!"

The report, maintains Mr. Graflund, was prepared, submitted, and filed — and gathered dust.

"I'm afraid the same thing is going to happen on food. We talk about what this problem is going to be in 25 years.

"Indeed, we have the problem today: there are people starving, there's malnutrition all over the world. Yet the oil crisis was prophesied and ignored. That's why I think that this world food problem needs to be preached on and preached on."

Thank you, Mr. Graflund and Executive Magazine.

May I join your congregation? This corner has been preaching about the problem for a dozen years. In fact, I get reprimanded by many for dwelling on it ad infinitum, ad nauseum.

I do not think it can be over-emphasized. Research by all sectors of the economy is needed. Tremendous incentives to keep people on the land and keep arable land in production are vitally needed today if the world food problem is going to be solved.

The time of talking and bickering is past.

All levels of government must work together to preserve the farm land in this country. All levels of government, all organizations even remotely connected with farming, must be urged to support government measures to encourage farmers and farming. If government subsidies to keep people on the land are necessary, then let us give those subsidies uncomplainingly.

If we don't give every farmer in this nation a reasonable return on his labor and investment, we will be terribly sorry in years to come.

The growls of an empty belly incite a man to desperation. And a desperate man is a dangerous man.

If we want to survive in these affluent countries, we will be forced to fill a lot of empty bellies.

A purchase and sales report released this month by the Ontario Wheat Producers' Marketing Board indicates 19,300,000 bushels of 1975 crop Ontario winter wheat have been sold to the board by producers up to the end of November.

Completed board sales for both domestic and export markets to date total approximately 11,000,000 bushels for the same period, with exports accounting for about 5,100,000 bushels including 1,800,000 bushels of 1974 crop carryover. Board chairman Fergus Young, R. R. 1, Ennismore, said additional export sales of about 5,300,000 bushels have been made but not yet delivered.

He said the board's present unsold stocks total 4,400,000 bushels.

It has been estimated that the winter wheat crop for 1975 totalled 22,700,000 bushels, the highest volume produced since 1958 when 23,800,000 bushels were produced.

The marketing board also advised that there will be an interim payment to producers prior to the new year, and that the board would probably be in a position sometime after January to estimate when an interim payment may be made to the board.

Mr. Young said that the interim payment on the 1974 crop was made to producers in April of 1975.

Producers are paid an initial payment when they sell their wheat, and subsequent interim and final payments are made out of monies pooled from board sales.

The initial price for December is $2.10 per bushel. The initial prices for future months are - January $2.13; February, March and April $2.16; May $2.08; June $2.01. There is a 1c per bushel board licence fee deducted from the initial price paid to producers.

Present unsold stocks total 4,400,000 bushels

Celebrity Parade

BY CATHY POST FIELD

What does Connie Stevens feel about Eddie Fisher's recent quote that of the three beautiful women he had married (Debbie Reynolds, Elizabeth Taylor and Connie), he would rather have her back? Does that mean she'd take him? B. Durfee, Caliente, Nev.

She doesn't believe Eddie should have made comparisons, as Connie is a lady of taste. But as for a reconciliation, the star says: "No chance. He's sweet and he's the father of my two little girls and we shall always share the responsibility for their happiness, but re-marriage is out!" Eddie could well have said it not only because he means it but he's grateful to Connie who has had to assume support for the children but doesn't complain.

Is that romance between Goldie Hawn and Franco Nero really hot? G. Bell, Jackson, S.C.

It couldn't be too serious because he is also dating Carole Mallory, a New York actress currently in Hollywood trying to launch a screen career. An interesting sidelight is that Vanessa Redgrave, who has a daughter out of wedlock by Nero, is also now in Hollywood living with her ex-husband, British director.

She doesn't believe Eddie should have made comparisons

Tony Richardson, and she remains friendly with Nero. I was so happy to see David Hemmings, the British star, has returned to Hollywood. Is it permanent and is he married? Mary Pat Curtis, New York, N.Y.

David is in Hollywood to star with George C. Scott in the film version of Ernest Hemingway's "Islands in the Stream," and will head back to England as soon as it's finished. As for his marital status, he is, at the moment, "at liberty."

Why is it that most of the top TV shows today star women when it is just the opposite in movies? T. Winant, Abilene, Tex.

Actually, when you consider a seven-night schedule there aren't as many as you think. However, Carol Burnett offers this opinion: "Take a look at today's feature films. They're just about all blood and guts. Or, the parts for women call for nudity, and that's something many actresses won't do."

HAVE A QUESTION about a favorite personality? Write "Celebrity Parade," c/o this newspaper and watch for the answer.

A voting booth is the one place where you don't have to exercise the influence of the other fellow's convictions.

Of course you don't have to vote — that's one privilege of a society in which the vote determines its freedom.

AND IN THE MATTER OF A PROPOSED BY-LAW OF THE CORPORATION OF THE VILLAGE OF NORWOOD TO STOP UP AND CLOSE PART OF ELM STREET IN THE SAID VILLAGE

NOTICE IS HEREBY given, pursuant to Section 446 of The Municipal Act, that the Corporation of the Village of Norwood proposes to consider and, if deemed advisable, to pass at its regular meeting to be held at the Village Hall in Norwood on Monday, the fifth day of January 1976 at 7:30 o'clock in the evening, a By-law to stop up and close that part of Elm Street in the Village of Norwood more particularly described as follows:

ALL AND SINGULAR that certain parcel or tract of land and premises situate, lying and being in the Village of Norwood, in the County of Peterborough and the Province of Ontario, and being composed of a part of Elm Street opposite Block J as shown on Registered Plan Number 6 for the said Village; and which said parcel is more particularly described as follows:

BEARINGS herein are astronomic and are referred to the meridian through the north western angle of Lot Number 18 east of King Street and north of Elm Street; COMMENCING at a survey monument in the southern limit of said Block J distant 126.25 feet measured on a course south 72 degrees 03 minutes east from the south western angle thereof;

THENCE south 72 degrees 03 minutes east, along the said southern limit a distance of 773.75 feet to a survey monument;

THENCE south 18 degrees 05 minutes west, 66.0 feet to a survey monument in the southern limit of said Elm Street;

THENCE north 72 degrees 03 minutes west, along the said limit, a distance of 735.94 feet to a survey monument;

THENCE north 11 degrees 57 minutes west, 76.14 feet, more or less to the point of commencement.

AND TAKE further notice that before passing the said by-law at its meeting to be held at the time and place above mentioned, the Council of the Village of Norwood will then and there hear in person or by his counsel, solicitor or agent, any person who claims that his land will be prejudicially affected by the said by-law and who applies to be heard.

DATED AT THE Village of Norwood, in the County of Peterborough this 25th day of November 1975.

Ross Althouse, Clerk,
Village of Norwood. 48-4

Roy will come close, but....

TORONTO - Albert Roy has become the latest Liberal to join the contest for his party's Ontario leadership, a fact which will not cause Bill Davis to lose sleep.

Roy, 36, an Ottawa lawyer with four unspectacular years as an MPP under his neatly tailored belt, becomes the fifth declared candidate for the job which Bob Nixon will leave in January.

He is, by default, to be considered a major contender or, to put it another way, is a little less unlikely than most of the other unlikely candidates for the job.

In his announcement, Roy said he has debated "some of the current and most vital issues of the day."

That is certainly true. Why just recently he asked why it's so difficult for Canadian quarterbacks to break into the Canadian Football League and why a St. Thomas crown attorney, who doubles as a minor hockey coach, felt he may have a conflict of interest if he ever had to prosecute a hockey violence case.

That illustrates why Roy is not considered a legislative heavy.

He dresses well, has his hair styled nicely, looks, well, cute, but really he doesn't have the stuff a leader is made of. Or if he has he hasn't displayed it around here since 1971 when he was first elected.

He has an additional problem -he's a Franco Ontarian.

Now I know it's not a nice thing to say, but there are Ontario voters who are not ready for a Franco Ontarian to lead us out of the wilderness.

There are many people who would be slightly uneasy about a French-Canadian Liberal prime minister in Ottawa and a French-Canadian Liberal premier in Ontario and whether Roy likes it or not, that friends, is the way of the world.

"I don't intend to shy away from the fact I'm French," Roy says, "but I'm not running to represent Francophones. Have you asked the other candidates whether they're Jewish or Catholic or whatever. I don't think that makes any difference."

Wouldn't it be nice if that were true? Wouldn't it be great if Roy even believed that himself.

But it's not true, and he knows it.

"If you're suggesting some people may be bigoted, I suppose there is a small minority," Roy says. "But I'm convinced the majority of you people here aren't either...sure it's true a Francophone has never led this provincial party. neither has a Roman Catholic. I don't think it will be a factor."

Nevertheless Roy should be able to muster an impressive number of votes. Likely not enough to win the job, but enough to finish near the top.

He may for example be able to convince John Turner to support his candidacy openly. A friend and former riding president in Turner's organization Roy tried to talk Turner himself into taking the job after he quit as federal finance minister, but failed. However Turner's open support would certainly win him many delegates especially the federal ones.

Mitigating that however will be Roy's comments that the federal Liberals have too much influence in the provincial party. He says he wants a separate Ontario Liberal party not just one which is a poor cousin of the federal party.

Face a 35% hike

Workmen's Compensation Board premiums paid by Ontario employers will be hiked by 35 per cent next year, Michael Starr, the board's chairman, said.

The rising costs of benefits made the move necessary, Starr told the Legislature's Standing Committee on Estimates. He also warned of the prospect of further increases in future.

Starr said the board wants to boost its reserves, which have been hit by inflation and benefit increases.

He said later the increases would vary according to employers' categories. Some would face no increase while others would have to fork out 100 per cent more in premiums.

Firms now pay an average premium of $1.50 per $100. in wages.

Most people who make small cars really want to sell you something else.

Have you noticed how many small cars are coming out today that bear no resemblance to anything small?

There's a good reason for this. Big cars make big profits. And simple, practical, unencumbered small cars make small profits.

At Fiat, we learned how to make a living out of small cars a long time ago. And we've spent the last 40 years making sense out of them.

The Fiat 128 below is about 4 feet shorter than the Skylark, the Fury, or the Monarch. But, it gives you just about the same kind of legroom.

Instead of making the 128 low and sleek like the others, we've given it more headroom than a Rolls-Royce.

Instead of loading it down with all sorts of gadgetry, we've given it things that actually make it perform better.

Rack-and-pinion steering, front-wheel drive, and an all-independent suspension are standard equipment.

None of which are even available on the Skylark, Fury, or Monarch.

Last, the Fiat 128 costs hundreds of dollars less than they do.

You see, when the Big Three said these were small cars, they never said they had small prices.

OPP issue warning about charities donations

Up to the individual, but not much money goes further than the fund raisers' pockets

TORONTO - Prior to the Christmas season each year, hundreds of thousands of dollars are solicited by telephone and collected by professional fund-raising people. All of these telephone solicitors indicate, or lead people to believe, that these donations will be used for the benefit of underprivileged children or other worthy causes.

The Ontario Provincial Police Anti-Rackets branch has been receiving enquiries in regard to province-wide telephone solicitations for funds, or requests for donations to various charities. With the Christmas season approaching, the main solicitation now is for Christmas parties for the needy or handicapped children. Solicitors are requesting funds from the public for advertising in Christmas party programs or for the purchase of tickets that are to be given to the underprivileged or handicapped children.

Participation in these schemes must be by individual choice, however, the OPP remind you that a very small portion of the gross collections ever go any further than the fund raiser's pocket.

Flashback on Canada

Newfoundland might have joined Canada long before 1949 had it not been for a variety of circumstances.

Chief Justice William Smith who helped to frame the Canada Act in 1791, was in favor of confederation of all the British North American colonies. He was supported by the Duke of Kent who had been commander-in-chief of the garrisons at Quebec and Halifax, but no definite moves were made.

Lord Durham whose report led to the Act of Union in 1841, was also an advocate of confederation. An ideal opportunity was neglected.

Newfoundland sent delegates to Quebec in 1864 when the actual planning of confederation began, but most Newfoundlanders opposed union at that time. One of their reasons was the completion of the trans-Atlantic cable in 1866. Perhaps more than ever before Newfoundlanders looked east to Britain rather than west to Canada.

There was another opportunity in 1894 when two commercial banks in Newfoundland declared bankruptcy on December 10. There was financial panic that led to suggestions that efforts be made to join Canada. This time the Canadian Government was not receptive although Canadian chartered banks established branches in Newfoundland for the first time.

Newfoundland currency became closely tied to the Canadian dollar but confederation was resisted until the end of World War II. Even then Joseph Smallwood and his colleagues had to work hard for several years to bring about the union that probably should have happened in 1791.

Other Events on December 10

1755 - Two ships carrying deported Acadians sank with loss of 1,200 lives.

1813 - U.S. troops burned Newark, now Niagara-on-the-Lake.

1870 - Donald A. Smith was appointed as a special commissioner to deal with Louis Riel at Red River.

1880 - House of Commons began considering new plan to build CPR trans-continental.

1885 - First issue of Ottawa Evening Journal with John W. Daffoe, editor.

1929 - First airmail was flown to Arctic posts.

1939 - First Canadian Division sailed from Halifax.

1949 - Supreme Court of Canada became final authority for judicial matters.

1954 - Canso Causeway was completed.

1957 - Royal Commission was appointed to study price spreads in farming and fishing.

Large crowd greets Christmas parade

A large crowd lined the streets of Madoc Saturday afternoon for the Christmas Parade, despite the weatherman's warning of freezing rain, which did hold off until it was over.

The parade started at the fire station on

Seymour Street, just before two o'clock, and proceeded north on Durham Street, through the main streets, which was lined with anxiously-awaiting adults and children alike.

The floats of Sacred Heart of Mary

Catholic Church, the Marmora Volunteer Fire Department and the Madoc Y.E.S. Group took the prizes as the best three floats in the parade.

Not to be disappointed, the crowd was delighted with the twenty entries including many horses, the Highland Band from Belleville, the "Stirling High-Steppers" majorettes, Bob Danford's horses from Stirling, the Sea Cadets from Belleville, a covered wagon from Frankford, as well as the local Cubs, Scouts, Brownies and Guides. Floats, besides the winning ones mentioned above, included the Wesleyan and Free Methodist Churches, the Public School, the ORSA Pee Wee Champion team, the Outers Club, the Oddfellows and Rebekahs, which featured Ken Yarrow's horses and wagon. A clown, large rabbit and a guerilla paraded about, greeting young and old alike in the crowd. The old-fashioned baby carriage & other such entries contributed to the success of the parade. Of course, Santa Claus brought up the rear of the parade, riding proudly on the big red fire truck, and displaying the "World's Largest Christmas Stocking".

After the parade, the children were entertained by the firemen in the Kiwanis Centre. Maurice Goulah, Jerry Snider and Roger Snider, in costumes, mingled among the children while some of the rest of the children chatted with Santa. Candies were handed out, and cartoons were shown. Other entertainment included music by some of the talented firemen.

Little Erin Sexsmith, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ted Sexsmith of Madoc, was lucky winner of the large stocking.

The firemen would still like to know, "Who was the Bunny?"

The Madoc Businessmen's Association, the Volunteer Firemen and the local youth are to be commended for the excellent parade and program following, which they had planned so well for the afternoon.

Twenty join in pot-luck supper

The final UCW meeting of the United Church of Canada's 50th anniversary year was held at the home of the president, Audrey Chambers.

Twenty members joined in the pot-luck supper.

The service later began with an appropriate verse while Mary Blackburn conducted the Christmas worship. Carols were sung, including O Come Let Us Adore Him.

Participating were Alma and Lois Blackburn, Audrey Chambers and Mrs. Holgate.

Winifred Ketcheson prepared and conducted a program that included legends of Christmas candles, the poinsettia, the evergreen tree, the first St. Nicholas and Silent Night.

Taking part were Alma Moorcroft, Mrs. A. Creaser, Mary McCann and Helen Johnson.

Blanche Sandford told some of her memories of Christmas in her childhood home.

Minnie Moorcroft mentioned parts of history of early settlers in Madoc township and the need for "Do, make do, and do without" as experienced by so many.

Post cards dated from December 1902 to 1912, children's books dating back to 1900 and an ornamental G.R. Jones calendar were displayed.

An exchange of gifts by number closed the meeting.

Mrs. K. Cassidy hostess, Queensboro

W.I. meeting

Mrs. Ken Cassidy was the hostess for the December meeting of the Queensboro branch of the Women's Institute.

In the absence of the president, first vice president Mrs. Frank O'Rourke was in charge of the meeting.

The roll call - A Christmas Poem - was answered by 16 members and two visitors.

The report on the canvass for the Canadian National Institute for the Blind showed that $143.25 had been collected.

It was decided that Mrs. Allan Sager and Mrs. Monte Dennis would be sent as leaders to the training school for the 4-H Club.

Mrs. Roy Rollins gave a short report on the executive meeting for the area which she recently attended.

Mrs. O'Rourke gave a reading entitled A Young Husband. She also read Mixed Recipe and called for home riddles.

Mrs. McNeil read a selection, The Wonder of Christmas.

Mrs. Arthur Holmes sang a Christmas song. She also exhibited her Queensboro quilt composed of nine blocks showing her own home and the eight buildings nearest to it.

She also read a poem she had composed about the quilt, conducted a game and read a story A Trip to Grandpa's Farm.

Several carols were sung before the meeting was closed. A Christmas gift exchange followed, with lunch later being served by the hostess and her assistants.

Open for special service

The Historical Church at Hazzards Corner will be opening its doors Dec. 23 to the candle lighting service of the Queensboro-Eldorado Pastoral Charge.

In former years the area served by this pastoral charge had churches at Cooper, Eldorado, Queensboro, Harts, Hazzards Corner and Union. The families of the area now attend the churches of Eldorado and St. Andrew's in Queensboro.

Children, youth and the junior and senior choirs from both churches will be attending the service with minister Mr. G.A. Creaser.

On Saturday, December 13th, 1975, a sale of baked goods and crafts was held in the Madoc Furniture Store. The sale was sponsored by the First Madoc Girl Guides.

Good attendance Christmas meeting

A good attendance was reported last week at the Christmas meeting of St. Peter's Presbyterian Church Women's Club in Madoc. The meeting was held at the home of Marion Robertson.

The devotional service was conducted by Mrs. Mart Trotter.

The scripture lesson was read by Loreen Connor.

Mrs. Trotter read an article Who Is He in Yonder Stall? by Rev. Alex McCombie.

Mrs. Maude Deline, the president, conducted the business portion of the meeting.

The members decided to donate $500 to the Board of Managers and provide the Sunday School with candy for the Christmas party and the church with flowers for Christmas.

Mrs. Maude Deline conducted the program. Several Christmas carols were sung with Miss Lamoine West at the piano.

A story Who Shall Carry the Candle? was read by Mrs. I. Woods.

Mrs. Prudence McCoy read two poems A Christmas Letter and A Christmas Wish.

Mrs. Deline closed with a Christmas prayer. Lunch was served by the hostess, assisted by Mrs. Bertha Robertson.

Makes official visit to Madoc Lodge

The assembly president of Ontario, Sister Helen Sheppard, made her official visit to the Oakdale Rebekah Lodge recently. She was accompanied by District Deputy President Sister Elvi Brownson.

In her address to the lodge, the president spoke of the many projects now being undertaken. She also spoke of the student loan and of the home in Barrie.

She said she was very pleased to hear that the Madoc lodge had taken in eight new members, with six more waiting for January.

Who votes for strikes?

Here in Canada, we rather pride ourselves that labor unions are democratic organizations, structured to ascertain and obtain, so far as possible, the desires of members. Common practice is that executive officers are elected in campaigns, during which alternative policies may be advocated by candidates. Subsequently, the elected executive commonly submits major decisions for ratification or rejection by vote of the rank and file.

Before postal workers were called out on strike in mid-October, the union executive ordered a poll of members. It announced that the vote had been 69 percent in favor of strike action. It also revealed that ballots had been cast by 65.5 percent of members.

Simple arithmetic shows that the vote of union members was not as decisive as the union leaders represented. Out of a total of 22,000 workers, only 9,943 or 45.2 percent voted to authorize strike action. Pressed to clarify its claim of overwhelming support for its recommendation of a strike, pressed to indicate how the vote had gone in locals across the nation, the executive said a union by-law forbade disclosure of details.

Subsequently, after the strike began, negotiations were resumed and an improved offer was made by the postal authorities. A number of locals across the country indicated that their members wanted an opportunity to vote on the new offer. The executive refused, saying it would be irresponsible to test views of members a second time. There is still some money there and we are going to get it, the national vice-president stated.

Although the laws that give unions legal status and protection in Canada require them to adopt the electoral process, they leave it very largely to the unions to decide, each for itself, how that process will be carried out. Voting may or may not be by secret

a business column
by Fraser Robertson

ballot; freedom of discussion is not everywhere assured; a national union, such as the postal union, is not obliged to provide figures for analysis.

For the most part, unions in Canada have conducted and interpreted voting fairly. But there have been a number of instances of voters being intimidated, of discussion being throttled, of executives claiming majority support when it was less than clear-cut. In view of this, it is strange that some governments in Canada contemplate further "liberalization" of union electoral procedures.

This is all the more strange in that, increasingly, governments now are forcing workers either to join unions, or to accept them as their representatives in all dealings with management, and to pay dues which the union executive can use to promote the special interests of trade unionism.

One of these interests is to try to establish that laws and generally accepted rules of social behavior do not apply to unions in Canada. The use of violence and of abusive language and threats, the distortion of facts and figures, all are considered to be proper means of gaining union ends.

Claims that such activities are justifiable when used by unions can lead to some odd situations. As the activities of the postal union have shown, the desires and opinions of substantial minorities are not regarded as worthy of serious consideration. Yet the leaders of the postal union have protested vigorously that the anti-inflationary guidelines recently introduced by the government as a national measure were discriminatory and should not apply to trade unions, which represent only about 35 percent -- a minority -- of Canadian workers.

Costs hinder involvement

MADOC - Costs entailed by Progressive Conservative party membership have been one of the key reasons for the low youth involvement in the party, Hastings federal riding association president Kel Kincaid said last week.

Kincaid, speaking to the annual meeting of the Hastings-Peterborough Progressive Conservative Association, said he was primarily thinking of the costs involved in going to the leadership convention in Ottawa next year.

He said one young delegate would be getting all the support possible since they were so proud to have him in the party.

"These are the problems we have," he said, "but I feel that we as Conservatives will find a way out."

Three-bay garage for Deloro

A three-bay prefabricated steel garage and salt shed is to be built in the Village of Deloro.

Hastings County council this month awarded the construction contract to J.D. Coad Construction Limited at a contract price of $93,000.

"It is hoped that this contract will be completed so we may make use of it for a good part of this winter season," Gordon Wilman, chairman of the roads and bridges committee, reported.

The shed will serve the mid-western area of the county.

Bayfront study report out Thursday

Presentation of the bayfront study, a conceptual plan for development by R. E. Chrysler, P.Eng., will highlight the December meeting of the Moira River Conservation Authority as it meets in the municipal building, Cannifton, Thursday at 1:30 p.m.

Advisory board reports for 1975 and recommendations for 1976 will also be given.

They include reports by H. R. Frink of information and education; J. Spry on forestry; H. Varty on pollution control; D. Harvey on conservation areas; S. Meeks on fish and wildlife; and C. McArthur on water control.

The proposed budget and levies for 1976 will also be presented.

Two complaints wilful damage investigated

Two complaints of wilful damage were investigated by Madoc OPP during the past week.

Seven thefts were reported, two reports of mischief investigated, and one report of break and enter was investigated. Ten persons were charged under the liquor control act.

There was one complaint of common assault, two reports of disturbances and one report of a missing person who was located.

Four accidents, with damages amounting to an estimated $4,645, with two persons injured, were investigated.

Approximately 15 other occurrences involved OPP attention including compassionate to locate, suspicious persons and complaints of erratic driving.

Liberals in Marmora

Hastings-Peterborough Provincial Liberal Association executives will meet in Marmora Wednesday, December 17, at 8 p.m. Association president, Don Mullan, of Marmora, will host the gathering as plans for the 1976 season are made

Future Shawano development gets township council approval

MARMORA - Marmora and Lake Townships Council have given their approval to a draft plan for future development of the Shawano recreation area in Lake Township as presented by John and Don Bowes of Hedonics Inc. of Peterborough, at Saturday's council meeting. Council added the stipulation that their approval is subject to the approval of the Hastings County Planning Board.

Using maps of the area, John Bowes reviewed the draft plan which has been scaled down to 575 condominium units from the original plan of 1400 units. Instead of a large commercial area with hotel, etc. the company plans now to build only essential services, Mr. Bowes said. The company began the Shawano project six years ago.

All but 20 of the original 200 single family cottage lots in Phase 1 of the development have been built on.

Draft plan B has undergone a great many changes at the direction of the Ministry of Housing and Hastings County Planning Board. The company has carried out a terrain analysis study of the area in compliance with the planning board's request and now know what areas are suitable for single septic tank and communal type installations.

In accordance with governmental thinking, the latest plan calls for clusters of condominium units away from water frontage. Mr. Bowes said that 993 acres out of 1500 the company owns would be left for green open space.

All roads would be built to township standards, John Bowes assured Council. The Townships have taken over maintenance of existing roads at Shawano now.

In answer to Reeve Ritchie Well's query about the objections being raised by the Shawano Cottage Owners' Association, John Bowes stated they had met with the Association executive and felt that the Association members were satisfied with the scaled down version of the plan. The company has changed the location of a public park to satisfy the cottagers, he said.

A typical unit of 900 to 1300 square feet would sell for between $30,000 and $40,000. The plan is a long range one and would be developed in stages, Mr. Bowes assured Council.

The Bowes brothers said the plan is not final by any means and they are willing to make changes. They asked for Council's support when the plan is presented again to the Hastings Planning Board for approval.

Council discussed the plan after the two men left. Reeve Wells said "I can understand the opposition taken by the cottagers there now to a large commercial operation which could involve 2,000 more people but on the other hand, it's a selfish attitude to take".

Deputy-reeve John Wilkes commented "There are two ways of looking at it. Bowes and Cocks paid a big price for that land and they have been forced by the government to curtail a lot of their plans. It has given quite a few men in that area work and could give them a lot more."

Councillor Ted Bonter added his endorsement. "It looks to me like a very long range plan - I can't see it developing into a big problem and we need the assessment."

Clerk-treasurer Mabel Gawley commented, "I wouldn't want to do without that assessment for it's growing every year."

Squires Creek Bridge 'progressing very well'

Construction of the Squires Creek Bridge on the Hastings-Northumberland County boundary in the third Concession of Rawdon Township "is progressing very well."

Gordon Wilman, chairman of the Hastings county council's roads and bridges committee, in a report tabled at the council's December meeting, said that under the contract the contractor is required to carry out all necessary work to open the new bridge to traffic before closing off construction for the winter months.

Mel-Ron Construction Limited of Whitby Ont., is carrying out the work.

Calls for strengthening

MADOC - Terry Pigden, newly-elected president of the Hastings-Peterborough Progressive Conservative Association, called last week for a strengthening of local village and township party organizations.

Pigden, addressing the annual meeting of the association, also called for the creation of new local organizations and a review by a committee of local presidents of the constitution of Hastings riding. The accepted form, he said, would serve as the constitution for the new riding of Hastings-Peterborough.

He also felt area groups of local presidents should be established to meet regularly and make known the views of their respective areas on important issues.

At last, Tories get themselves a treasurer

MADOC - The position of treasurer of the Hastings-Peterborough Progressive Conservative Association, was up for grabs Wednesday night but nobody seemed interested.

Over a half dozen nominees for the post declined to stand before the vacancy was finally filled.

Even Ken Smith, who had earlier stepped down as president, turned down the job.

"I can't look after my own money, let alone the Conservatives," he said.

Successful candidate was Vers McMurray, who accepted the post with a gleeful: "I'll take it. I love to play with money."

If councils don't watch it...

Major tax hike coming

Residents of the Village of Madoc and surrounding area will be faced with a major hike in municipal taxation if the county council, and the local municipal councils, don't swing a big axe to municipal spending next year.

The Hon. Darcy McKeough, Treasurer of Ontario, in a letter to the Hastings County Council has warned that provincial support to local governments will increase by no more than five to six per cent in 1976, and that this means the existing grant formula will be modified to ensure that total provincial payments stay within those funds available.

The provincial move means that if local spending increases by only the amount of inflation and no more, local taxes will still go up.

Therefore a severe cutback in programs already being undertaken by the county and/or the municipality, will enable local councillors to hold the line.

Carl E. Bateman, county business administrator, told the county council that the letter from Mr. McKeough, coupled with the anti-inflation program of the federal government, makes "it clear that senior levels of governments are indeed serious about controlling inflation and the growth rate of municipal spending."

The county council, seeking to stay within guidelines, hopes to wrap up 1976 budget deliberations earlier this year - recent legislation requiring the county to have its entire budget and apportionment rates between the municipalities completed by April 1, 1976.

Council committees will meet and review their 1976 programs following the first session of the council, and must have recommendations finalized prior to March 15.

The individual budgets will then be reviewed by the administrator, assembled and mailed to county councillors by March 25.

The council will meet again March 30 and 31, at which time the county apportionment and budget will be established.

In 1974 the county budget was not struck until the end of May, and in 1975 it was struck at the end of April.

Madoc bantam hockey team not in luck

The Madoc Bantam Hockey team was not in for any luck this week, with two losses against them.

On Monday night they played in Frankford and lost a very close game, with the score being Frankford 4, Madoc 3.

Night Trips lead Madoc Thursday Mixed League

The Night Trips are currently in the lead in the Madoc Thursday night mixed bowling league.

The Night Trips have 52 points, followed by Leo's Lucky Six with 51, Barney's Rubbles 47, Gord's Lost Lambs 42, John's Jinx 42 and the Unpredictables with 40. Kathy Denyes had the ladies high single of 212 while Leona Armstrong had the triple of 565.

Paul Jones had the men's high single of 247 and Fred Mahoney had the triple of 609.

Other high scores were by: Joe Mallia 236, Fred Mahoney 220-220, Brad Benford 220-217, Bill Armstrong 229-202, Leo Coveney 214-213, Don Brady 212-202, Kathy McCann 208 and Grace Rose 203.

Baptism observed at St. Andrew's

The sacrament of Baptism was observed Sunday at St. Andrew's United Church, Queensboro, conducted by minister Mr. G. Arnold Creaser. Five children were received into the fellowship of the church.

Those receiving the rites of Baptism were Bradley Keith, son of Keith and Judith McCracken; Carrie Rachael, daughter of Elwood and Linda Graham; Matthew Michael Glenn, son of Glenn and Judy Graham; Tammy Ann Eileen, daughter of Randy and Fern Rose; and Todd William, son of Bill and Lorne Matthews.

The music was under the direction of Mrs. Katherine Fleming.

Rebekah Lodge Christmas party

The ladies of the Oakdale Rebekah Lodge held their annual Christmas dinner and gift exchange Thursday evening, followed by the regular meeting.

During the meeting the draw took place for an afghan and a hand-made ladies' purse.

Noble Grand Sister June Walker drew the lucky ticket for the purse, won by Mrs. Ruth Burnside. District Deputy President Sister Elvi Brownson drew the ticket for the afghan, won by Edward Longmuir of St. Ola.

Fine Art Collection at Madoc Library

The Fine Art Collection is here for six months; Books in large print. New books are: The Great Victorian Collection, Brian Moore; The Persian Ransom, Evelyn Anthony; The House on the Left Bank, Velda Johnston; Sogun, James Clavell; Death in Don Mills, Hugh Garner; and The Candy Factory, Sylvia Fraser.

The Madoc club tied the game up in the third period, but lost the tie, with only three minutes left in the game. They hoped to tie the game up again, but time was against them. Better luck next time, boys.

Frankford scored the first goal and Madoc tied it up with Doug Wood scoring, assisted by Lorry Kirkwood. The Frankford team scored twice more and Madoc came back to tie it up, with a goal by Wayne Willemsen from Doug Wood. The third Madoc goal was scored by Lorry Kirkwood, assisted by Tom Preston. Frankford scored one more goal and broke the tie.

The second game was played on Thursday night in Madoc against Colborne, with a score of 7 - 1 for Colborne.

Madoc scored the first goal in the first period, by Wayne Willemsen, unassisted. Colborne scored seven goals in a row after that, and Madoc was unlucky and could not seem to stop the Colborne power line. Keep practising, boys, and don't give up. Maybe next time the score will be reversed.

New sweaters debut big success in 4-3 victory

Dressed in their new gold and blue uniforms, the PeeWee A's defeated Marmora Friday night in a 4-3 contest.

In the first period Madoc held Marmora 3-0 on goals by Paul Mason from David Anthony and Danny Brown, and Billy Bateman, taking two, with an assist from Bryan Willemsen.

In the second period each team scored once. Madoc's goal was by Randy Gray with Darryl Wood picking up the assist.

Marmora came back in the third to score two more to down Madoc.

The PeeWees travelled to Bancroft Sunday but went down to defeat in an 11-7 game.

Paul Mason scored four, Randy Gray counted two and Bryan Willemsen went home with one goal.

The next game will be played Friday, Dec. 19 when Madoc hosts Tweed. A game Saturday, Dec. 20 sees Frankford at Madoc.

Keep Fire

In Its Place at Christmas

A happy Christmas can change in a few moments into a family tragedy, warns Fire Chief Bob Kirkwood in homes where fire safety precautions are neglected. Such precautions should head the list of every sensible family's preparations for Christmas, he says.

The Fire Chief urges the public to exercise special care in the setting up and decoration of Christmas trees, and draws attention to the following important points:

If plans call for a natural tree it should be bought fresh and green, and kept outdoors or in an unheated garage before being brought into the home for decorating. Then, one or two inches should be cut diagonally from the butt, and the tree should be set up with the butt in water which should be maintained above the level of the cut.

Check strings of electric lights carefully for worn insulation, broken plugs or loose bulb connections. Only CSA-approved lighting sets and only non-flammable decorations should be used. Declare the tree a no-smoking area and keep matches out of the hands of children.

Do not allow discarded gift wrappings to accumulate under the tree. Dispose of them as soon as the gifts are opened. Even a green tree will burn if ignited by burning paper around the base.

Set up the tree away from heat sources such as fireplaces, TV sets or radiators. Do not allow it to block access to doors or windows in the event of fire. Switch off tree lights at bedtime or when leaving the house.

Chief Kirkwood points out that tests have proved that the safest tree is a tree with its butt set in water. However, if a tree has dried out before it is set up, it cannot regain its safe moisture level. A dry tree can be ignited by a single match, to burn violently to a charred state in a few seconds.

Even artificial trees can be serious fire hazards. Metallic trees are conductors of electricity, and should not be decorated with strings of lights, but illuminated with floodlights. Some plastic trees, made from styrene materials, are flammable, unlike those made from Polyvinylchloride.

All trees should be removed from the home as soon as possible after the Christmas celebrations.

MADOC FIRE DEPT.

Looking back on the Madoc area...with Karen Jones

47 Years Ago

For the second time in a little over a year, Madoc was visited by a disastrous fire, when the block on St. Lawrence Street owned by Miss Bailey of Kingston was again the scene of a fire. It is estimated that the loss will amount to nearly $20,000 which was partially covered by insurance. The fire was first noticed at about 2:30 Sunday morning by Lyman Bennett, who drives the Ivanhoe stage and who gave the alarm. When first noticed, the fire had made considerable head-way and the cause is unknown, although it is believed that it started either from a stove used as heating or from the electric wiring in Mr. Govier's bake shop. The loss is estimated as follows: Harry Govier, $1,000, 140 bags of flour and other stock on hand, $500 insurance; Damon Hoover, owner of the machinery and oven in the bake shop, loss partially covered by insurance; Dan Barry, $10,000 stock of ladies wear, $7,000 insurance; Frank Thompson, $2,000, household furniture, $1,000 insurance; Robert O'Riordan Grocery, stock partially damaged, $500 loss, covered by insurance; Miss Bailey, owner of the block, loss estimated about $6,000, covered by insurance.

Mrs. Charles Pringle of Davidson Street has a Christmas cactus which has bloomed four times this year - in January, at Easter time, in June, and now in December. At present it has 225 flowers and several buds yet to come out. It is a very beautiful plant and the owner can be proud of it.

Mr. S. B. Moore, the new Station Agent, has arrived and taken over the work at the C.N.R. station here. He is moving into the house on Livingstone Avenue lately vacated by Station Agent F. G. Pollard, who is transferred to Scarboro Junction, Toronto.

Social evening at Hazzards

The annual community social evening was held at Hazzard's Corners recently.

Allen Ketcheson, as master of ceremonies, welcomed approximately 65 persons before all sat down to a bounteous pot luck supper. Everyone thoroughly enjoyed the tasty dishes of hot meat casseroles, scalloped potatoes, rolls, jellies, salads, home made chili sauce and pickles and fresh baked pies and cakes.

New residents of the community who were able to attend were introduced, after which Bryan Moorcroft gave a reading.

The ladies cleared up the tables and a projector and screen were set up for the program to follow. All were intrigued with the slide presentation entitled, "The Winding Path", shown by Miss Alma Moorcroft. Thus concluded a delightful get-together of the community.

Many children baptised at Queensboro church

During the church service at St. Andrew's United Church on Sunday, the following children were baptised by Mr. Arnold Creaser: Bradley Keith, son of Mr. and Mrs. Keith McCracken; Matthew Michael Glenn, son of Mr. and Mrs. Glenn Graham; Tammy Ann Eileen, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Randy Rose; Carrie Rachael, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Elwood Graham; Todd William, son of Mr. and Mrs. William Matthews.

Mrs. Harry DeClair spent the past week with Mr. and Mrs. Ellis deClair, Kingston.

Over 175 citizens of Madoc Village and Kiwanians from Madoc, Kingston, Belleville and Peterborough met in the Madoc Armouries on Tuesday, December 4th, 1951, where a banquet was held in honour of Dr. W. A. Mackintosh, Principal of Queen's University. The event was sponsored jointly by the members of the Kiwanis Clubs of Madoc and Kingston, who with friends and former acquaintances of Dr. Mackintosh, gathered to pay tribute to a native son of Madoc Village. Following a delicious dinner served by Blue's Hotel, all were extended a hearty welcome on behalf of the Madoc Club by its President, Jim Watson, and by Jack Kincaid, Reeve of Madoc Village. Mr. Kincaid said it was an honour to welcome their guest, a native of Madoc, and he was proud of the fact that he was the first Canadian to be principal of Queen's University. He concluded by saying, "Welcome home, Bill". At the conclusion of the festivity, Mr. Watson presented Dr. Mackintosh with a silver smoking set, on behalf of the Kiwanis Club of Madoc. On behalf of the Kiwanis Club of Kingston, Wattie Macnee presented flowers to Mrs. Mackintosh and to Dr.

Mackintosh's sisters, Miss Mary and Miss Jean Mackintosh.

Dr. S. R. Beatty, M.O.H. for the village, informed the Review this week that the water in the village system was now fit for drinking. Several samples have been taken and sent away to be tested and in all recent tests, the reports showed the water to be A-1 and suitable for drinking purposes.

NOTE: This is the last issue for the year 1951. Hope you all have enjoyed "looking back" twenty-four years ago!

15 Years Ago

Last Saturday afternoon, December 3rd, 1960, another large crowd attended the annual Santa Claus parade sponsored by the Madoc District Chamber of Commerce and the merchants of Madoc. The parade lived up to all expectations and following it, Santa presented 1200 bags of candy to the children present. Two movies were held during the day in the high school, one in the morning for the village children and one in the afternoon for those in the surrounding area.

Thomas Burnside was re-elected Reeve in Madoc Village, in the Monday, December 5th, 1960, election, which saw a vote for the Reeveship for the first time in 22 years. This was the first time that a woman had ever contested a seat on the council and Miss Olive Ashe headed the polls.

Master David Brett, son of Mr. and Mrs. Grant Brett, was the winner of the C.C.M. Bicycle in the Heinz Bike-n-Pike Contest held at Kincaid Bros. Red and White Store recently. The winning ticket was drawn by Mr. Douglas Blue of Belleville.

Mrs. Rex Rollins spent last Sunday dinner with Mr. and Mrs. Roy Rollins, Queensboro.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles Blaney, Maxville, were weekend visitors of Mrs. C.B. McCoy.

Mr. and Mrs. Garnet Holmes and Celestine, RR 2, Madoc, were Sunday dinner visitors of Mr. and Mrs. Gordon Holmes.

John Keene, Kapuskasing, left Monday morning for home after spending the past week with Mr. and Mrs. Claude Keene and boys.

Mr. and Mrs. Earl Wartman, Madoc, were Sunday supper visitors of Mr. and Mrs. Rex Rollins.

Cooper and Remington WI held their regular monthly meeting at the home of Mrs. Gordon Chapman, Madoc, on

Pot luck

Cooper and Remington WI held their annual pot luck supper and Christmas party at the community centre on Friday evening with a good turnout. Mr. John Heukelom, RR 2, Marmora, was the winner of the basket of groceries.

Wednesday afternoon. Mrs. Max Burnside, district president of Hastings North, was the guest speaker.

Sympathy is extended to the family of Mr. and Mrs. Herb Brady on the recent passing of their son-in-law, Ed Panos, of Calgary. Mr. and Mrs. Brady flew to Calgary on Saturday morning for the funeral service.

Mr. and Mrs. Claude Keene and boys visited Mrs. Tom Ash in Belleville General Hospital last week.

Visitors at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Keith McCracken on the weekend were Mr. and Mrs. Sam McCracken and Mrs. Cathy Bocconigelle, Toronto.

Mr. and Mrs. Tom Allen and Mrs. Lillian Allen, Toronto, were also visitors at the McCracken home over the weekend.

Area clerks on executive county group

Two area clerk-treasurers have been elected directors of the Hastings County Clerks and Treasurers Association. They are Bernice Young of the Village of Deloro and Bill Shannon of the Village of Marmora.

The two were elected as the group held its annual meeting in the County Administration building.

Others elected were Mrs. Dorothy Thompson, Huntingdon Township, chairman; Heath Jones, Village of Tweed, vice-chairman; Robert Vandervoort, Sidney Township, secretary-treasurer; and Clare Horton, Thurlow Township and Ruth Sears, Bangor, Wicklow & McClure Twps., directors.

Game should be good one

MARMORA - The hockey game next Saturday night between the Ottawa Old Stars and the Marmora Trent Valley Oldtimers promises to be a good one.

The game is being held in conjunction with the official ceremonies marking the reopening of the Marmora Arena after its renovation project.

Billed as the oldest hockey team on earth, the Ottawa team holds the world championship for a team over 50 years of age. They boast that they can ice a full team of players over 50 and one of their lineups total 170 years.

Many of their players are former pros and they have a proud record as a team.

As we see it...

Large pay hike not justified at this time

We do not object to Hastings County board of education trustees paying themselves $400 a month for their services to the County - if they really want that much.

The province says trustees can pay themselves up to that amount - and board vice-chairman Miriam Graham is right when she says the job is worth far more than that.

Mr. Average Citizen has no idea of how many hours trustees spend on board business - if they are doing their job. It consumes many, many hours a month in a variety of committee meetings, and other engagements, to say nothing of official board meetings.

Indeed, one trustee in the province not too long ago stated that if she totalled up the numbers of hours she worked, and divided it into her honorarium, she would be far, far below the provincial minimum wage standard.

Of course, there are those who would argue not all trustees put in those kind of hours. If they aren't, however, they are not doing their jobs and should be eliminated from the board come the next municipal elections.

However, Hastings County board members haven't as yet paid themselves $400 a month.

But they did vote to give themselves $350, thanks to a close 9-8 vote registered in approving a $50 a month pay hike during the board's December meeting.

We don't disagree with their value but we do think the board has made a mistake in giving itself such a large increase at this time.

Federal wage and price control guidelines, which are to effect the teachers and other members of the board's staff, should also effect the trustees.

Morally, if for no other reason, the trustees should therefore rescind their motion and increase their wages only by the percentage allowed under the guidelines.

After all, the board can certainly not expect its employees to go along with the federal government, if board members themselves ignore the government's rules, requests and pleas.

ONLY DOGS ARE NOW ALLOWED TO RUN AT LARGE

MARMORA - Third reading has been given by Marmora and Lake Townships Council to By-law No.1160 which prohibits the running at large or trespassing of all animals, except dogs, and provides a penalty of not more than $50 and costs for violators of this by-law. It became effective December 13.

12% taxes outstanding

MARMORA - Twelve percent or $26,500 are outstanding in taxes out of a total of $218,967 in 1975, clerk-treasurer Mabel Gawley has reported to Marmora and Lake Townships council.

Mrs. Gawley said she thought the two instalment method of payment started last year had helped people to make their payments.

$2,000 damage

Marmora - A shed and tools valued at $2,000 were destroyed by fire at the home of Jack Croskery on Victoria St. about 9 a.m. Tuesday, December 9.

Mr. Croskery started a fire in the wood stove, then forgot to check it before going downtown for something. When he returned the place was in flames.

A handyman, Mr. Croskery lost a number of mechanical books, testing equipment and quite a few tools in the fire. He has been able to recover some of the wrenches which he thinks were not harmed by the heat.

Flames also scorched the end of the mobile home which he and his wife live in and one window cracked from the fire. The shed and equipment was not covered by insurance, he said.

Marmora Volunteer Fire Department answered the call at 9:15 and were able to contain the fire.

New illumination at newly renovated Marmora arena

MARMORA - At eight o'clock next Saturday night, December 20, Hastings-Peterborough MPP Clarke Rollins will push a button to illuminate Marmora's newly renovated arena.

On hand for the event will be a number of invited guests, two hockey teams, the Ottawa Old Stars and Marmora Trent Valley Oldtimers, and hopefully a large attendance of local residents.

The official re-opening marks the culmination of two years' work, a year and a half of which was spent in exploring all possibilities before a decision was reached in May of this year to repair the original arena at a cost of $70,000 rather than build a new one at an estimated cost of $400,000.

Annexation? Who cares?

MARMORA - It would seem the residents of Marmora Township living on Maloney St. aren't very concerned about whether they are township or Marmora Village residents.

Only two replies have been received by the clerk of Marmora Township in answer to the township council's recent letter asking the residents for their views on the proposed annexation by Marmora Village of that area.

Gerald Caverly has indicated he is against annexation and James and Bob Drummond are definitely in favour. Bob Drummond requested the annexation in order that he may proceed with a subdivision.

Pork production is a $5 million a week industry for the hog producers located throughout Ontario. Consumer demand for pork products has been increased through rigorous grading systems penalizing overweight production, and assuring high protein meat.

Man escapes injury when car hit by train

A Scarborough man escaped injury Thursday morning when his car was struck by a train on Concession 14 of Rawdon township, two miles north of Bonarlaw.

Harold E. Smith told police he was almost across the tracks when the train's engine struck the right rear corner of his vehicle. Smith was alone in the car at the time of the accident.

The train, from Canadian National Railways, was northbound hauling 33 empty box cars.

No damage was reported on the train and police estimated damage to the car at $1,000.

Smith told police he had been driving across the tracks periodically for the past five years but until Thursday had never seen a train go by.

Deloro will pay $10 hr. for services

MARMORA - A rate of $10. per hour was set by Marmora and Lake Townships Council for snowploughing and sanding service to Deloro Village.

Reeve Doug Lynch of Deloro said that the service provided in the past by the Township had been satisfactory and the Village would like it to continue.

Last year's rate was $8. per hour but because of increased labour costs the Townships Council felt an increase in the rate was in order.

$1,500 damage in accident

Total damage was estimated at over $1,500 last Tuesday in a single-car accident on the 4th Concession of Rawdon township, 1.3 miles east of Highway 14.

A car driven by Arthur Ross Gozzard, 21, of RR 1, Stirling, apparently went out of control, went into the south ditch, came back onto the roadway and then entered the north ditch where it broke off a hydro pole and damaged two fences.

Wailing Wall

The Western, or Wailing, Wall is the sole remnant of the Temple, the lodestone of Judaism. Built by Solomon and destroyed by Nebuchadnezzar, restored by Herod and razed by the Romans, the Temple in Jerusalem once contained the Tablets of the Law, the Commandments given to Moses.

Twp employee breaks foot

MARMORA - One of the Marmora Township employees, Wilbert Pattison, has broken his foot and will be off work for approximately two months, road committee chairman John Wilkes reported to the Townships council.

Mr. Wilkes was concerned about getting a temporary replacement for Mr. Pattison, especially during periods when the road crew is doing their best to clear roads. It was Mr. Wilkes feeling that no one man should be snowploughing or sanding alone at night.

Council deferred until January any setting of rates for snowploughing laneways, but most were of the opinion an increase is inevitable.

Remanded for hearing

Peter John Runions, a correctional officer at the Warkworth penal Institute, was remanded in Madoc provincial court Tuesday, Dec. 9 for a preliminary hearing January 20 on six charges that included assaulting a police officer.

Runions, of 178 Kent St., Campbellford, is also charged with assault causing bodily harm, resisting arrest, escaping custody, impaired driving and failing to agree to a breathalyzer test.

The charges stemmed from an incident Nov. 4 in the village of Marmora. The constable involved is Glen Fowler of the Madoc detachment of the Ontario Provincial Police.

Record fire season set

The Tweed District Fire Control staff have reported their busiest fire season on record.

A total of 1,410 acres were burned over the summer by 148 fires. Of his number 13 per cent were caused by lightning and the remaining 87 per cent by man. Eleven charges were laid under the Forest Fires Protection Act resulting from fires in the area.

Additional aid was received during the season from Bancroft, Pembroke, Lanark, Lindsay, Sudbury, Napanee, Cornwall and Minden.

Many of the fires were in inaccessible areas and were fought with the use of helicopters and other aircraft.

One campsite was burned out over the summer. The tent and camping equipment were lost but no injuries were reported.

Seven more wolf bounties

MARMORA - Marmora and Lake Townships Council authorized payment of seven wolf bounties at a cost of $125 at last Saturday's council meeting.

John Hewitt, the man who collected five of the seven, asked if council would continue with the bounty next year. A decision would be made in January, Deputy-reeve John Wilkes advised him. Charlie Clemens and Joe McGrath were the other two.

A good wolf pelt is worth about $25 today, Mr. Hewitt said.

Investigate theft

Two provincial police detachments this week are investigating a theft last Monday night from a Stoco residence.

Constables from the Napanee detachment were called to the residence of James Maracle at RR 3, Tweed to investigate the theft of 70 muskrat traps, 13 beaver pelts, a quarter of beef and 25 gallons of gasoline.

Provincial police from Madoc are also involved in the case.

Police reported that Maracle, returning to his house Monday, found tire tracks leading up to the residence. On looking inside he discovered the loss and notified police.

Thick fog is blamed for mishap

A car travelling in thick fog along the 3-4 Concession Road in Hungerford township early last Monday morning was unable to stop in time to avoid striking a horse wandering on the roadway.

The accident occurred just past the Vanderwater Park Road.

The horse, owned by Don Hill of Toronto, escaped with injuries to right hind leg but damage to the car was placed at $550.

The driver of the car was Mrs. Emma Cronkwright, 56, of RR 1, Thomasburg.

Jehovah Witnesses making plans for convention

Jehovah's Witnesses in the Madoc area are making plans to attend a two-day convention program in Toronto at their new assembly hall located on Highway No. 7, one mile west of the Mississauga Road. The announcement was made by Mr. James Reid, local spokesman for the group.

The program will be centered around the theme, "As For Us, We Shall Serve Jehovah", emphasizing the idea of us thinking seriously about our relationship with Jehovah God.

Mr. Reid stressed the importance of maintaining a strong personal relationship with God despite personal and surrounding problems in the world. A special representative, Mr. Keith McCann, will be present to give a lecture on Sunday at 2:00 p.m., entitled, "How the Kingdom of God Affects You".

The two-day convention is scheduled to begin Saturday, January 10th, 1976, at 1:55 p.m. All sessions are open to the public.

ROLLINS NOT RUNNING AGAIN

MPP warns of continuing discontent through county

MADOC - Hastings-Peterborough MPP Clarke Rollins last week told a meeting of the riding's Progressive Conservative Association he would not be contesting the seat in the next provincial election.

The announcement, totally unexpected by the members and executive, came during a meeting Wednesday night to elect new officers.

The MPP, who has contested the seat successfully through five elections in the past 16 years, said the decision was the result of the changing political climate in the riding.

He said the Conservative majority in Hastings-Peterborough had, until the last election, been increasing steadily, at one time going over 5,000.

"Then people expect that you are going to keep at that high objective through circumstances that we've had to go through that have not been accepted nor satisfactory for this county."

One example, he said, was the County School Board which today finds "very strong opposition" across Hastings County.

He said there was a great deal of activity by the various levels of government in the county to belittle the provincial government and to try to create an image of irresponsibility.

He said there had been issues before the government that he had not been able to agree with but had never voted against the PC party.

"Some of you might ask why, if you feel very strongly about certain things, why it's not proper to do so. There's a principle behind your elected position. You're elected by your people. You deal with cabinet ministers and you try to serve your people to the best of your ability."

He stressed the riding must not be taken

Smith doesn't seek office

MADOC - After 10 years as president of the Hastings, now Hastings-Peterborough, Progressive Conservative Assoc., Ken Smith last week told an annual meeting of the organization he would not be seeking the post for another term.

"I have enjoyed working with you people. I have enjoyed meeting you," he told the members. "It's just been 10 wonderful years as your president."

There was, however, one unexpected drawback to the post, he warned potential candidates.

"Ten years ago I weighed 90 lbs., but I've been to so many banquets I now weigh 290 lbs."

Clarke Rollins

for granted, citing as an example Premier Davis' sole visit several years ago as minister of education.

He said there was also "active opposition" in the county council and warned of continuing discontent.

Mr. Rollins said he planned to devote his time to helping the riding's PC association in any way they saw fit.

"I haven't any intentions of a short term. I'm going to carry out my work, if my health will permit, to the best of my ability."

"Then I will be able to go fishing with some of my friends and catch up on some of the days fishing that I have not been able to do."

Association past President Ken Smith, taking the platform after Mr. Rollins, said the announcement had come as a complete surprise to him.

"I feel that we're losing a great man, a great member," he said. "He had worked so hard for Hastings County that I thought we should call him 'Mr. Hastings.'"

He felt the MPP was mistaken in his statement about opposition in county council. Never once, he said, had a county councillor refused to sign his nomination papers during past elections.

"Everyone can change their mind, however," he told the audience. "I think it will be up to you and me to talk to Clarke to change his mind."

County expropriating land in Sidney

Hastings County council has moved to expropriate land in the Township of Sidney.

The county road department has found it impossible to reach agreement with all land owners on County Road 21, and the expropriation is necessary if the county is

Hastings County Council, at its December meeting:

Approved the sale of parts of lot 3, concession 2, in the Township of Huntingdon, to two property owners adjacent to County Road Number 8 (Moir Road). The sale to these owners, Donald Thompson and Harold Thompson, completes agreements taken with them at the time that portion of road was reconstructed.

Authorized the signing of an agreement with the Hastings County board of education for the lease of a former school in the town of Trenton for use as a day nursery.

Withdrew official county support of the Quinte Emergency Measures Organization which has been winding down its operations and has distributed much of its equipment.

Set January 13 and 14 as dates for the first sessions of the 1976 County Council. Since all councillors will launch the second year of two year terms January 1, there will be no new faces on the council.

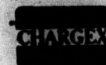

to continue plans for reconstruction of the road.

Application will thereby be made for approval to expropriate the land described as follows: Parts 4, 5, 7, 12, 13, 14, 15, 16 and 18, as shown on registered plan 21R-1676 registered in the registry office of the County of Hastings.

Why Serve Turkey?

Because it's Christmas time; it tastes good served hot or cold; it gives good food value for the money; it's low in fat, easily digested and easy to cook.

Poultry is a good meat choice year round. It contains protein; vitamin B for healthy nerves, skin and eyes; and iron for blood building.

Allow 1/2 to one pound turkey weight per person for a bird under 12 pounds, and 3/4 to 1 1/2 pound per person if turkey is over 12 pounds. An eight pound bird will feed about ten people. If leftovers are desired, plan for 1/4 pound per person.

It may be wiser to buy two birds when feeding over twelve people because then you obtain more "white" meat, which many of your guests may prefer.

Mrs. Green is available to talk "shopping" to groups. Please call (416) 298-8533, or write - 300 The East Mall, Scarborough, Ontario M1B 6B6.

Samantha READS YOUR STARS

ARIES (3/21-4/19) Think about and work on long-range plans. New ideas are in your subconscious. Dig them out. Trust your intuition to point the way. Keep on your toes or week could end with a bankbook deficit.

TAURUS (4/20-5/20): A chance meeting brings a spot of luck. You may feel that everyone but you knows the right answer. Tain't necessarily so. Buck up the ol' Taurus ego and keep going. Follow your heart; its instincts may be truer right now than your head.

GEMINI (5/21-6/20): No star-gazing this week, Gem. The best way to avoid mischief is to keep your mind strictly on your own work. A midweek break with friends would prove interesting. Week closes with haste.

MOONCHILD (6/21-7/22): Week begins nicely with romantic activity a strong possibility. The urge to take a gamble may be tempting, but this isn't the time to indulge it. Keep your actions above board now, or the recognition you get will be unwelcome. Week ends with a social upwelling.

LEO (7/23-8/22): Any help you need is there is you can ask. That "if" is mighty important, Leo. A different perspective can help you see more clearly. You don't humble yourself by asking, you show how big you really are.

VIRGO (8/23-9/22): Communication is this week's password, Virgo. Bouncing your ideas around with others will do more to make them gel than you can do alone. This will be good for someone else, too. Then, a message and a smiling end.

LIBRA (9/23-10/23): A well-deserved financial gain could start your week. Then, be prepared for a confrontation with an aggressive type. Take a firm position and hold it. Week buzzes to a finish.

SCORPIO (10/24-11/22): A perky opener, Scorpio, with romance adding extra flavor to your brew. Then, a fresh idea adds sweetness; hard work stirs it in. Finally, save some cream to give a visiting cat. She'll purr instead of hiss.

SAGITTARIUS (11/23-12/21): Affairs at home accented as week begins. Look for several callers and maybe an unusual event. Then, romance gets the go-ahead, but be ready for conflicting emotions. Later, a few loose ends to tie up, and a few knots to untie.

CAPRICORN (12/22-1/19): Busy communication lines start your week noisily. Expect a strange call and possibly one asking for or offering aid. Look for a delay at home because of someone's schedule. A loved one may have a small problem; bear with her. Week closes happily.

AQUARIUS (1/20-2/19): Normal routine for most of the week, Aquarius. Do take care of any bills and go over your budget. Midweek brings errands to run. Prolonged phone conversations could develop difficulties, so make 'em brief. Latter days are quite lively.

PISCES (2/20-3/20): Week begins with zip. You may change your mind rather suddenly about a certain matter. The repair of an important item may be necessary. Don't put it off. Later, you may take a stubborn stand — be sure you're doing it for the right reasons.

Bill Smiley

"And cousins by the dozens"

By BILL SMILEY

"AND cousins by the dozens" That line from an old nursery rhyme or something seemed to be the theme when the Thomson clan held a family reunion at the old homestead, on a beautiful day in October.

There was a lot of kissing and hugging (we're an emotional family.) I was bussed and squeezed by a lot of middle-aged ladies and made up for it by heartily bussing and squeezing a number of extremely bus-sable and squeezeable nieces and daughters of nephews and various other attractive young hussies drifting about.

Most people have been sucked in, at one time or another, to a family reunion. It can be a ghastly experience, or a joyful one. This one fell into the latter category.

There was no mourning for the dead, only a great sense of being alive, and the pleasure of knowing that all these people, of all shapes and ages, were blood kin, all sprung from the fertile loins of one Walter Thomson, an Irishman of Scottish extraction, away back there in the 19th century.

Walter was prolific, and his sons were no slouches either. One of them, Mountain Jack Thomson, a sometime scourge of the Ottawa Valley during the great lumbering days, had about 10 children by his first wife, and when she died, married her sister and produced another large family.

Another, William, after whom I was named, sired 10 children. And there was the last of them, my uncle Ivan, 84, dancing around like a 30-year-old, welcoming all of us with something close to tears of joy in his eyes.

He's as handsome as always, slim as a boy, blue eyes sparkling, wit bubbling, striding about as though he'd never heard of arthritis. A man of many talents, a conservationist who plants trees lovingly, a traveler whose next letter might be from New Zealand, an artist in working with wood, a deep lover of nature and people, and a concerned and loving patriarch of the clan.

It is my casual boast, and my brothers' and sisters' grudging concession, that I "take after him." I wish I did. He remarried at 80 and has a three-year-old grandson. Figure that one out. No way can I match that.

He showed me the room in the old brick homestead, a fine house on a steep bluff overlooking the Ottawa River, the bedrooms in which my grandmother bore the 10 children. No wonder she died at an age when most modern women are just getting their second wind, or their second husband.

He showed me a picture of his family at the dining table. At the head, my grandfather, white hair and huge curly beard. On one side, four strapping sons. On the other side, three daughters and two little sons, and an empty place set for Emerson, a maverick who was in the Klondyke when the photo was taken. How would you like to try to feed a mob like Ron is a handsome, healthy, eight-year-old with boundless energy. He plays any game that's going, with baseball and hockey his favorites.

Ron has dark eyes, wavy brown hair and fair skin. He is doing well in grade three and is considered average or better in ability.

He prefers to play with younger children because he likes to be the boss and youngsters his own age sometimes resent that attitude.

Ron needs young active parents who will want to spend a lot of time with him. There should be no older brothers in his adopting family.

To inquire about adopting Ron, please write to Today's Child, Ministry of Community and Social Services, Box 888, Station K, Toronto M4P 2H2. In your letter tell something of your present family and your way of life.

For general adoption information, contact your local Children's Aid Society.

that in these days? You'd be bankrupt in a week.

Another picture showed my Uncle Ivan as the sole surviving member of the Shawville Pontiacs, taken in the days when hockey was deadly serious but played for fun, and Shawville used to journey by sleigh to take on the stalwarts of Renfrew and Pembroke.

Perhaps sadly, there was no living to be made for huge families on the barren land of Calumet Island, and the tribe dispersed, some of the boys joining the great exodus to The West, the El Dorado of those days.

They were honest, hard-working, good-looking, gregarious people. But it wasn't enough. They established themselves and worked like slaves to build something. Then came the Depression.

And they suffered. Boy, how they suffered! All of Canada took it in the neck, but the prairie farmers took it in the neck and in the guts and in various other parts of the anatomy.

Most of my uncles went through The Great War. Many of their sons went through World War II. Some didn't come back.

Things picked up. Some of them even made a decent living before they died. Their children are moderately well off, middle-class people with warm hearts and no pretensions.

But they're fiercely proud of being Thomsons. (And don't ever try to spell it with a "p." We have no truck with the poor white trash Thomp-sons with a "p.")

And there we were, cousins by the dozens, on the lawn of the 103-year-old "homestead," looking out over the Ottawa River, where Grandfather had been a slide-master in the lumbering days, and Mountain Jack, his brother, had been a "scraper" known throughout the Valley for his fists and feet, in the days when cops were few and far between, and a man was a man, or else.

A gang had flown in from Saskatoon. Others had come from the States. It took me 15 hours driving to get there and back.

And I wouldn't have missed it for the world. I hope some of the young ones got the sense of pride and family that I did.

There wasn't a millionaire present. There wasn't a famous person present. But there they were, salt of the earth, backbone of Canada, a lively, loquacious, witty lot, and I was glad to be one of them.

Social footnote to West-erners. My first cousin, Jack Thomson, and his wife Louise, of Saskatoon, were not, respectively, in their underwear and nightgown, as they were last time I met them, a couple of years ago in Germany.

New car tax credit to expire on schedule

Arthur Meen, Minister of Revenue, in a letter to Members of the Legislature last week reminded them that the program for rebating retail sales tax on new cars is winding down and will expire December 31st, 1975, as originally announced.

Mr. Meen reviewed the criteria for receiving the rebate: "in order to qualify for rebate, a new automobile must be registered in the purchaser's name on or before December 31, 1975. No tax rebate will be made for vehicles registered after that date.

"New car buyers should be aware that qualification is determined by the Registration Date, not Date of Delivery", he added. "Therefore, cars that are purchased and registered by December 31st, but delivered after the new year, will qualify for the rebate."

Many names rumored as race to succeed Hastings-Peterboro Tory MPP begins

Who will succeed Clarke T. Rollins as the Progressive Conservative standard bearer in Hastings-Peterborough riding come the next provincial election?

The race was thrown wide open last week when Mr. Rollins, MPP for the riding, told fellow Conservatives at the Hastings-Peterborough Association's annual meeting in Madoc that he would not be seeking re-election.

But while new riding president Terry Pigden has said the association isn't looking for anybody yet, rumors are rampant about just who could be interested or drafted into the post.

Carl Bateman, business administrator of Hastings County, has been one name mentioned more prominently than others.

Anti-inflation legislation proving major problem area

The federal government's new anti-inflation legislation is proving to be the major problem area as the Hastings County Council negotiates collective agreements with two locals of the Canadian Union of Public Employees.

Local 1665 and 1133 represent the inside workers and the manor employees, and have their negotiation teams meeting with Warden William McCrea, personnel committee chairman Ken Smith, county administrator Carl Bateman and a negotiator from the firm of Curre, Coopers & Lybrand Ltd.

The personnel committee, in its report to the council, notes that since the province is telling the municipalities to work within the guidelines, the union "will no doubt resist these controls" and predicted "testing days ahead."

As economic conditions worsen, and inflation hits the home front even harder, more and more Canadians are beginning to realize our permissive society is going too far.

Far too many people sit back and collect pogy or welfare, instead of trying to earn an honest day's living.

Far too many people just put in time, instead of trying to be a productive employee.

And far too many people are just out for everything they can get, and the heck with everybody else.

The result - Canada's productivity is about the worst in the world.

Comparing us with others, dollar for dollar, we just cannot produce as much as other countries per dollar spent - and as such, the higher price of our products, compared to competitors, leaves far too many of our goods unsold in foreign markets.

In short, far too many people are doing their best to help put Canada down the drain, perhaps without even realizing the seriousness of the situation or the fact they are helping to do it.

THERE IS A GROWING awareness, however, that we must reverse the trend if Canada is to survive and prosper in the years ahead.

And that trend, gathering more momentum, not only in Canada but elsewhere, is starting to make its presence felt.

Ask Premier Dave Barrett and his just defeated NDP Government out in British Columbia.

They found life long members of the Liberal and Conservative parties breaking ranks with tradition, and lining up with Social Credit (a right wing non-socialist party) because they knew it was the only way to defeat the socialist regime.

But they also found the people voted FOR something - and not just against the NDP. They voted for a balanced budget (government spending at all levels has gone too far); they voted to crack-down on welfare cheats; they voted to encourage the opportunity for free enterprise; and perhaps, as incoming premier Bill Bennett hinted at, a return of the strap in the schools.

Clearly, it was a massive swing to the right.

And B.C.'s election result was no fluke! Similar results are being recorded world wide.

New Zealand and Australia have just tossed out socialist governments and indications are the U.K. will rid itself of its Labor government in favor of the Tories who under their new female leader are heading further to the right.

THERE IS A MESSAGE in all this for our political parties at Queen's Park and Parliament Hill.

More and more people are demanding a return to the old virtues; and one way or another, they intend to get them.

If one or more of our present day political parties swing to the right, they'll find a friendly reception among a great portion of the masses.

If they don't, they're paving the way for the creation of new parties that - like Social Credit did in B.C. - sap away traditional Liberal, Conservative and yes, even some NDP, support.

BOTH FEDERAL TORIES and provincial Liberals, heading into leadership races early in the new year, should have a sound look to leadership candidates professing rightest policies.

Such men, or women, could well lead them back into power - and put Ontario, and Canada, back on the road to decency and prosperity.

Many people will be looking for same come our next opportunity to mark ballots. We hope they find them.

WAS THIS YOU - The young four-footed animal who got a friendly pat on the head as a male Christian headed for church around 10:45 a.m. Sunday? You enjoyed the friendship gesture so much, you followed the gent right into church, only to find yourself getting a hasty exit.

P.S.

A final exam paper was being graded when the teacher, to her surprise, found a P.S. scribbled at the end of the test: "The views outlined on this exam are not necessarily those found in the textbook."

One foot in the furrow'

Letters are appreciated by Bob Trotter, Eldale Rd., Elmira, Ont. N3B 2C7

It is no accident that societies prospered after the Crusades as they provided tenure systems for farmers, thus creating initiatives.

And it is no accident that the great bulk of men's other advances have occurred in these same societies. It is no accident that health is best and life the easiest in societies that have encouraged a prosperous and respected agriculture.

It is no accident that garden plots in Russia produce out of all proportion to collectives. And finally, it is not surprising that poor health and hunger walk hand-in-hand in lands where land tenure is difficult, farming considered a second-class occupation and where farmer incentives are lacking.

History teaches that the five essentials for civilization — food, clothing, shelter, health and an incentive fostering government — are group dependent.

Do the foregoing words sound familiar? Regular readers of this column may have heard a distant bell ringing in their heads because five years ago, those words were quoted by this corner.

I'm convinced they are worth repeating. Other writers, better than I, have said it before: Every country needs a healthy agricultural community or that country just doesn't prosper.

It is refreshing, then, to have a few letters arrive after the mail strike agreeing with this column. One is from the Marmora-Brighton area in appreciation for the way "you stick up for farmers."

The letter quotes the front page of the paper as saying that the county's director of education received a $9,500 raise, up from $38,000 to $47,500 a year.

I'm sure a great many farmers in this province are getting along on less than the increase — the $9,500 — let alone receiving that kind of a salary.

"I wish some city people could try it (farming) for a year or two. They'd soon pipe down," the letter concludes.

Another letter from the Stratford-Walkerton area agreed with a column written some time ago about breeding co-operatives. A dairy farmer was quoted as saying that most good husbandmen could do their own insemination work without having to pay technicians who spend time galloping all over the country.

In the original column, I suggested that the breeding co-operatives would answer with alacrity and dignity. I even placed a small wager to that effect and said that few, if any farmers, would respond. As most readers know, Dr. R. J. "Rusty" McDonald, general manager of Western Ontario Breeders Inc. with headquarters at Woodstock, spent half a day reassuring me that technicians are necessary.

I said in that original column that few, if any, farmers would respond. Wonder of wonders, a letter did arrive agreeing that good breed men could do as good a job as the co-op technicians.

Not only that, one farmer who wanted to get in touch but couldn't wait for the mail strike to end called one morning about 7:35 to make two points: "I've watched them technicians walk behind a herd and they can do their job while talking about a hunting trip or last night's hockey game. They do it in 15 minutes. I think anybody could learn to do it in no time. Also, that malarkey about 24-hour service is bull. If you can get a technician into your place after 12:30 noon, I'll eat your hat."

That's what the man said and I respect his wish not to have his name mentioned because he has to deal with the breeding co-ops all the time.

I'm pleasantly surprised that he called. However, this column is not a forum for the pros and cons of breeding co-operatives. It is a forum for my opinion and those of others who have the urge to write or call.

I'm sure I haven't heard the last of the controversy between the breeding co-ops and the farmers but I'll wait for a week or two before adding fuel to the controversy.

The quote at the first of this column? It came from Louis A. McLean, one of North America's most respected researchers in agriculture. He made the statements in 1968 when he spoke to the Acadian Entomological Society meeting at St. John's West in Newfoundland.

His words ring even truer today than they did in 1968. Or why would Russia be scurrying around the world trying to buy wheat from Canadians and others gullible enough to sell it to them too cheap?

A close-hand look at Liberal leadership contenders

It's difficult to know if it's an evil omen or not but the Liberals officially opened their leadership campaign in Kitchener-Waterloo last week in the midst of an extensive power failure.

The six candidates didn't really shed much more light on the 100 people who turned up to share in what was basically a terribly boring meeting.

However, the race for the January 23-25 leadership convention is now officially on, although at this stage it is less of a race and more of a crawl with nobody really winning, just some losing points more slowly than others.

The Waterloo meeting was the first of a series of planned all-candidates meetings throughout the province and one can only hope they do something to improve the deadly format of tired speeches and silly questions.

Based on the opening meeting, one thing is already becoming clear -- the three MPPs in the contest are better equipped to lead that party than the two MPs.

At best, it looks like a contest between Hamilton MPP Stuart Smith, Ottawa MPP Albert Roy and London MPP David Peterson.

Windsor MP Mark MacGuigan, because that party has such a strong federal bias, also has to be considered a leading contender but he looks so much like a wind-up doll on the stage, his position could very easily deteriorate as he makes more public appearances.

The other MP, Larry Condon, is just barely above the fringe-candidate level.

He's so unknown his own buttons say "Larry Who," and his idea of social justice is to send unemployed people off to a public-works barn and make them fill up deep holes with dirt.

The other candidates, Michael Houlton, who attended the opening meeting, and Ted Culp, who didn't attend, are nip and tuck for last place. There's really no point commenting further on their candidacies. Now to the real contenders.

One can't help but wonder where MacGuigan gets the nerve to float in from Ottawa and attack this provincial government for excessive spending but that's what he's been doing--perhaps forgetting the performance of the government he represents in Ottawa.

No use going into great detail but suffice to say that at the same time the Ontario Government was freezing salaries of civil servants and actually cutting back on their numbers, the federal Liberals were charging merrily along increasing the civil service and upping their pay.

It was only after approving substantial wage hikes that Ottawa announced a pay cutback. And of course, if MacGuigan has forgotten about that, he could at least remember the saga of his own salary as an MP. Compare those 33 per cent wage hikes with Bill Davis' promise to keep MPP salaries steady for two years.

Smith, Peterson and Roy are all young, attractive Liberals with different styles. Considering the options, any of them would probably get by as leader.

Roy comes across better than the other two, and has the sense to talk about issues rather than waxing eloquently about obscure generalities.

Unfortunately, Roy seems to be still relying for some of his information on the party's research team which, during the recent election, proved itself highly incompetent.

Roy criticized the Conservatives for regional government but strayed from legitimate criticism to use false figures and accusations, a technique used extensively by the retiring leader, Bob Nixon, in the last campaign.

He said for example that he does not agree with Davis and Darcy McKeough's plan for "wall-to-wall" regional government, a fair comment, of course, if Davis and McKeough in fact planned that. But they don't and Roy knows it.

Smith is an impressive speaker, with heavy academic credentials, but a thin background in Ontario politics. He is more of a Trudeau Liberal than the others and a first-rate speaker, although he did get a bit carried away when he said "I guarantee... a Liberal government after the next election" if he is elected leader. He is not a humble man.

Like the other, Smith attacks the socialists and says the Liberals should re-assert themselves as the party of the little man. He repeats assumptions such as the Liberals have traditionally been the party of the immigrants, saying the party

Yes, Attorney General McMurtry is 'real'

Attorney General Roy McMurtry: He is intense, passionate, intelligent, articulate — and real.

You might have wondered about that. So many snappy headlines — hockey violence, drunk drivers, court reform — garnered in such a short time by a man who has barely warmed his seat in the Legislature could well make you suspicious. It seemed as though he was attorney-general before the votes were even counted. And now the pundits are talking about him as a possible future party leader should Davis retire.

He dismisses the latter. "I have absolutely no intention of considering the party leadership. I think that the demands made on the leader today are intolerable. The job consumes all of his time — even his weekends, and I reserve my weekends for my family. I guess it's the Irish in me but family life is important. And short of being in jail, I couldn't think of anything more miserable than being a member in Ottawa."

The headlines about matters concerning his department, however, are not exactly a fluke. While Roy McMurtry may be the new boy in the Legislature, there is nothing new about his concern for justice. "If I'd been made housing minister or something, it would be different, but after all I have been a lawyer for 18 years. If I came to the post 'armed for bear' it's because I've had years of exposure to the law and the courts."

Although he is quick to point out that most of those headlines resulted not from policy statements, but from replies to questions in the House, he is not altogether displeased about the resulting publicity. He has some misgivings that it may create unreal expectations but at the same time he knows that to accomplish his objective, he needs a large-scale public relations program that will convince, not only the public, but his cabinet colleagues, that his projects deserve priority.

"Let's face it. There's not much political sex appeal in building a new court house. If you build a road or an expressway, voters are going to use it. But no one anticipates that they will ever need a court house. I am determined to attract public attention to the problems that are part of the administration of justice in this province. And, at a time when the Ontario Government is very serious about cutting back expenses, I am going to have to convince the other cabinet ministers of the need before I can get any more money."

"Look, hockey violence is taking up about one per cent of my time, although to read the newspapers, you'd think it was more like 99 per cent. But, hockey is a sacred cow in this country so if you criticize, you get headlines. But I've haunted hockey arenas and I can tell you the problem is a real one. Anyone who denies it isn't being realistic. And most of the people whose opinions I respect agree with me. As for the rest — the Harold Ballards of this world — well, they're not relevant."

"Of course, hockey violence is only symptomatic of a deeper violence in our society, a violence that has its roots in a growing sense of alienation. The solutions to that alienation are beyond mere changes in law. But part of the alienation comes from the feeling that no one cares. And some of that is because of our failure to make the law specific and then to administer it with accuracy."

"We say 'life imprisonment' when that's not what we mean — we mean 20 years. I say it should be an indefinite sentence that is reviewed from time to time by psychiatrists and psychologists. But the public has a right to be protected. When 80 per cent of the people in the polls say they are in favor of capital punishment, what they really mean is they don't want dangerous people on the streets."

"I am against capital punishment. But I don't agree with the way the federal government has handled the capital punishment issue. They should change the law. Instead, they have permitted what is supposed to be cabinet discretion to become cabinet policy and they have made a mockery of the law. Every time we permit that to happen, we stimulate this feeling of alienation society's 'What does it matter? No one cares...' "

McMurtry cares, passionately. He is giving top administrative priority to acquiring more courtroom facilities, speeding up the process of justice, and backing up the law with tough penalties, whether it be drunk drivers or lounges that sell alcohol to minors. What will be required will be a tight-rope act of diplomacy as he weaves his way through federal and provincial jurisdictions, steps on lawyers' toes and moves into what until now has been hands-off, for judges only prerogatives.

Right off the bat, he is at odds with the federal government. "You can't have effective law enforcement without effective administration of justice. When Trudeau spoke about making sure there was enough money for effective law enforcement, he demonstrated a total lack of appreciation of the real problem. Law enforcement is only the front end of it, and unless you look at the back end of it, the efficiency of our courts and their capacity to process the law — well, that infuriates me. It reveals a total abysmal ignorance of the problem. If we allow the administration of justice to go the way it has in major cities, we're inviting exactly the same problems. If the government of Canada is serious, it won't play political games with law enforcement, it will make major allocations, capital grants."

"About 30 per cent of the courtroom time and space in this province is taken up with matters that are federal prosecutions. Yet the federal government doesn't contribute a bloody nickel to the cost of this. They make political hay by talking law and order, but they run for cover when it comes to cost-sharing. With crowded courts and long waiting periods before cases are processed, you create tremendous morale problems in the police forces and the proper administration of justice is impossible."

Roy McMurtry was brought up to recognize that there is a moral responsibility to use your talents for the good of the community. Even though he was a busy lawyer building a practice, a husband and the father of six children, he found time to take part in various community projects, including a term as president of the Big Brothers.

"Most lawyers", he says, "are too narrow. They don't really know what's going on in their communities. They're so wrapped up in their own practices, and in the law, that they have lost touch."

It was natural that his concept of community and public service would eventually embrace politics. He worked on Stanfield's campaign — I would do that again" — and when his college friend Bill Davis ran for the leadership, McMurtry made it clear that he would be included in any political future that he might have.

Why give up the back room power for the glaring public life of the politician? "Of course, it's a big decision, to give up a lucrative law practice for politics. It's not one that any wife would welcome but my wife recognized that I was restless, and she has been very supportive. My days start a little earlier, but I can still get home for dinner and be back for evening sittings or meetings... As for the back room power, that's mythology. Decisions are not made in the back room."

Some observers find the McMurtry campaign against both hockey violence and drunk drivers rather ironical. Some of them claim that McMurtry was, himself, the dirtiest hockey player in amateur sport, while others say he was one of the best men around to get you off if you were charged with a driving offence.

Roy McMurtry doesn't exactly bridle at those charges but he is clearly bored with hearing about them. "I was an aggressive hockey player, true, but not a dirty one. I never hit anyone over the head with a stick and I never deliberately tried to intimidate another player. And let me tell you, I've seen first hand, the terrible price that is paid, in injury, death and broken lives, because of driving and drinking. The problem is, of course, that it is perfectly legal to do both. It is legal to drink and it is legal to drive. But when the two are combined, tragedy results."

Those two issues may be the headline grabbers but McMurtry has many innovative projects in mind. He'd like to see Legal Aid employ a para-legal approach, where lawyers are involved in matters that will come before the courts but non-legal people are used to provide a whole range of information and assistance that lawyers can't cope with. Above all, he is determined that legal assistance will be more accessible and, hopefully, less expensive. Concerned about the number of teenagers who now drink at 16 because the legal age is 18, McMurtry says, "When I was in college, the legal age to drink was 21, so maybe you started at 18. Realistically, we can't put the drinking age back. But we can insist that there be identification with a photograph required and that there be stiff penalties, including loss of licence, for lounges that sell to minors."

All of these ideas just pour non-stop out of Roy McMurtry. He is much too concerned about getting their urgency across to want to take time to talk about Roy McMurtry the man. But then, the ideas are the man. He is a rare interview — someone who lives up to his advance billing, his own man, a human being who cares, who talks in a way that ordinary people can understand, possessor of that rare quality — common sense.

Dear Lord: Please don't let the exigencies of politics change him. We need people like him.

Tories try to close MPPs communications gap

MADOC - Two changes in the Ontario Progressive Conservative party will be coming into effect next year in an effort to bridge the communication gap between Queen's Park and the riding MPPs, the Hastings-Peterborough PC Association was told last week.

Bob Harris, PC party "fieldman" for Ontario, told the annual meeting of the organization that regional caucuses, originated last year, and a provincial polling organization would be created to improve the flow of information between the government and the ridings.

Fifteen regional caucuses, he said, would comprise groups of key people from each riding who would meet with other ridings from a similar economic or geographical region.

The representatives would be kept informed of government policy and the reasons behind any changes. Each riding would then be able to offer its own opinions on that policy.

At the end of the meeting a consensus would be reached on several of the main issues. The chairman of the caucus would be expected to return at the next meeting with government feedback or any requested information.

Mr. Harris said he felt the continuation of the caucuses and the breaching of the communication gap was the "most important single factor that we have got to do between now and the next election."

He said the provincial polling organization came as a result of the PCs being "out-organized" by the New Democratic Party in many ridings during the last election.

The organization would be available to assist the riding in any way to help establish local polling organizations.

"I think we can all use a little bit of help and if we've got a polling organization in place and we've got the people committed and involved, then we've got a big part of our organization for the election."

He said the organization would be geared to meet the specific requirements of each riding.

Madoc merchant head of area Conservatives

MADOC - Madoc merchant Terry Pigden was elected Wednesday night as the new president of the Hastings-Peterborough Progressive Conservative Association, defeating George Lyons, of Deseronto.

Terry Pigden

Both men are former vice presidents of the association.

The new secretary is Mrs. M. "Mike" Fraser, Tweed, who has been holding the office for the past few months. The new treasurer is Vers McMurray.

Vice presidents from Peterborough County are: Tom Flynn, Harvey township; Harold Clifford, Dummer township; Arnold Stevenson, reeve of Asphodel township; and Don Clarke, Havelock.

Vice presidents from Hastings County are: Jack McKenzie, Faraday township; Bob Leach, Bancroft; Bob Coveney, Tweed-Hungerford; Allan Bronson, Bancroft; Ross Parks, Thurlow township; Don Watson, Bancroft; Lena Murray, Stirling; Doreen Wilson, Bancroft; and Ted Wilson, Tyendinega.

For the first time the new slate of officers was elected at an annual meeting by the general membership of the riding association.

In past years a nominating committee had presented a proposed list of the new executive for acceptance.

"A year or so ago," past president Ken Smith told the audience, "we heard some talk that it was 'backroom politics' so we thought tonight we'd have them in the front room."

IN MEMORIAM

MINNIE - In loving memory of my dear son, Elmer, who passed away Dec. 16, 1962.

What would I give to clasp his hand,
His happy face to see,
To hear his voice and see his smile,
That meant so much to me.

Lovingly remembered by Mother, sister Lois, brother Jack and Junior.

REVOY - In loving memory of a dear husband and dad, Harry G., who passed away suddenly Dec. 23, 1970.
Little we thought as he walked out the door,
His dear voice we would hear no more.

Sadly missed by Reta, sons Steven, Bob and Family.

McFAUL - In loving memory of Robert who passed away Dec. 12, 1960.
Just when his days seemed brightest,
Just when his hopes seemed best,
God called him from amongst us,
To his Eternal Rest.
Sadly missed but God knows best.
Lovingly remembered by wife Effie and family.

SHAW - In loving memory of a dear mother and grandmother, Gladys. Softly in the shadows she heard a gentle call,
And taking the hand of Jesus,
She quietly left us all.

Sweet is her memory - dear is her name,
Close in our hearts,
She will always remain.
Dearly loved by Hilda, Ray and family.

SHAW - In loving memory of a dear mother, Gladys who passed away Dec. 13, 1974.

In our hearts your memory lingers,
Sweetly tender, fond and true,
There is not a day dear mother,
That we do not think of you.
Sadly missed by daughter Jean, Hilda and families.

BISHOP - In loving memory of a dear husband and father who passed away December 15th, 1972.
No length of time can dim the past,
Too many memories hold it fast.
Today, tomorrow, our whole lives through,
We'll always love and remember you.
Lovingly remembered by wife Edith, daughters Jean and Helen and Families.

The auctioneer is gone, but the bidding goes on

TORONTO - The gravelly voice of the auctioneer is gone, replaced instead by the clicking of a teletype machine, but the principle of bidding in an open market remains the rule in Ontario's complex pork marketing system.

Pork is a major part of the province's agricultural industry with between 40,000 and 50,000 pigs going to market every week. In terms of dollar values to primary producers, these pigs are worth a total of some $260 million a year, an average of $5 million a week.

Keeping track of up to 50,000 pigs per week and acting as a liaison between farmers and meat processing companies is a major responsibility, but the task is handled efficiently by the Ontario Pork Producers' Marketing Board, which has its head office in a small building on Dundas Street West in Toronto.

Although the board has many functions, its most important one is to operate a daily auction sale, getting the pigs from the farm operators to the meat processors at a keenly competitive price.

This is accomplished, usually within three or four hours, through the miracle of the teletype network. There are 46 market yards throughout the province. As hogs are collected there, information on the offerings available is fed to the central office in Toronto.

From the central marketing board office, the information is relayed again by teletype, to the major meat processing companies in the province, and buyers for the meat companies in turn place their bids using the teletype machines.

On delivery hogs are graded by government inspectors and for exceptional quality, the actual price may be as much as 12 percent higher than the original bid. A sub-par hog is discounted on a similar scale.

"Our system of marketing has proven so efficient that pork producers in other provinces have organized their sales similarly, and we have had visitors from many other parts of the world to study our operation," said Sid Fraleigh of Lambton County, chairman of the Pork Producers' Marketing Board.

Mr. Fraleigh noted that the board is not a government agency although operating under guidelines set down by the provincial government.

The board does not have the power to set prices, nor does it tell farm operators how many pigs they can produce. It is a free market, and prices are established on the auction system purely through the laws of supply and demand.

Another important function served by the marketing board involves consumer education. Through its information wing, the board reaches out to the consumer public, pointing out the value of the product, explaining the different cuts, and how to get top value from each cut through proper preparation.

The cost for these services is surprisingly reasonable, Mr. Fraleigh notes. Marketing, promotion, administration, and maintenance of the province-wide network of sales yards is covered by a levy that works out to about half of one cent per pound.

"Our streamlined marketing system alone more than justifies the cost of the board's total operation in terms of savings to the consumer," Mr. Fraleigh said.

"Without the board, the producer's costs would be considerably higher because he would have to spend so much time dealing directly with the processors. Similarly the processors would have to hire dozens of additional buyers to accomplish what we do with the teletypes. Bookkeeping would be far more complex. And all these additional costs would show up in the form of higher prices at the meat counters.

"Some consumers seem to think that marketing boards are costing them money," Mr. Fraleigh added. "Believe me, the Ontario Pork Producers' Marketing Board is saving them money every day."

"Cremation has become increasingly acceptable in Canada and elsewhere and is acknowledged as being sensible and dignified"

We invite inquiries about the new Highland Park Crematorium and Chapel and about cremation. Contact your local funeral director or ourselves for further information.

CARDS OF THANKS

I WOULD LIKE to express my sincere thanks to our families and friends for all their special kindnesses during my recent illness. Flowers, cards, messages and books were all so welcome. Belleville Hospital is tops in every way. A very special thanks to Drs. and nurses in Intensive Care, also to all on 7th floor and to Drs. Grant, Kuebler and Hayes. I also appreciated the care and friendliness at Queens Self Care unit and the friendly visits from Rev. Lombard, Rev. Peters and Rev. McLeod. -- Sincerely, Mabel Naylor.

THE FAMILY of the late Everett Heath take this means of expressing sincere gratitude to relatives, friends and neighbours for their many kindnesses, floral tributes and donations made in respect to our father's passing. To the nurses and staff on the seventh floor of Belleville General Hospital and to Dr. Bruce Cronk a "Special Thank You" for the care and attentiveness they accorded dad during his stay in hospital. Appreciation is also extended the Anglican Church Women of St. Mark's, Bonarlaw, for assisting the family by graciously providing the lunch which followed interment.

WHILE A PATIENT in Belleville hospital for a month and now convalescing at home I would like to express my appreciation to those who have called on me, made inquiries, sent cards and flowers and other gifts received. For food that has been brought in since I came home and "helping hands" in so many ways and thanks to the clergy. Reverend Lombard, Snelgrove, Belch and Stephenson for their calls and prayers. To Drs. Williamson Cronk, Hipwell and Clarks. To the kind and thoughtful nurses. A very Sincere Thank you to all. -- Rena McCoy.

CARDS OF THANKS

EARL REYNOLDS, parade chairman, wishes to thank his fellow Lion Members, the Norwood and District High School Band, H. & B-M Fire Dept., Police Dept., Havelock Village, parade judges (Don Clarke, Earl Gerrow and Bill Franklin), Murray Barton for the Christmas Music and to all individuals or groups that participated in our parade. And special thanks to Jean and Jack Wenzel for escorting Santa Claus to Havelock from the far North. A Merry Christmas to All.

I WOULD LIKE to express my sincere thanks to my friends and relatives for the lovely gifts, flowers and cards that I received while I was a patient in St. Joseph's Hospital. A special thank you to my neighbours, the Prestons and my Mother for all their help. -- Bud Farrell.

THERE IS no way we feel we can adequately thank all those who helped to make our 35th anniversary an event long to be remembered, by your cards and gifts, preparing the lunch, arranging the music and everything else, especially your presence. A special thank you to our children. -- Helen and Victor Watson.

THE ROTARY CLUB of Havelock wishes to thank all those involved in making this year's float in the Santa Claus Parade a success. An added feature this year was the distribution of candy canes and balloons. A special thank you goes to the Norwood High School Band, the carolers, the I.G.A., Joyce's Red & White, and Marten Manufacturing. Merry Christmas and Best Wishes for a Happy New Year, to all Havelock and District residents from the Havelock Rotary Club.

I WISH TO extend my thanks and appreciation to neighbours, friends, family and clergy for their visits, cards, gifts and many acts of kindness while I was a patient in Hospital. -- John Cronin.

I WOULD LIKE to express my heartfelt thanks to all the friends and neighbours for the cards, calls and kindness shown, while I was a patient in Campbellford Memorial Hospital. -- Clarence Scott.

MYRTLE AND STAN Payne wish to thank their friends and relatives for the kindness shown on the occasion of our marriage, also the friends on the occasion of the shower held at Louella West's and to the Thursday Night Bowling League and the Senior Citizens. -- Myrtle and Stan Payne.

CARDS OF THANKS

LET ME take this opportunity to express my appreciation for all cards, flowers, visits and enquiries extended to me as a patient of Campbellford Memorial Hospital and since returning home. My thanks too is extended to the nursing staff of the hospital, to Dr. Burgess and Dr. Mendum. A very special "Thank you" goes out to Shirley's parents and Sharon and Lou Boutilier for their much appreciated help with the children of our "big" family. From the depths of my being a special "thanks so much fellas" go to Eric and Pete Little, Isaac Anderson, George White, Wayne Parauick, Rob Watson, Cliff White, Norris Whitney, Lou Boutilier and last but not least my son Peter for help when constructing the roof on our building in Havelock. You'll never know what it meant to me.

I'm sorry that I have not as yet thanked Rev. Tilly Asbell for his visits and encouragement. His company is always enjoyable.

From our "kids" to Ann Little, thanks so much for the great pies and cookies. -- Merry Christmas everyone and a most Happy and prosperous New Year. -- Elden Patterson and Family.

THE FAMILY of the late Mrs. Russell Lewis would like to express their heartfelt thanks to relatives, friends and neighbours for floral tributes, cards, donations to the Heart, Gideon and Cancer Funds, to the ladies who brought food to the home and those who served it. Thanks to Dr. Derry, also Rev. Hawkes and Rev. Creaser for their comforting message, also to Jim Daniels for his efficient services. Thank you all again. -- The Lewis Family.

should regain that constituency, despite the fact, in Ontario provincial politics, the party has not traditionally held that constituency at all.

Peterson is clearly another major challenger for the job but one is struck by the fact he is attempting to be something or somebody which he isn't. He seems compelled to periodically use powerful rhetoric—he spoke for example of the "widening crescendo" of government spending, whatever that means—but the tough terminology somehow doesn't fit with his boyish face and soft-spoken, friendly manner.

Right now it would be difficult to pick a winner but stay tuned as the tension mounts.

Macdonald replacing Turner as Liberal heir apparent?

OTTAWA — (SF) — It has now been nearly three months since John Turner resigned as Minister of Finance. I can remember writing a column shortly after Turner's departure from the cabinet which said that the Liberal Party's Anglophobe heir apparent was virtually irreplaceable.

Well, Donald Macdonald has filled those shoes extremely well, at least in the Finance Department. Macdonald has immersed himself in learning the details needed for the cabinet's most taxing job, and he has come out swinging in the inflation battle with far more apparent sincerity of purpose than any other cabinet minister.

Politically, Macdonald has not yet replaced Turner within the party, but that, too, could come to pass in the days to come. It is Macdonald who has been the most believable in the series of road shows the cabinet has mounted to promote national restraint to beat inflation. Already he has won a reputation for allying himself with Treasury Board President Jean Chretien in slashing expensive government programs. Unfortunately, to date, their tug-of-war with the rest of the cabinet hasn't been too successful.

The Prime Minister lectures us about how we should stop pestering the government for expensive programs, and he tries to shift the blame for out of control spending onto the people. Increased government spending, according to Trudeau, is a reflection of public demands.

Well, I cannot recall any great public outcry demanding the Local Initiatives Program. Nor can I remember any public pressure for extensive changes in the unemployment insurance scheme, or for the creation of Information Canada.

Macdonald's attempts to win public cooperation for inflation fighting have a convincing ring to them because he leaves the impression that he, too, is willing to fight the battle.

His sincerity is coming across well: his ability to handle the job is being demonstrated with increasing strength. If he maintains the pace, his political image, too, will keep growing, and Macdonald will replace Turner as the heir apparent to the Liberal leadership.

"Progressing"

Construction of the Squires Creek Bridge on the Hastings-Northumberland County boundary in the third Concession of Rawdon Township "is progressing very well."

Gordon Wilman, chairman of the Hastings county council's roads and bridges committee, in a report tabled at the council's December meeting, said that under the contract the contractor is required to carry out all necessary work to open the new bridge to traffic before closing off construction for the winter months.

Mel-Ron Construction Limited of Whitby, Ont., is carrying out the work.

County council ups rent by 27 per cent

Provincial regulations restricting residential rent increases to no more than eight per cent don't apply to space rented for other uses.

And so Hastings County Council, at its December meeting, decided to hike rental fees charged other agencies using county owned space at Centennial Manor by about 27 per cent.

James Pollock, Reeve of Rawdon Township, and chairman of the county council's finance, property and promotional committee, told county council in his committee's report that the rent had not been increased since 1968.

"When Centennial Manor was built and opened, the county at their expense and without government subsidy built several rooms in the lower level which have since been rented to the health unit, the county social services department, the children's aid society, the provincial social services department and the former county assessment department.

"Rental at that time (1968) was established at $3.75 per square foot and $1. per square foot for storage space. We supply the heat, lighting and janitorial services. The offices are not air conditioned.

"No adjustment has been made in this rental fee since that time, and when the county assessment department ceased to function, the health unit ultimately took over this space."

The committee suggested the fees be hiked to $4.75 per square foot, with storage space remaining at $1., and the health unit now having to pay for the additional space they are now occupying.

The increased fees will up county revenues, per annum, from $5,028 to $9,617.

The agencies will be getting more than just increased rents, however.

The area "is now in need of redecorating and if the agencies agree to this rental, this work will be carried out during the winter months," the committee said.

County action helps Rollins

Hastings County council's action in turning 'thumbs down' on Clarke T. Rollins' offer to help get the county's official plan through Queen's Park red tape was "a definite contributing factor" to Mr. Rollins' announcement that he will not be seeking re-election as the Hastings-Peterborough MPP.

Mr. Rollins made the remark after word of his decision started spreading throughout the riding.

Provincial government officials came in for criticism as the county's planning committee complained of delays, and Mr. Rollins suggested he could arrange a meeting at the ministerial level on the issue.

The committee, however, decided to confer once more with civil servants.

Mr. Rollins said it was a clear indication it "wasn't necessary to have an elected representative involved. I was prepared to offer assistance to get the official plan finalized and it wasn't accepted."

The county's official plan was given third and final reading in June of 1974 following some four years of work and research by planning board, consultants and staff.

It was submitted to the Minister of Housing early in September of that year and circulated to various government agencies and departments.

Snow removal costs jump 29%

It's even costing more to get rid of snow these days - a lot more.

Hastings County council this month approved the tender of Fitzgibbon Construction for snow clearing of the two parking lots at the county administration buildings in the amount of $45. per clearing.

It was the lowest of three bids received and represents an increase of about 29 per cent over the $35. per clearing paid last year.

As of June 17, 1975, the county received from the minister 41 pages of suggested amendments and modifications.

The planning board reviewed these carefully and in September of this year reported to the council of their review of the minister's letter and the areas of disagreement.

These were forwarded to the ministry and at the same time Carl Bateman, county administrator, was directed to write directly to the minister expressing some dissatisfaction with the progress of the review process.

As of November 3 and 17, respectively, replies have been received from the minister and ministry staff.

County planning director Carney reviewed the staff comments and it appears that the basic areas of disagreement between the way the county wishes to plan its destiny and the way the staff of the ministry of housing sees it still remain.

Council decided to invite senior ministry officials to attend an immediate meeting of planning board to see if there are any areas of disagreement which can be resolved.

Following the meeting, it is hoped the warden, members of the planning board and staff may meet the minister directly in an attempt to resolve the issues.

Jupiter

Jupiter is the only source of high-energy particle radiation in the solar system besides the sun. A year on Jupiter (one revolution around the sun) lasts nearly 12 earth years. A day on Jupiter lasts less than 10 hours, though, because the planet rotates so swiftly.

Journey To Bethlehem

And it came to pass in those days, that there went out a decree from Caesar Augustus, that all the world should be taxed.

(And this taxing was first made when Cyrenius was governor of Syria.)

And all went to be taxed, every one into his own city. And Joseph also went up from Galilee, out of the city of Nazareth, into Judaea, unto the city of David, which is called Bethlehem: (because he was of the house and lineage of David:)

To be taxed with Mary his espoused wife, being great with child.

For And About Teenagers

WISH I COULD DATE HER.

THIS WEEK'S LETTER: "I know this girl, a classmate of mine, who I would love to take out. I can talk to her but I am usually too shy and nervous to say much of anything. What should I do next? Call her up on the telephone—which I am afraid to do? I want to know. What should I do next? I can talk a little to a girl, I'm shy, and I want to date her. Yours truly, Perplexed in the Poconos."

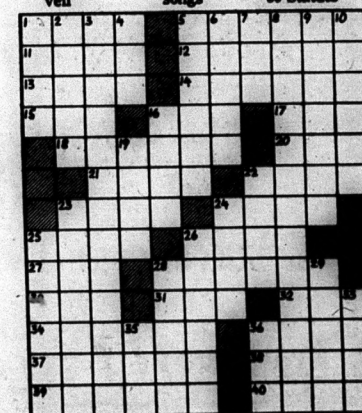

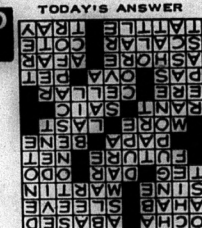

OUR REPLY: Basically all you have to do, is do what you do. Say what you feel like saying to her. Communicate your true feelings. Share with her the fact that you'd like to take her out. Simply walk up to her and say, "Would you like to go out with me?" You're only shy because you think you're shy. Pretend for a day that you're not shy—and make certain she gets your communication. Take responsibility for your own actions. Don't be afraid to utter some words you say you want to utter. Saying them couldn't cause as many problems as thinking about them seems to. Chances are she wants to go out with you as much as you say you want to go out with her. So, take the lead, and ask her out. Let all that other stuff be for awhile and do what you really want to do.

(Because of the volume of mail, requests for personal replies cannot be accommodated. Editorial panel selects for weekly use, letter which best represents questions and/or comments from readers. FOR AND ABOUT TEENAGERS, BOX 638, FRANKFORT, KY 40601.)

TODAY'S HEALTH

Choking on food cause of death

by David Woods

Choking on food is one of the commonest — and also one of the most easily preventable — causes of accidental death in North America.

The café coronary — so-called because the collapsing choke victim is often assumed to have suffered a heart attack — claims some 4,000 lives a year on this continent. Most could be avoided, with knowledge and quick action.

While there's agreement about the importance of speed, experts are divided on the best method of removing the obstruction from the windpipe. The traditional way has been to slap the victim's back, then place a finger in the person's throat to try to dislodge the food.

A newer and quicker method is Heimlich's manoeuvre — a technique developed by a Cincinnati surgeon, Dr. Henry J. Heimlich. Stand behind the victim and wrap your arms around his waist; make a fist with one hand and grab it with the other. Then place your fist above the victim's navel and below his rib cage, and press it forcefully into his abdomen with a quick upward thrust. This can be repeated several times, if necessary.

What Heimlich's manoeuvre does is to push air under pressure out of the lungs, and this forces the piece of food to be ejected, in the words of one person who has witnessed the technique, "like a cork from a champagne bottle."

How do you know whether someone's having a "café coronary" or a heart attack? Well, it's not infallibile, but, if the person is conscious and can't speak, it's almost certain he's choking than having a real coronary.

The important thing is not to delay, and above all not to let the person out of your sight. He must be given immediate, on-the-spot help followed by medical advice from a doctor.

Heimlich's manoeuvre, if applied immediately, offers a unique opportunity to reverse a fairly common, and potentially fatal, problem. The technique is an easy one to master, and everyone should be aware of it — just in case.

Of course, we've all, at one time or another, eaten something that's "gone down the wrong way," and the problem is usually solved by drinking water . . . or by coughing. The "café coronary" is caused by food being swallowed too fast, and in amounts that are too big, so that a piece becomes lodged in the windpipe.

The solution is simple. Don't bite off more than you can chew. Then chew thoroughly.

The "café coronary" is just about the most avoidable health problem around.

Special services mark Christmas

Special church services will mark the anniversary of the birth of Christ in four Madoc and area churches Christmas Eve and Christmas Day.

Christmas Eve Rev. J. H. Thompson, rector of the Anglican Parish of Madoc, will officiate at carol and candlelight services in St. Oswald's Church, Millbridge, at 7 p.m., and at St. Bartholomew's Church, Bannockburn, at 8:30 p.m. A carol and Holy Communion service will be conducted in St. John the Baptist Church, Madoc, at 10:30 p.m.

Only one service is scheduled for Christmas Day, a 10:30 a.m. Family Holy Communion service at St. John the Baptist.

Caroling with a procession to the crib will open celebrations at Sacred Heart of Mary R.C. Church at 11:30 p.m. Christmas Eve. It will be followed by Midnight Mass.

Rev. P. H. Murphy will celebrate another mass, Christmas Day at 10 a.m.

Chimney fire first alarm

The Madoc Village Volunteer Firemen received their first call since moving the location of their fire hall early last Thursday morning. At 2:36 a.m., the sound of the alarm summoned the firemen to the home of Mr. and Mrs. William Hay at 92 St. Lawrence Street, where there was a chimney fire. The fire was brought under control before any damage was done.

Remembering the past:

No tree for Christmas?

By Rev. John A. Lombard

One of my most memorable Christmases occurred just before or at the end of World War II when I was about six or seven years old. We were living in wartime housing in Windsor. For reasons I do not remember, perhaps my parents were short of money, my father waited until the week before Christmas to buy a Christmas tree.

I remember going with Dad as we visited the various Christmas tree lots to buy a tree, only to find that there were none left. I was very disappointed as any six or seven year old child would be at the prospect of not having a Christmas tree for Christmas.

The man across the street from us somehow found out about our plight, probably from me. I remember him coming in to the house, very determinedly, in no way doubting his purpose. He had a centre stick or pole of some kind, and an armful of Christmas tree boughs with him.

Without asking permission he put them down on the living room floor, got out a ball of twine and started lashing the boughs to the centre pole. He mumbled something like, "No child should be without a Christmas tree".

It looked rather crude as he worked on the imitation tree. I wondered whether or not it could ever look like a Christmas tree but it was better than none.

It did not take him very long - he was a no-nonsense type of worker - and soon our Christmas tree was finished and standing. I had to admit to myself that it looked a lot like a Christmas tree.

He left as abruptly as he had entered and we decorated it. When it was all decorated

I looked at it in wonder because it looked so real. The string tying the boughs was no longer noticeable; there was to me just a beautiful Christmas tree standing there of which I was very proud.

You know, that neighbor's act, in many ways, typifies the Spirit of Christmas, the Spirit of the Christ-Child.

When we look at ourselves we are like loose Christmas tree boughs without a centre pole. We certainly do not have the beauty of the Christmas tree. Then Jesus was born to gather all we centre-less people together and fasten us to a centre-pole, God the Father.

When we think about Jesus saying to us "Follow me!" our reaction is "What will that do for me?" but as we find ourselves fastened in by a no-nonsense Saviour we discover that we are looking more beautiful and not only that we are becoming better people. Hopefully we progress so much in Jesus Christ that people say about us that they would not want us in any other way. In Jesus Christ we become even more beautiful than the most beautiful of Christmas trees.

So in this Christmas season let us remember that Jesus can still and does still take loose, ungainly boughs such as us and attaches us to his Father so that as we respond in faith to his love we become happier, more beautiful people than we ever could have on our own.

That lashed-together Christmas tree represents the birth of Jesus, the Son of God, who came to earth to tie us to his Father, if we will let him. I hope and pray that we do indeed invite him to do so.

in Hawaii

Christmas was proclaimed a holiday in Hawii in 1862 by King Kamehameha IV. That same year the first candle-light service was held. Today the Nativity scene is much in evidence in Hawaiian stores and at church and civic gatherings. Christmas carols have been sung with great enthusiasm ever since 1823 when an American missionary, Reverend Hiram Bingham, translated "Joy to the World" for the Islanders.

EXTRA TREATS FOR YOUR HOLIDAY DINNER

HOLLY WREATH SALADS—Using chicory, make a wreath shape on individual salad plates. Scatter cherries or cranberries on chicory to look like holly.

CANDLE SALAD—Roll half a banana in colored sugar and set into a ring of pineapple. Take half of split unsalted almond, and stick into top of banana. The almond will actually burn for a minute or two when lit!

PEPPERMINT ORANGES—Roll fresh oranges gently on table top to soften, and cut small hole on the top of each one. Insert stick of peppermint candy. Small fry can suck the juice through the candy stick, making a double treat!

FROSTY SNOWBALL MOLD—Pour into a large mold, cranberry sauce that has been thickened with gelatin. When set remove from mold, onto salad greens, and decorate with tiny snowballs made of softened cream cheese.

Add our sincere wishes for peace, happiness, and prosperity to your blessings this Christmas. Serving you has been our pleasure.

Lighting the way

Although it has been said there was no candle to light the manger in the stable at Bethlehem, still from early times people have placed tapers in windows to light the way for the Christ Child and welcome Him.

In many countries, anyone coming to the door at Christmastime was invited to enter. For some believed that Christ Himself would appear at a house with a candle, concealing his identity, to learn the extent of their kindness.

Candles have inspired men throughout the ages, linking their bright glow with the beauty of faith. Research by Hallmark candle expert John Sinjem reveals that candles were generally used at Christmastime as far back as the 11th Century. Until the 18th Century they were made primarily from tallow or beeswax. The latter was preferred, as an emblem of Mary's purity, for wax is the product of virgin bees. Many persons believed that bees came from heaven, and it was not unusual for religious institutions to keep swarms of them. According to an early writer, the wax represented Christ's body; the wick, His soul; and the flame His divine nature.

Editorial... Decrying Yuletide commercialism

Decrying the commercialism of Christmas has become a popular conversational sport. The door is hardly shut on Thanksgiving before the big stores start ushering in Christmas. The decorations go up, sale fever sets in and the rush and the panic begin to build.

Take away the Santa Claus parade, the rivalry to have the best display of outdoor lights, the biggest turkey, the most lavish presents and what is there left of Christmas anymore?

The changing times have brought us a long way from the unsophisticated family fun which marked the yule season of 50 years ago when there were skating parties, taffy pulls, carolling and parlor games.

Sometimes it seems as though Christmas has degenerated into a grab and grasp season of overspending, over eating and credit buying, an excess of tasteless, frenetic ugliness.

But sometimes the decrying of commercialism is just a cop-out from the whole Christmas scene by those too uncaring or insensitive to explore and re-discover Christmas as the happy, sharing experience it was meant to be.

It's up to us how we celebrate Christmas.

In the warm spirit of good fellowship and this Christmas season, we offer our gratitude to our many friends.

New Year Egg Nog

For a crowd!
15 eggs
4 quarts of milk
2 quarts egg nog mix

½ pint whipping cream fifth of bourbon
½ pint light rum
Nutmeg for garnish

Begin with eggs at room temperature. Separate eggs. Whip egg yolks until very light. Add bourbon in a slow steady stream as eggs continue to beat. Beat mixture until creamy. Add eggnog mix and milk to egg yolk-bourbon mixture. Set aside. Beat egg whites until glossy peaks form. Fold whites into bourbon mixture, add rum and whipped cream. Just before serving, sprinkle nutmeg over all. If you don't have a very favorite recipe for egg-nog — do try this, it's very very good!

Christmas Gesture

Robert Louis Stevenson (1850-1894), author of "Treasure Island" and "Kidnapped," was born on November 13 but "gave" his birthday to a girl born on Christmas Day. Stevenson made a gift of his birthdate to a child named Annie H. Ide, to let her have "two joyous celebrations a year, with a proper birthday and a Merry Christmas."

Holly-Day Hum

Sprigs of holly should be placed in beehives at Christmas. So says an old English Christmas tradition. This custom stems from the legend that, at the Manger, bees gathered to hum a hymn of joy.

Some helpful hints on your favorite Christmas flowers

Poinsettia: Keep in full sun but out of drafts and keep soil moist. Water deeply until red bracts drop, then reduce watering and cut back. Feed every month and summer outdoors. Prune leggy shoots and bring indoors before first frost. From October 1st to Thanksgiving, keep in complete darkness from sunset to sunrise, to start flowers.

Azalea: Keep moist and cool. After flowers fade, cut them back a little. They can summer out-of-doors and should be fed monthly until the early fall.

Christmas Pepper: Keep in full sun with moist soil, but cool. Summer outdoors.

Cyclamen: Keep cool, and in full sun (55 degrees cooler). Keep soil moist and mist daily. Dry out as flowers fade. Rest in shade outdoors. Growth will be restored in late summer by watering.

Kalanchoe: Keep in full sun, allowing the soil to dry out between waterings. Cut back after flowering and rest in shade in summer with infrequent watering. To start regrowth in late summer, feed and move into full sun.

ST. NICHOLAS AND ESCORTS in Kuessnacht am Rigi, Central Switzerland. The figures of St. Nicholas, who on Dec. 6 goes around sometimes dressed like a venerable bishop and sometimes like a bogeyman, unite totally different characteristics. The Bishop of Myra in Asia Minor, legendary throughout Europe for his acts of charity and miraculous deeds, is represented as the saintly figure. But pre-Christian influences still appear in noisy processions and demand for tribute, characteristic of the saint's satellite. Photo courtesy Swiss National Tourist Office.

MADOC DAIRY

One of Dr. Seuss' stories is about how a nasty old Grinch stole Christmas.

Hydro has absolutely no intention of following in the Grinch's footsteps. But in an effort to use electricity wisely, it's appealing to the public not to turn on decorative lighting until after the dinner hour and turn the lighting off again before bedtime.

Hydro locations will set an example by not turning decorative lighting on before 7 p.m. and turning it off by midnight.

An appeal has been made to the municipal utilities to set a similar example. Energy can also be saved by using the relatively new midget lights, 100 of which are adequate for a 20-foot tree and use only 40 watts.

If you're buying new lights this year, make sure they have the CSA mark of approval. Manufacturers are anticipating a shortage of CSA-approved lights and there may be a lot on the market which are not safety-approved.

Other recommendations are:

-Never use indoor lights outdoors.

-If the lights have been used before, examine them carefully and discard any set that has damaged sockets or worn insulation.

-Fasten strings of lights securely and position cords where they won't be a hazard.

1976 auto licence stickers now on sale

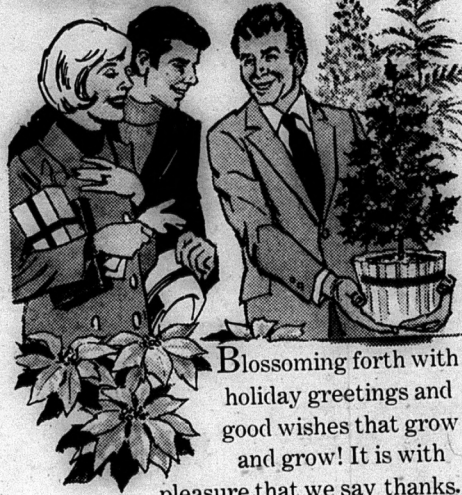

Ontario's Transportation and Communications Minister James Snow has announced that the 1976 licence renewal stickers for passenger cars and trailers went on sale December 1, and has urged motorists to purchase their renewal stickers early at any of the 296 license issuing offices throughout the province.

"The introduction of the licence sticker system has resulted in fewer long line-ups at license issuing offices as the deadline approaches," the Minister said.

"We hope motorists will purchase their stickers early again this year."

Christmas in Bethlehem

Bethlehem is a little city, and it does not take many people to crowd it; but, besides being the birthplace of Jesus, it is the birthplace of Israel's great warrior-king, David.

When the thoughts of the civilized world turn to Bethlehem, many wonder how the people there keep this greatest religious holiday. Very few American children can visit the little city, yet a number of travelers from America and Europe come to the Holy Land every year. Travelers want to be among those who crowd the streets on Christmas Day.

The Church of the Nativity has been built in Bethlehem. It is because of this that Christians in the "City of the Nativity," rejoice and proclaim "peace on earth" and "good will toward men."

A procession of bishops, priests and people form in the square in front of the church. Each is dressed in his most gorgeous robe. Christmas Day in Bethlehem is not the Christmas Day we know; it is full of religious ceremonies, and when these are over young and old go back to their accustomed life. Christmas to them is much the same as any other day of the year.

Who would not be glad to spend a Christmas eve and day where He who made the glad day possible was born?

Not all Christians mark Christ's birth on same day

It is customary in the United States to celebrate the birth of Jesus on December 25th, the date observed by the Roman Catholic Church and most Protestant denominations, but not all Christian faiths adhere to that date.

In Bethlehem, Christ's birthplace, the Roman celebration begins on Christmas Eve, December 24th, highlighted by the traditional Midnight Mass, and continues on Christmas Day. The Greek Orthodox Church, however, observes January 7 as Christmas Day, marking the occasion with similar ceremonies. January 18th and 19th are the dates for the observance in the Armenian Church.

The three faiths have their own churches and chapels within the Basilica of the Nativity in Bethlehem and each observes Christmas on its own day with services in the Grotto of the Nativity at the exact spot where, it is believed, Jesus was born.

The separate observances are bolstered by a long history which ecumenism may find it difficult to erase. For centuries the Churches disputed possession of the sanctuary, originally built by the Roman Emperor Constantine in 330, and precedence in worshipping there. The Greek Catholics took possession of the building in 1872. The Roman Catholics have shared it since the mid-19th century with the Greeks.

Madoc area man new Magazine reporter

Beginning in the New Year, Mr. David M. Handley of R.R. 4, Madoc, will be reporting on the week's events in the Madoc-Marmora area for CJBQ Sunday News Magazine. In order that he may be cognizant of all the "happenings" of the previous week, he would like the co-operation of all.

Any forthcoming major events, announcements of meetings, etc., could be included in his report. He hopes to visit the local council meetings whenever this is possible.

Although he is a relative newcomer to the area (he and his family moved up from Belleville 18 months ago), his wife's ancestors have lived in the area for well over a century as some of the names in her family tree will confirm - Kilpatrick, O'Neill, Martin, Kane and McGrath.

His wife, Marianne, will be assisting him in the writing of the reports and will also help in taking phone calls during the day - when he is teaching at B.C.I.V.S.

Dave is looking forward to serving the local communities by publicising all events of interest and intends to serve the community to the best of his ability.

Christmas bird feeder

Those of you who are kind to our fine, feathered friends all year 'round will want to add some extra holiday fare to your bird feeder. Cranberries and popcorn make a special treat as do, small boxes of suet and seed.

Decorating a small tree near your house will provide color for you, and nourishment for the birds. Here are a few suggestions for decorating your bird tree:

HOLIDAY DOUGHNUTS — Loop colored ribbon through the hole of a doughnut, and add a sprig of holly berry. Hang on tree with wire.

POPCORN STRINGS — String popcorn onto 20 to 24 inch lengths of heavy duty thread. Hang, looped, onto bird tree.

CRANBERRIES — Using wire, string cranberries and shape into a circle, leaving a length of wire at the end, to attach to the tree.

ORANGE HALVES — Cut oranges in half. Make three holes, equidistant, around the edge of each half, about 1/2" down from edge. Push ends of pipe cleaners through each hole, securing firmly at lower end. At top of pipe cleaners, twist all three ends together tightly. Using another pipe cleaner as a loop, attach to tree.

AS WE SEE IT

Christmas a time of hope, not shame

Six years ago some American clergymen, overwhelmed by the horror of the war in Vietnam, proposed a moratorium on Christmas.

They felt that in the aftermath of the My Lai massacre and the revelation of atrocities committed by U.S. soldiers, their country was not fit to celebrate Christmas, which represents peace and good will.

But has the world ever been fit for the celebration of Christmas? We would wait forever if we waited until we no longer perpetrated atrocities against one another, or until war and suffering vanished from our world.

Christmas should be a time of hope, not of shame.

We can't promise you any miracles this Christmas. But perhaps Christmas in itself is a sort of miracle. Just experiencing it somehow renews our trust in one another, renews our hopes for a better world and makes us feel we'll get through the winter after all.

Children in German concentration camps during World War II sang carols at Christmas. They did not propose a moratorium. They sang of peace and good will, while surrounded by unimaginable evil and facing suffering and death.

Their singing was in itself a miracle. The miracle of man that he never loses hope. And Christmas, a symbol of hope, should be celebrated as a miracle, not a moratorium.

If we do not sing of peace and good will we may never achieve them.

The Christmas theme must still be joy. And that is what we wish you - the joy of Christmas and the hope for a better world for us all.

Tips to Make Yule Brighter

The Christmas card made from a photograph of children or family group is highly popular as a means of bringing a sense of togetherness to relatives and friends when geographical separation makes the real thing impossible.

The best time for such pictures, naturally, is when presents are being opened and the family group is together, sharing and showing their joy in Christmas surprises.

A good second opportunity may be found when the family is gathered at the table for Christmas dinner.

TODAY'S HEALTH

Help your guests live for next year's party

by David Woods

So you're going to be the affable "ho ho" host again this Christmas? And everyone knows you mix a lethal martini, and some of last year's guests couldn't even remember where they put their cars. It's a miracle they got home at all.

They were lucky. Many drinking drivers never do make it home — especially at this time of year. But, as a host, you shouldn't trust to luck; rather, you should play an active part in ensuring your guests' safety.

How? By recognizing that the festive spirit doesn't all come out of a bottle.

Talk. Sing. Mingle with friends. Celebrate. Give. That's what the Christmas spirit ought to be about, and surely it doesn't take being boozed to the gills to achieve it.

Not that the host has to be Scrooge-like; but it's possible to offer alternatives to alcoholic beverages — tomato juice or perhaps, a non-alcoholic punch.

When it comes to pouring alcoholic beverages, you're not doing any favors by doling out random, generous amounts. Keep party drinks to measured one-ounce shots — and even reduce their size, while increasing the amount of mix, as the evening wears on.

At some point in the party, serve food or coffee, or both. Contrary to popular opinion, neither will sober up a drunk, but at least coffee or food will take him away from the booze . . . and allow his body to metabolize some of the alcohol it has consumed.

As a further inducement to this process, the good host can also engage in benign neglect of guests whose glasses appear constantly empty. And for the last hour before your guests are ready to leave, refrain from serving any alcoholic beverages.

If you need help in deciding who goes home under their own steam — anything more than two or three drinks will impair ability to handle a car safely. If you need reassurance that you're right to deter anyone who's had more than that amount . . . remember that the drinking driver and his car form a potentially suicidal — or homicidal — combination, and that more than half of all auto accidents in Ontario involve alcohol.

Madoc W.I. meets, home of Mrs. Hill

Mrs. Warren Hill was hostess for the Christmas meeting of Madoc Women's Institute on Friday afternoon, December 12th, at which President Mary Forestell presided. Twenty-four members and four visitors attended.

Mrs. Hazel Beatty led a delightful Christmas program with Miss Lamoine West as pianist. Participating in the program were Mrs. Lottie Bailey, Mrs. Sharon Phillips and Miss Margaret Wright. Roll Call was an exchange of Christmas gifts, which Santa distributed.

Mrs. Mary Pigden, leader of 4-H Girl's Club, was present. She spoke on Achievement Day and showed us a display of breads made by the girls.

Assisting Mrs. Hill with the lunch were Miss Ada Adams, Mrs. Gladys Nayler and Mrs. Delbert Carman.

IN MEMORIAM

McQUIGGE - In loving memory of a dear Mom & grandma, Helen McQuigge, who passed away Dec. 20th, 1968. Her courage and faith through life, Are still our strength through storm and strife, She gave us love to the fullest measure, Care, devotion, thoughts to treasure, She was the dearest mom God could give And in our hearts she will always live, We miss her more than anyone knows, As each day passes the emptiness grows, The tears we shed we'll wipe away, But in our hearts she will always stay, Lovingly remembered by her daughter Sharon, and sons Ross, Wayne, Robert, Elwood and families.

TROTTER - In loving memory of a dear husband, father and grandfather who passed away December 25, 1973. There's a family who misses him sadly, In the home where he used to be, There's a family who wanted to keep him But God willed it not to be, But as the rainbow is a promise Of a new and brighter dawn, So had God our Father promised That our Loved one will live on, In a place of light and beauty, That He has set aside, A house of many mansions, Where our Loved one does abide. Ever remembered by his wife, Sons and Daughters, Sons-in-law, Daughters-in-law, and grandchildren.

FLEMING - In loving memory of our dear mother, Mary E., who passed away on Dec. 17th, 1971, and our dear father, Richard, who passed away on April 19th, 1973. God knows how much we miss them, Never shall their memory fade, Loving thoughts shall ever wander, To the spot where they were laid. Lovingly remembered and sadly missed by Percy, Vada, Rita and George, Lloyd and Jean, Alice and Elmer and families.

MEEKS - In memory of our loved one Roselee, who passed away Dec. 26, 1970. Memories are treasures, No one can steal, Death is a heartache, nothing can heal. It happened so suddenly and you were gone, But we will remember no matter how long. Always remembered by her family.

SCOPE carrying out political action survey

This letter is intended to introduce SCOPE. The acronym SCOPE stands for Special Committee for Ongoing Political Education. SCOPE is a standing committee of the Ontario Public School Men Teachers' Federation at both the provincial and district (County) level.

SCOPE has developed four basic programs for Hastings. Presently SCOPE is carrying out a Political Action Survey in support of these programs. The initial phase of the survey will begin in Belleville but will soon be carried to each municipality of Hastings. Although we feel we know the proper people to contact to ensure the smooth execution of the Political Action Survey we may have missed someone. If you feel you have valuable input for us don't hesitate to contact us at SCOPE, P.O. Box 173, Trenton, Ont.

SCOPE will use community resources such as volunteers in the survey. If you wish to become involved as a SCOPE fieldworker contact us at 968-7640. SCOPE hopes that many more will become involved as participants in the survey. Don't be afraid to ask our callers for information. Most of all don't be afraid we're trying to sell you something. We're not.

Sincerely,
Wayne Wickson,
SCOPE chairman.

Community saddened at death of Charles Rose

The community was saddened at the death of Mr. Charles Rose, in his 93rd year, on December 6th, 1975.

Visitors with Mr. and Mrs. Sydney Rogers were Mr. and Mrs. Cecil Rogers and Shelly, Mr. and Mrs. Roy Rogers and Bonnie and Mr. and Mrs. John Seafeld and Kenny and Kim.

Mr. Randy Meeks spent the weekend with Mr. and Mrs. Norman Rogers and Crystal at Plainfield.

Deepest sympathy is extended to Mrs. Helen Warlick and her family on the death of her brother, Herman Marchel.

Congratulations to the following: Mr. and Mrs. Richard Rosenblath, on the birth of a daughter at Renfrew Victoria Hospital, another grandchild for Mr. and Mrs. Harry Meeks, Cloyne, and the first grandchild for Mr. and Mrs. James Rosenblath of R.R. 1, Cloyne.

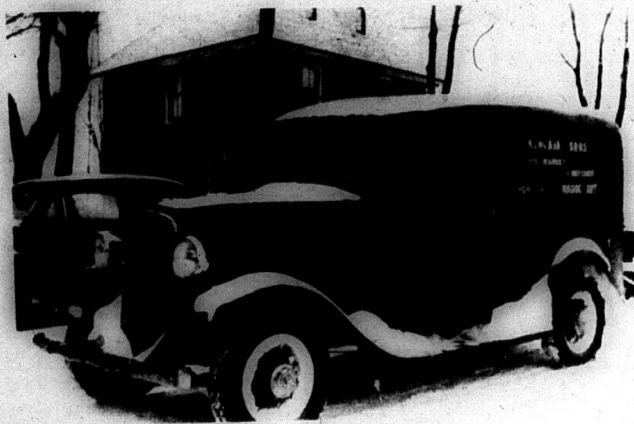

Cloyne; to Mr. and Mrs. Wayne Snider, on the birth of a daughter, a sister for Patricia and Kelly; to Mr. and Mrs. Roger Rosenblath of Denbigh on the birth of a son in Renfrew Victoria Hospital December 11th, 1975, the fifth grandchild for Mr. and Mrs. L. Rosenblath and the first grandchild for Mr. and Mrs. Robert Newmann.

Deepest sympathy is extended to the remaining family of the late Mrs. Charles Ball (nee Beatrice Holmes), of Vennachar, who passed away December 11, 1975. Mrs. Ball was well known and highly respected in the area.

Merry Christmas and a very Happy New Year to the Editors and Staff of the Madoc Review and all the readers from the R.R. 1, Cloyne correspondent.

A Special Christmas Message To Madoc And Area

1933 Chev delivery truck purchased with the business from Walter Whytock and son in 1945. We are pleased to have had the privilege of serving the Madoc and area for the last 30 years.

After over 30 years in business one is bound to realize just how much it means to have the friendship and confidence of people like you. Without your trust and support it would have been impossible to have obtained the growth that has been bestowed on us.

May we at this time convey Season's Greetings and a Sincere "Thank You"

Merry Christmas

The Child Is Born

And she brought forth her firstborn son, and wrapped him in swaddling clothes, and laid him in a manger: because there was no room for them in the inn.

And there were in the same country shepherds abiding in the field, keeping watch over their flock by night.

And, lo, the angel of the Lord came upon them, and the glory of the Lord shone round about them: and they were sore afraid.

And the angel said unto them, Fear not: for, behold, I bring you good tidings of great joy, which shall be to all people.

For unto you is born this day in the city of David a Saviour, which is Christ the Lord.

St. Luke 2: 7-11

Feasting integral part

Feasting is an integral part of the Christmas celebration, symbolizing not only rejoicing at the coming of Christ but, also, the spirit of sharing and brotherly love which is characteristic of the season. Like so many other aspects of Christmas, it is a blend of Christian and pre-Christian traditions, strongly influenced by local customs.

In Italy, the dishes of the Christmas feast vary widely depending on the region. In the north, for example, the meal may begin with cappelletti (little hats) stuffed with meat or tortellini, a sort of ravioli, followed by a main dish of meat, which may be anything from roast turkey with chestnut stuffing to zampone, a pork sausage packed in a pig's leg, smothered with lentils.

In the area around Rome, the traditional dish of Christmas eve is capitone, a large female eel, roasted, baked or fried, following a religious tradition which prescribes a meatless dinner on Christmas Eve, The Vigilia, or Christmas Vigil. In accordance with this tradition, the Roman fish market, held the night of December 23, is a peculiar feature of the Christmas observance.

In the south of Italy, the feasting usually begins with macaroni with meat and tomato sauce, followed by chicken or meat in jelly.

Particularly characteristic of Christmas feasting in all regions are sweet: fruitcakes of various types (panettone) and other sweet in which nuts and honey figure prominently.

The Christmas season coincides with the lengthening day and the beginning of the New Year, and from ancient times nuts have been a symbol of fertility and a promise of the next year's harvest also representing hope for increase in herds and flocks and the family as well. The use of honey, the most common sweetener in ancient Rome was a traditional way conveying the wish that the new year might be as sweet as the gift.

Christmas is a holiday like no other.

What other holiday finds us decorating our homes with trees, wreaths, candles, multi-colored lights and a dozen and one other things?

What other holiday finds us getting, and sending, so many greeting cards?

What other holiday finds us receiving, and giving, so many presents?

What other holiday finds us gorging ourselves with so many fine foods and drinks?

What other holiday finds us entertaining so many guests, and in turn, visiting so many others?

What other holiday is so expensive and tiring and yet gives so much pleasure?

THERE ISN'T any. Christmas is indeed a holiday like no other.

Yet, how many pause amid all the hustle-bustle activity to remember the real significance of the day? The birth of Jesus Christ!

And how many take a few moments to reflect on the real meaning of God's gift to mankind, "Peace On Earth, Goodwill Toward Man."

Many people will have a happy Christmas only because their fellow man has seen to it they will not be forgotten.

But millions of people, in Canada and around the world, will have no joy. Christmas, to them, will be like any other day. They'll be hungry...lonely...frustrated...or a combination of all three.

IF YOU haven't done your bit to help others during the past year, why not resolve to put it on the very top of your New Year's resolutions?

Remember - the real joy of Christmas, and indeed of life itself, is "what can I do for others?" and not "what can others do for me?"

This corner is usually one of few voices crying in the wilderness in support of farmers.

In fact, I have been chastized on a number of occasions for supporting farmers "even when they are wrong in their requests." I make no apologies about my affinity for farmers. They have been left sucking the hind teat too long in the economic pressures of this country.

But sometimes they are wrong.

They cannot have it both ways. Agriculturalists are the first to scream loud and long about good farmland being gobbled up by towns and cities, by power corridors and expressways, by rows and rows of ticky-tacky houses and asphalt-covered plazas and shopping centres.

I support them in this hue and cry. Only about five or six per cent of this great land mass called Canada is fit for agriculture and the preservation of prime farm land should be at the top of the list for forward-thinking people.

But let any developer come along with his pockets jingling and most farmers are waiting at the farm gate for them with their hands out.

Bill Thompson is an outspoken planner. He is presently chief planner for the Regional Municipality of Waterloo, an area in Ontario that has distinct problems for planners. It has three major cities within its boundaries. No other county in Ontario has that many although some of them have one city bigger than all three in Waterloo.

As a civic servant — hired by the region — he might be expected to keep his mouth shut on a lot of occasions. But Mr. Thompson is not one to sit back and let others do the talking for him. He has had his knuckles rapped many times by municipal — and provincial — politicians for saying too much. He never shies away from a battle. In fact, he may be too ready to jump into the fray and ride off in all directions at once.

He recently blasted farmers for being the cause of what he called "measles" development along rural highways and biways. He blames the helter-skelter, spot development in rural areas directly on farmers who are more than ready to sell an acre here and an acre there to somebody with a buck.

He's right.

I agree there are extenuating circumstances many times. Each case must be dealt with on its own merits, especially when a farmer wants a piece of land on which to retire or a farmer's son or daughter wants a piece of land on the home farm to build upon, especially if someone in the new home is going to help on the farm.

But too often the sale to a son or a father is just an excuse to build in the country. Which is just what brings about the measles development along rural roads and exactly what Mr. Thompson was talking about.

So, farmers cannot have it both ways. Either they are sincere in their cries about preserving farm land or they are hypocrites. Any hypocrisy is not needed in farm circles these days.

To be brutally frank, I do not know what I would do if someone came along tomorrow and offered me a big pile of cash for my couple of acres in the country. At the moment, we are producing only one crop of poor hay annually to feed our horses so the land would not be taken out of production.

But it would bring about that measles development deplored by Mr. Thompson.

And I do not believe that 26 acres of arable land is being lost every hour of every day throughout every year, the cry put forth by the New Democrats during the recent provincial election. The figures used by Stephen Lewis came from the 1973 report of the Ontario Federation of Agriculture to the provincial Cabinet.

A great loss takes place every year and maybe, just maybe, 26 acres of land went under the developers' hammer but all of those 26 acres was not arable land.

Unfortunately, much of the land causing Mr. Thompson's measles development across Ontario is arable land and farmers are as much to blame as any one.

Don't forget your gardening during the Yuletide rush Make time for your garden during the pre-Christmas rush, advises Ontario Ministry of Agriculture and Food horticulturist, R. F. Gomme. If you do, it will be ready for planting much sooner next spring.

"Tidy the edges of flower beds now," he suggests, "and prevent winter rodent damage by removing the dead leaves and plants mice might use for shelter. Add

The custom of kissing under the mistletoe has its origin in an old Scandinavian myth about Freya, the goddess of love and beauty.

The Twelve Days of Christmas are a carry-over from Roman times: the festivities of the Saturnalia were followed by Twelve Holy Days, which ended on January 1, called the Calends of January.

In the Philippines, Christmas is known as Santo Nino and children sing carols and parade through the streets behind a band.

them to a compost pile so that you will have a convenient source of humus next year."

Tie the boughs of evergreens and shrubs to prevent heavy snow from breaking them. Plastic netting or rope is ideal for this job.

To assure a good display of blooms next summer, keep dahlia tubers, gladiolus corms and tuberous begonias in a dry storage area where the temperature is about 40 degrees F.

"Of course, your garden need not be unoccupied in the winter," says Mr. Gomme. "You can attract birds to it." Repair bird feeders and purchase generous supplies of bird seed now, he suggests. Store the seed in plastic bags so that mice will not get it.

Festive season over, make your discarded Christmas tree into a bird feeding station by tying it to a pole driven into the ground. Mix seed into suet balls and tie them on the tree. This makes an appetizing meal for birds.

Mistletoe for Luck

Today, mistletoe is hung in doorways at holiday time. Kissing beneath it brings good luck to those fortunate enough to meet there.

In ancient times, it was believed that mistletoe had more control over luck, good and bad. A bit of mistletoe hung over a doorway was said to ward off evil.

A later belief, held that mistletoe boughs hung for Christmas had to be removed by Candlemas Eve (February 1), or each leaf would bring forth a goblin to harass the household for the rest of the year.

Homemade often more appreciated

As inflation eats away at budgets everywhere, homemade is the word for a less expensive more satisfying Christmas. Do-it-yourself Christmas tree decorations and greeting cards are great projects for the whole family to enjoy.

To make tree decorations, you need someone to cook, someone with a needle and thread and someone with scissors. The cook makes cookie shapes with a string baked into them to tie onto the tree.

The seamstress threads popcorn onto a very long piece of thread, to wrap around the tree, and the artist cuts out paper dolls and chains to hang on the branches.

Everybody gathers all their small colorful toys and trinkets to put up.

For a good Christmas card idea, cut a potato in half and draw a holiday design on one flat side. With a knife, cut around the design until it is raised on the potato. Press the design on an ink pad or paint it with poster paints and stamp on a postcard or construction paper. After the design dries they can be used as decorations or as greeting cards.

Cutting out Christmas illustrations is another favorite activity among children. If they look through newspapers and magazines and cut out different Christmas illustrations, such as Santa Claus, reindeer, Christmas trees, ornaments, snowflakes, they can collect a wide variety of pictures to use for various decorations.

Here are just some of the things that can be done with cutouts of such illustrations:

Make rectangular cardboard fold-down tables, bend them and paste one side to the artwork so that the cutouts can stand up on their own. Make a little display with figures.

Paste the artwork to the children's shopping bag, or glue them onto Christmas packages for added decoration.

Similarly they can be used to decorate the Christmas tree. Make a little hole on the top of the cutout and hang it by a bit of thread from the tree branches.

Burning the Yule Log

The burning of the Yule log is a custom handed down by the English who settled in America. On Christmas eve the log, set on the hearth, is kindled with the remains of the log from the previous year. Many superstitions surround the Yule log. It was thought by some to protect their home from evil spirits, others thought the ashes would help swollen glands! At Williamsburg Lodge, in Williamsburg, Virginia, the burning of the Yule log is still part of their traditional holiday celebration.

Custom came from Europe

Rich fruit cakes order of the day!

Editor's Quote Book

When a man does all that he can, though it succeeds not well, blame not him that did it. George Washington

The custom of making rich fruited cakes came to us from Europe. In those days, such cakes were indeed a delicacy that could not be afforded at other times of the year. Currants, raisins, dates, candied peels and spices are not luxury items to us, but to our ancestors they stood as a symbol of the wonderful riches of distant lands.

Holiday fruit cakes are always served with pride and spoken of as the finest food one can offer at Christmas. Although not difficult to make, fruitcakes require some special care in preparation and storage.

Fruitcakes range from the very dark ones containing brown sugar, molasses and many spices to those called light or golden, made with granulated sugar, light-colored fruit and no spices. For a perfect fruitcake, follow the recipe carefully. Soak the raisins and fruit overnight in juice if required.

Peel should be cut thin, currant and raisins left whole, nuts chopped coarsely and candied fruit left in large pieces. Mix the dried fruits such as figs, dates, apricots, raisins and nuts with a little of the flour in the recipe to keep them from sticking together and to make mixing easier.

Always use bright, shiny pans and line them with greased brown paper to keep the outer crust of the cake from getting too brown. To line square pans, cut paper the width of the pan but long enough to go down one side, across the bottom and up the other side. Round pans are best lined by cutting circles a little larger than the bottom and strips an inch deeper than the pan to stand around the sides. Fit the circles in the bottom, pressing so that they curve up a little over the seam. Use paper clips to hold paper in place while pouring the batter. To keep the cake from browning too soon or too much cover it with a heavy piece of greased brown paper. Never fill the pans more than three-quarters full.

Fruitcakes are always baked at a very low temperature 250 degrees F. to 275 degrees F. for a long period of time to allow heat to penetrate the heavy mixture. Before you start your cake, make sure the pans will fit in the oven and arrange the racks to allow free air circulation along the sides and among the pans. Preheat the oven to the required temperature.

Because of their excellent keeping quality, fruitcakes are often made weeks ahead of Christmas. Storage improves their flavor. The length of time required to age and mellow the cakes and the length of time they will keep depends on the amount and the kind of fruits and nuts used. For successful long storage, use a larger proportion of glazed fruit than raisins or currants.

Heavily fruited dark cakes should be made two to four months before serving. Dark cakes, with mostly raisins and nuts and very little glazed fruit, should be made two to four weeks before serving. Light fruit cakes blend flavors and mellow in two to three weeks.

To store a fruitcake allow it to cool, then wrap it in aluminum foil or plastic wrap and place it in an airtight container in a cool place. A fruitcake can also be frozen as it will age and mellow in the freezer. Cut the cake in halves or quarters so you can use just the amount you'll need at one time. Do not refreeze a fruitcake that has thawed as this spoils its texture. For added flavor and to insure its moist quality in storage, brush it from time to time with fruit juice, cider, rum or brandy. Or, saturate a cheesecloth and wrap it around the cake before overwrapping it tightly.

There are probably in our country as many different fruitcake recipes as there are households. Food Advisory Services, Agriculture Canada, suggests baking this "Light Fruitcake" for a delightful Christmas fare. It combines raisins, candied fruit, and desiccated coconut in a simple batter and needs only be made two to three weeks ahead. But the resulting cake is sure to become a family favorite, every year to be enjoyed under the brightly-lit tree.

No happy reunions...

Many people cannot look forward to happy reunions with their families at Christmas. These are the inmates of prisons, the elderly in nursing homes, the sick in hospitals and other institutions which The Salvation Army visits every Christmas to make sure that those who are so often forgotten, are remembered on this special day.

At this Festive Season of the Year, I extend to each and everyone in the Counties of Hastings and Peterborough, my most sincere wishes for a

Carving the Christmas turkey essential part of Yule

Carving the Christmas turkey is an essential part of the Christmas dinner, and if one knows how it is done it can be one of the more enjoyable aspects of the meal. The expert will say that the prime requisite for successful carving, is a very sharp thin bladed knife and a fork with a guard. It is worth the investment to buy a good knife.

The Poultry Products Institute of Canada

HE LIVED IN THE 300's A.D., AND LATER WAS MADE PATRON SAINT OF SEVERAL EUROPEAN COUNTRIES WHERE A SPECIAL HOLIDAY IN HIS HONOR IS HELD EACH DECEMBER 6th IN HOLLAND, THE NAME FOR HIM WAS "SINTERKLAAS" AND WHEN DUTCHMEN BROUGHT THE NAME TO AMERICA IT WAS EVENTUALLY CHANGED TO SANTA CLAUS.

suggests following these steps:

When using the fork, insert it halfway along the breast on the side of the turkey which is farthest from the carver and pointing toward the rear of the bird. This enables the carver to hold the bird firmly on the platter.

Remove the leg by cutting through skin between body and thigh and around the hip joint. Some carvers hold the end of the drumstick by the end of the bone using a napkin to keep their fingers from touching the hot turkey.

Place the leg on a plate and separate the upper and lower leg at the knee joint.

Hold the drumstick at a convenient angle and slice the meat off the bone in uniform slices.

Make a deep cut through the breast, parallel to the wing and as close to it as possible. Remove wing, if desired, cutting around the shoulder joint and dividing it into two sections to serve.

Slice the white meat beginning at the front half way down the breast. Cut thin slices down to the parallel cut made previously and the slices will fall away from the turkey. Continue carving until enough meat has been sliced for the first one or two servings. Place on hot plates, add dressing removed through an opening in the side, where the leg was removed.

Word 'Manger' Has 2 Meanings

The Bible tells us that the newly-born Christ-child was "wrapped in swaddling clothes and laid in a manger," a word derived from the French "mangeoir" or frame to hold animal feed. It is interesting that the other common English word for a cattle-feeder, crib, which is derived from the German krippe, also means a baby's bed.

Even the French word crèche, which is often used to describe the nativity scene displayed in churches, homes, and other places at Christmastime, has the double meaning of "mangeoir" and a public shelter for the care of infants.

MAGIC OF MAGI

Believed to have occult powers, the Wise Men were called Magi, the root of our words magic and magician.

Magi were held to be magicians or soothsayers. They were also ancient priests who travelled far away to many lands in order to establish a following.

Add a festive log!

Nothing like cheery fireplace

There is nothing like a fireplace with a brightly burning log fire to add cheery warmth to a cold winter day. If the fire log is manufactured (wax-wood), follow all the instructions on its wrapper then sit back, relax and enjoy the warm glow. It will burn for two or three hours without special attention.

Wax-wood firelogs, compressed sawdust and wax, give off as much heat as two or three hardwood logs. This intense heat must not be ignored. Only one log at a time should be burned. Two or more will increase the heat intensity beyond a safe limit and start a chimney fire. Never poke or break a burning log. It creates a greater burning surface and results in an intense heat flare-up. Leave the wrapper on the log and let it burn away.

Never add a wax-wood firelog to an already existing fire. Wait until the present fire is almost out then put in the new log and ignite it. Don't wait for the red ashes of the old fire to start the new one. The heat of the ashes may be hot enough to vaporize the new log before it ignites itself, filling the fireplace area and chimney flue with enough vapor to cause a serious explosion and possible serious fire.

Whether you use wax-wood logs or natural firewood, observe these basic safety precautions:

- Start with an open damper and clean flue.
- Use the right size of log for the fireplace -- small logs producing lower heat are acceptable for small, free-standing fireplaces but follow the instructions on the wrapper of the wax-wood log.

- Place the log at the back of the fireplace, preferably on a grate.

- To extinguish in an emergency, douse the fire with sand, water or chemical fire extinguisher. Do not break the log apart as this tends to spread the fire.

- Never leave children unattended near a fire.

Planned approach simplifies shopping

A planned approach to Christmas gifts will simplify your annual shopping spree, reports Consumers' Association of Canada. Make a list of the people for whom you intend to buy gifts and decide how much money you want to spend on each. Once you've compiled your list, stick to it! If you've decided to spend $10 on a gift for your father, increasing the amount to $15 will unbalance your budget and may mean scrimping on other gifts. Poor planning can result in an upset budget and in a stream of bills which will keep coming until well into the spring. CAG National Office is located at 8u01-251 Laurier Avenue West, Ottawa, Ontario, K1P 5Z7.

Some Christmas time facts from the past

Mistletoe was once considered a healing herb; and wearing it hung around the neck was believed to ward off disease.

Polish children receive their gifts not from Santa but from Mother Star, who wears a long white dress and veil, and her companion, Father Star.

In 1644 under Oliver Cromwell's regime, the observance of Christmas was forbidden by an act of Parliament.

AND IN THE MATTER OF A PROPOSED BY-LAW OF THE CORPORATION OF THE VILLAGE OF NORWOOD TO STOP UP AND CLOSE PART OF ELM STREET IN THE SAID VILLAGE

NOTICE IS HEREBY given, pursuant to Section 446 of The Municipal Act, that the Corporation of the Village of Norwood proposes to consider and, if deemed advisable, to pass at its regular meeting to be held at the Village Hall in Norwood on Monday, the fifth day of January 1976 at 7:30 o'clock in the evening, a By-law to stop up and close that part of Elm Street in the Village of Norwood more particularly described as follows:

ALL AND SINGULAR that certain parcel or tract of land and premises situate, lying and being in the Village of Norwood, in the County of Peterborough and the Province of Ontario, and being composed of a part of Elm Street opposite Block J as shown on Registered Plan Number 6 for the said Village; and which said parcel is more particularly described as follows:

BEARINGS herein are astronomic and are referred to the meridian through the north western angle of Lot Number 18 east of King Street and north of Elm Street; COMMENCING at a survey monument in the southern limit of said Block J distant 126.25 feet measured on a course south 72 degrees 03 minutes east from the south western angle thereof;

THENCE south 72 degrees 03 minutes east, along the said southern limit a distance of 773.75 feet to a survey monument;

THENCE south 18 degrees 05 minutes west, 66.0 feet to a survey monument in the southern limit of said Elm Street;

THENCE north 72 degrees 03 minutes west, along the said limit, a distance of 735.94 feet to a survey monument;

THENCE north 11 degrees 57 minutes west, 76.14 feet, more or less to the point of commencement.

AND TAKE further notice that before passing the said by-law at its meeting to be held at the time and place above mentioned, the Council of the Village of Norwood will then and there hear in person or by his counsel, solicitor or agent, any person who claims that his land will be prejudicially affected by the said by-law and who applies to be heard.

DATED AT THE Village of Norwood, in the County of Peterborough this 25th day of November 1975.

ANIMAL FEASTS

Ancient tradition has it that animals helped spread the joyous tidings of the Birth of Christ. Because of this, barnyard animals in many countries are served a special supper on Christmas eve.

Cattle kneel in their stalls at midnight, on Christmas eve, and for a moment have the power of speech. This belief, an old German legend, has been broadened to include all animals.

Christmas Trees For Ecology...

Many people believe that the cutting of trees for Christmas "robs" nature and destroys a portion of our forests each year, but the truth is that nearly three-quarters of such trees are raised specifically to be cut at Christmas-time. Most of the remainder are "thin-nings"—young trees cut in forests to improve the growth opportunities for other trees.

Forestry experts and nurserymen point out that young, growing trees give off more oxygen and absorb more carbon dioxide than mature ones, so that the cultivation of Christmas trees actually helps the ecology. In contrast, they say, the manufacture of artificial trees uses up valuable energy and natural resources, which are not recoverable.

After Christmas, discarded trees can be used in various ways to benefit the environment. Even if you live in a city, ecologists suggest, you can help by getting in touch with a local conservation organization or commercial nursery.

Not everyone puts special talents into their gifts

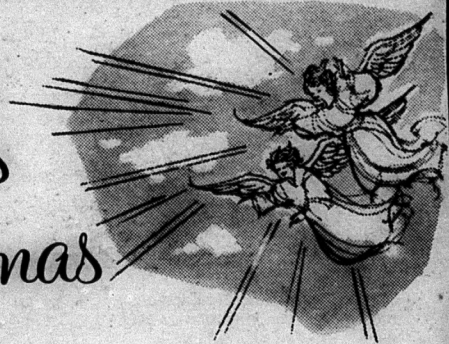

Every gift is appreciated at Christmas-time, but the idea of making it yourself usually merits special attention. Everyone buys gifts, but not everyone puts their special talents into doing something special.

Wherever your creative genius lies, why not use it to best advantage and have fun at the same time.

One popular idea is to fill attractive, reusable jars or decanters with home-made jams, jellies or preserves. Old fashioned candy tins make a great box for cookies and candies that you made yourself.

One can bake, sew, knit or use carpentry to make a well appreciated gift. There are many patterns available in hobby shops for things ranging from dolls to book racks.

Make sure your family isn't one of those left homeless because of a Christmas tree fire this year.

"Your tree will probably be cut at least a month before you buy it," says Ontario Ministry of Agriculture and Food horticulturist, J.K. Hughes. "It will dry even before you set it up. So, don't let your children persuade you to bring it in early and leave it in late. The longer you keep it inside, the more dried out it will get and the more of a fire hazards it will become."

Regular watering will keep the tree fragrant and green and will help prevent it from drying out quickly. Check its water supply every day, especially during the first few days in the house.

If your tree is frozen when you bring it in, let it thaw at least half an hour before decorating it. This will prevent its needles from falling as quickly.

Never decorate a Christmas tree with real candles. Check electric lights for short circuits before hanging them on the tree and keep trimmings that might ignite easily away from them. Keep the lights on for only short periods, and be sure to switch them off whenever you are leaving the house.

Greetings

Christmas brings warm hearts, happy voices and laughter, shared with those we hold most dear. We join the holiday merriment with cheery wishes and thanks to you and yours!

Reindeer flourish near Arctic Circle

Reindeer flourish in large numbers near the Arctic Circle in Europe, Asia and North America. Norway, Sweden, Finland, Russia and Canada are all places where herds of at least semi-domesticated reindeer are accustomed to working with man, particularly the Laplanders.

The reindeer provides a vital source of food, clothing, and even transportation for many peoples living on the edge of the arctic world. Among other things, reindeer milk is as rich as the cream of cow's milk, although available in much smaller quantities.

There are several species of reindeer in North America, where it is called the caribou, ranging from the woodland species, which is found in wild northern woods, through the barren ground caribou which is the slightly larger but close cousin of the European reindeer, to the early caribou, living north of the Arctic Circle. The present domesticated reindeer of Europe and Asia where it can be found in the single herds of up to 30,000 is a descendant of the barren ground species of the regions and has been successfully introduced into Alaska as a stock animal. These tame reindeer are gentle and easily handled.

Reindeer and caribou feed primarily on mosses and lichens in the subarctic regions, a type of fodder which takes time to replenish itself. As a result, reindeer and those who depend on them for a livelihood are nomadic and have no permanent home, since they must move at frequent intervals to find an adequate food supply.

Because of the Arctic habitat, near his North Pole headquarters reindeer prove an ideal means of transportation for Santa Claus, but he hardly can claim a first for using them; cave paintings and bones found in prehistoric sites in Europe are evidence that the reindeer has been more or less domesticated since the time of the cavemen. But Santa Claus might qualify as an early supporter of women's equality since the reindeer or caribou is unique among the deer family in that females as well as males grow antlers. Both sexes shed their antlers in the spring, like other deer.

ASS ESSENTIAL TO EVERY DOMAIN

Although the ass, such as the one ridden by Mary, is sometimes described as a lowly beast, fit for those of humble station, there is considerable evidence that the docile and useful ass was ridden by many rich and prestigious people as well as the poor. The Bible often mentions the ass as a common part of many households.

Curlers hold annual turkey bonspiel

The Madoc Curling Club held its annual turkey bonspiel Dec. 17.

Regular teams were dispensed with and each skip drew other members for his team.

In the first draw the team of Cyril Shaw, Cheryl Davidson and Jack Douglas came up with first place. Each of them received a turkey.

Second place was won by the team of Gerry Keller, Isobel Shaw, Bev Browning and Carol Holland. Each received a chicken.

Third place was won by the team of Raeburn Robinson, Dorothy Clarke, David Brett and Mark Robinson. Each received a bottle of wine.

In the second draw the team of Mel Caverly, Joyce Brownson, Dave Franks and Elvi Brownson came up with first place, receiving a turkey.

Second was the team of Tom Burnside, Ron Hyde and Lorne Matthews.

Third went to the team of Harold Harris, Don Moore, Glen Franks and Jane Stickwood.

Two draws for free curling for the year were made. The lucky members were Wynne Rollins and Walter Danford. A draw for a turkey was won by Dorothy Moore and a draw for a chicken was won by Dorothy Clarke.

Council warns of leaving vehicles

Huntingdon township council, at their December meeting, decided to place advertisements in the local newspapers of a bylaw which prohibits the abandoning of vehicles on township-maintained roads during the winter months.

The council also decided to place advertisements stating the township would not be responsible for damages or injuries caused by snow being deposited on township roadways from private driveways.

In other business at the meeting, council approved a payment of $40 to Perry Brownson as compensation for one lamb killed by dogs.

Harold Thompson was appointed as the representative from the township to the Moira River Conservation Authority for 1976.

Damage estimated at $800 in accident

An estimated $800 in damages resulted Monday, Dec. 29 from a collision between a car and a truck on Highway 62, north of Madoc near Kellar's Bridge.

Police said a southbound car, driven by Angelo Didomizio, 18, RR 4, Cobourg, collided with a half-ton truck driven by Hedley Shaw, 71, of Eldorado as the truck was attempting a left hand turn.

No injuries were reported in the accident.

New manager appointed for Cembal Publications

Joseph Cembal, president of Cembal Publications Ltd. and The Picton Gazette Publishing Company (1971) Limited, is pleased to announce the appointment of Keith Anderson as general manager of Cembal Publications Ltd.

The company publishes five area community newspapers - Madoc Review, Marmora Herald, Havelock Citizen, Hastings Star and Norwood Register.

Mr. Anderson will work out of the company's head office in Marmora, but will also be in the branch offices in Madoc, Havelock, Norwood and Hastings from time to time.

Office manager and accountant of The Picton Gazette since January of 1975, Mr. Anderson has an extensive background in sales and finance having served with the Bank of British Columbia and the Bank of Montreal.

Mr. Cembal announced additional appointments as follows:

Alan Capon, editor of The Picton Gazette and editor-in-chief of The Gazette, The Heritage (Amherstview) and the five papers published by Cembal Publications Ltd., to publisher of The Gazette. Mr. Capon will retain his editor-in-chief duties of the seven papers for the present time.

Ted Watson, sales manager of The Heritage, Amherstview, has been appointed general manager of The Heritage.

David Thompson, sales representative for

KEITH ANDERSON

Napanee Printing Service, has been named sales manager for Napanee.

Mr. Cembal, in making the announcements, said the associated companies were growing and that a new company, Cembal Communications Ltd., was being formed and would operate one of the most modern offset printing operations in Canada.

Further details of the new venture will be made known at a later date.

Madoc re-charges batteries downs Tweed in 9-4 game

The Madoc Bantams, playing on batteries re-charged after a defeat in Stirling, downed Tweed Friday night in a 9-4 contest.

Madoc scored the first goal by Lorry Kirkwood, assisted by Darrel Peters and Tom Sutton.

Tweed scored two goals and then Madoc came back with three more in the first period. Scorers were Tom Sutton, assisted by Wayne Willemsen and Larry Kirkwood; Wayne Willemsen assisted by Tom Sutton; and Tom Sutton assisted by Larry Kirkwood.

Tweed scored one goal in the second

Bantams lose home game to Stirling 8-1

The Madoc Bantams lost a home game to Stirling Thursday night.

With the game ending with a score of 8-1, the Madoc team held the Stirling club off until the last minute of play in the first period.

Madoc finally scored their only goal in the (eight-minute mark in the third period, with Wayne Willemsen the marksman assisted by Tom Sutton and Dan Moore.

The next game will be against Tweed Friday night.

period and Madoc scored again with Ken Danford taking the goal, assisted by Randy Love. Madoc scored two quick goals early in the third period by Tom Sutton assisted by Wayne Willemsen, and by Tom Preston assisted by Gary Johnston.

Tweed scored one goal in the third but Madoc finished with two more at the end of the period, one by Wayne Willemsen, assisted by Tom Sutton, and the other from Gary Johnston unassisted from centre ice at the 39-second mark into an empty net.

Christmas rush results in low turnout for Auxiliary

The Christmas rush last week resulted in a low turnout for the Madoc Mothers' Auxiliary meeting.

With three meetings to go before Millionaires' Night in March, the mothers are busy with final preparations.

The amount of money spent on minor hockey in Madoc for 1975 will be reported in the next month's meeting. Initial estimates have placed the amount at over $1,000.

The next meeting of the group will be held Jan. 5, 1976 at 7:30 p.m. at the Madoc Public School.

Ceremony takes church back 100 years

In the tradition of one hundred years ago, the old church at Hazzards Corner was filled once more at Christmas time for a candle lighting service.

The candle lighting, and the processional of 50 choir members and other participants, were most effective and impressive.

This being a joint service of the Queensboro-Eldorado Pastoral charge, the junior and senior choirs of each church participated.

Numbers sung were Star of the East, Go, Tell it on the Mountain, Sing Alleluia, A King is Born in Bethlehem, Mary's Little Boy Child, Sweet Jesus and Christmas Bell Carol with Gene Cassidy singing the solo.

There was also a short solo by Katherine Fleming and duets by Charline and Karen Sloane.

Candle lighters were Shawn Pack, Billie Wannamaker, Doug Blackburn, Mark Graham and Randy Wellair.

Offering receivers were Carl Chambers, Dean Johnson, Dayle Harris and Dana Creaser.

Scripture readers were Diana and Doreen Campbell, Walter Wannamaker, Heather Johnson and Brenda Stire.

Mr. Creaser's story, Led Home by a Christmas Candle, was emphasized by a lighted candle in a small window.

There was a prelude of Christmas music on organ and piano played by Katherine Fleming and Lorna Matthews.

Winnifred Ketcheson was pianist for the Eldorado choir.

Seniors meet for Christmas luncheon

Twenty members and friends of the Madoc and District Senior Citizens Club met in Trinity United Church Dec. 17 for luncheon. The tables were decorated with candles and ornaments.

Hostess was Mrs. Kay Peacock, with six 4-H girls as helpers. In appreciation each girl received a vase and a rose.

Also present were all the ministers and their wives, each bringing seasonal greetings.

The president, Jennie Broadworth, conducted a memorial service for the department members during the past five years since the club has been formed. A moment's silence was observed.

The president presented each member of the executive with a gift in appreciation of the help given her.

The church was given a cheque for $150 for the use of the church parlour.

An exchange of gifts was held and Christmas carols were sung. A poem, Happiness, was read by the president.

Sadie Yearwood made a presentation to Jennie Broadworth of a jewel case with a cameo set of pin, necklace and a ring in appreciation of her leadership for five years.

The next meeting of the club will be held Jan. 7, 1976.

RENT REVIEW

IMPORTANT NOTICE

If you have entered into a new lease or tenancy agreement which became effective between July 30 and December 31, 1975, inclusive, you should know about two key provisions contained in Ontario's new Residential Premises Rent Review Act. The maximum rent increase for such agreements cannot exceed eight per cent of the last full month's rent charged prior to August 1, 1975, unless the landlord obtains the approval of a rent review officer or the landlord and tenant agree on a higher rate of rent.

Should a landlord and tenant wish to agree on an increase in rent above the eight per cent guideline, during the period July 30 to December 31, 1975, they must complete a rent increase agreement, substantially in the form below, no later than January 17, 1976. Copies of such agreements should be retained by both parties. The form below, or a copy of it, may be used.

If, after having signed such a rent increase agreement, the tenant wishes to revoke the agreement, the tenant may do so within 30 days of the date of the agreement by completing a statement of revocation similar to the one at the bottom of the form below.

By signing a rent increase agreement, the tenant waives the right to dispute the increase in rent agreed upon during the above period and waives the right to collect a rebate of rent as provided for in the act other than the amount of rebate, if any, stated in the agreement.

Such a rent increase agreement does not apply to the rental rate for any period after December 31, 1975, and does not constitute a waiver of the tenant's right to appeal the amount of rent charged after that date. Nor does it relieve the landlord of his obligation to obtain the approval of a rent review officer to charge rent after that date that is more than eight per cent in excess of the rent charged in the last full month the premises were rented prior to August 1, 1975.

Future advertisements will outline where literature is available on Rent Review, the location of offices as they are opened and where forms will be available. Until the Rent Review mechanism is in place, please do not telephone. For additional copies of this form, write to Rent Review, Box 580, Postal Station F, Toronto, M4Y 2L8.

LOOKING BACK BY KAREN JONES

15 Years Ago

On December 24, 1960, Mr. and Mrs.
Chas. Warren celebrated their 42nd wedding anniversary. Mrs. Warren was formerly Mary Taylor, of Perth. They resided in the Perth area before coming to Madoc.

Also, on December 24, 1960, Mr. and Mrs. Tom Deline celebrated their 25th wedding anniversary.

Mr. and Mrs. Roy Holgate, of Eldorado, celebrated their 40th wedding anniversary on Dec. 25, 1960.

Winners of prizes at Kincaid Bros. in connection with the radio draw during the past month were Mrs. J.W. Crokery, Marmora, and Mrs. Clayton Tompkins, Marmora. Each won a large hamper of groceries. The six-foot Christmas stocking was won by Garry Empey, son of Mr. and Mrs. Wendell Empey, of Madoc.

This concludes "Looking Back" 15 years ago to 1960. Hope you have enjoyed it and I look forward to looking back with you in the new year to another 15 years ago.

47 Years Ago.

Our high school has succeeded in obtaining as commercial teacher Mr. J.E.
Hammond, a commercial specialist who has had some year's experience in teaching all the subjects of this department. We are informed that during the past year teachers with any commercial certificates are almost impossible to obtain. We feel therefore that our school is very fortunate in obtaining a specialist and one who occupies a high place in estimation of the inspiration and the esteem of the pupils and of the parents.

Mrs. B. Bronson, Madoc, announced the engagement of her eldest daughter, Ida
Victoria, of Stirling, to Mr. Wesley Hulin, Madoc, son of Mrs. Hulin and the late Wilson Hulin, Stirling. The marriage is to take place Dec. 29, 1928.

Recently and Tweed News and the Tweed Advocate officially announced the amalgamation of the two papers which will go into effect immediately.

This concludes "Looking Back" to 1928 -

For And About Teenagers

THIS WEEK'S LETTER:
"Hi! I'm 14 years old and there's this boy in my room at school. He's always making fun of me because I have pimples, and one time I said to him, 'I know what my problem is, do you know what your problem is?' He didn't answer, but he still makes fun of me. I ignore him, but he keeps it up. What should I do?"

OUR REPLY: Sounds to us like you've got the situation pretty well under control. It's obvious he's got a much bigger problem than you do. Since you know that, let him be. Don't even make it obvious that you're ignoring him. Look him in the eyes as he teases you, chances are he'll melt. The important thing is that he learn that his behavior is ridiculous. Since you know it is, help him to realize just how childish he's acting. Don't worry about any of the stupid things he says about your pimples. They'll go away, and maybe he will, too. Take responsibility for the situation, communicate what you really feel, and make certain he's clear on how you see the situation. The truth is, the guy likes you, and he doesn't know how to let you know—so, ridiculous as it sounds, he gives you a hard time instead.

Mul-lan It over...

Don Mullan

Getting out a weekly community newspaper is no easy task in itself.

But when even the elements turn against you...well...one just has to 'grin' and 'bear it'.

Such was the case with Keith Anderson, the newly appointed general manager of five weekly newspapers belonging to Cembal Publications.

The papers - Marmora Herald, Madoc Review, Havelock Citizen, Norwood Register and Hastings Star - have their head office in Marmora - and of course Mr. Anderson's office is there too.

He took over his new post, eager as a beaver; today he's wondering if he will even find a building to work in, come tomorrow.

It all started last week when one of the photo typesetting computers went on the blink and the back shop was cut down to about a third of its normal capacity. Keith spent most of the day talking to the computer's birthplace in Wilmington, Mass., in an effort to get it fixed. He eventually did, but it was only a sign of things to come.

About a third of the overhead fluorescent lights started flickering and most of them went completely out.

Work continued in the darkened quarters; but try as everyone might, full power just wasn't to be restored.

Later, after the 'pros' came on the job, the problem was discovered to be two-fold - there wasn't sufficient power getting into the building, and an aluminum wire had apparently snapped on the inside. Full lighting was soon restored.

The next day, everybody froze - but not quite to death. The furnace had decided to take its winter vacation, and try as we might, we just couldn't get it back.

Again, the 'pros' arrived, and discovered the reason the furnace wasn't going was because the sudden and sharp drop in the outdoor temperature had jellied the oil and it couldn't get through the line to the furnace.

A little heat from a blowtorch, and soon, the furnace was going again.

Not to be outdone by hydro and heating, the water system decided it must have some attention too.

And as the good folk worked overtime to get out the Yuletide editions one night, the water system summoned one and all with a very loud 'psssss' that could be heard throughout the building.

Running into the front office, Keith discovered water shooting all over everywhere. A pipe had literally split.

And since he really hadn't ordered an indoor swimming pool - although we're sure the staff would have liked one - the water was cut off at the source.

This in turn shut down the dark room, and with it the processing of pages, so a plumber had to be called if work was to progress.

Luckily, one was located who was able and willing to come out so late on such a dark, dreary, cold and miserable night, and eventually water was flowing again.

The telephone system, not to be outdone, decided it had better act up too, and the phone in the main shop suddenly stopped working.

Luckily, it was the only one with a union card, for the other three phones in the building decided to ignore the strike and stay on the job.

A Bell man arrived to convince the striker it should return to work, but it took a few twists of his tools for the stubborn fellow to get back.

Called to a front office phone, another employee sat on the desk top, and picked up the receiver. In the process of pulling his arm back, his elbow went through a window.

Luckily, he wasn't hurt.

But the window was in 'pane' to the point where it just wasn't all there anymore, and had to be taken to the window doctor at the hardware store for glass transfusion.

Meanwhile, things cooled down somewhat until a temporary covering was placed in the window.

Whether it was the added cool, or not, we don't know - but the now overworked furnace decided it was time to call a halt to things again - and guess who had to be summoned back?

IT TOOK QUITE a while for the fuel man to come back this time, because he had been up all night servicing others, and still was, but he eventually made it, and once again, the hot air started to flow.

Meanwhile, the employee who had executed the window break headed for Tweed to pick up the just published Marmora Herald - about a 30-minute trip in his nice shiny auto.

But when two hours later it was discovered he hadn't even shown up at Tweed's Quinte-Web Press, another vehicle was dispatched. Meanwhile, the staff worried...and worried...and worried!

Their worrying was all in vain, however, for Bob Wood really hadn't been lying in the ditch - the result of a slippery roads' accident.

Instead, he was trying to get his car going again, for the darn thing had decided to join the others in saying 'the heck with everything'.

FIGURING IT WAS BATTERY problems, the service centre promptly removed the auto's battery, breaking it in the process, and installed a new one.

Unfortunately, the car still didn't go...but since the old battery was now beyond use anyway, Bob - like it or not - had bought a new one.

Eventually it was discovered the problem was only one of a loose wire - and Bob was soon mobile again even though his wallet was short some $56.

THE STAFF got another cool reception the very next day - a female employee, the first to arrive at the office, promptly broke her key in the front door lock.

'Twas a sad affair all the way around - no wonder the key got so 'broke up' about it. Using the back door, the staffer managed to gain entrance only to discover that the furnace had gone off again during the night and the place was almost as cold inside as out.

Once again the fuel man responded, "Don't know what I'm going to do with you", he said - but again, a little blowtorch heat, and service was restored.

MR. ANDERSON figures everything that could happen has happened.

Or so he hopes. After all - the plant doesn't have any natural gas...does it?

Roy McMurtry lowering the boom

Attorney-General Roy McMurtry tabled in the Legislature a special report which recommends giving police the power to set up roadblocks to check drivers and arbitrarily suspend licences for 24 hours whenever they think the driver has had too much to drink.

The measures, which McMurtry admits would give police "a lot of discretionary power", will likely be introduced to the Legislature early in 1976. They are similar to laws already in practice in British Columbia and Alberta. McMurtry said he will urge the acceptance of many of the report's suggestions.

The report recommends a program where a police officer who "reasonably suspects" a driver has consumed enough drugs or alcohol to affect his physical or mental ability, could then take the driver's licence on-the-spot for a 24 hour period.

In addition it recommends a stop-check program, basically a selective police roadblock, where police could set up a roadblock anywhere and anytime, pull all cars to the shoulder of the road or curb lane, ask the driver to produce his driver's licence and proof of insurance and, either let him go, or, at the policeman's discretion, take away his licence for 24 hours.

McMurtry, saying, "we must be prepared to get tougher" on drinking drivers, said he personally supports the recommendations, even though there are "very serious civil liberties involved." He said the annual carnage on the roads from drinking drivers however makes this type of legislation necessary.

"I'm satisfied police will practice any such discretion wisely and fairly," he said, adding later however that there are bound to be "some abuses."

Changes in store for Hastings-Peterborough Liberals

Five regional chairmen will be appointed to organize and co-ordinate municipal Liberal associations in the Hastings-Peterborough Provincial riding.

Riding executives, meeting in Marmora this month, agreed with a suggestion by president Don Mullan that the riding be divided into five areas, each with a regional chairman.

"These people will be responsible for working with existing municipal Liberal associations, and organizing new ones where they do not presently exist," Mr. Mullan said.

The south-eastern region would consist of the townships of Grimsthorpe, Elzevir, Hungerford, Tyendinaga and Thurlow, along with the Village of Tweed and the Village of Deseronto.

The south-central region would contain the townships of Huntingdon, Rawdon, Madoc, Marmora, Tudor and Lake along with the Villages of Stirling, Madoc, Marmora and Deloro.

The south-western region would consist of the townships of Asphodel, Dummer, Belmont and Methuen, along with the Villages of Havelock and Norwood.

The north-eastern region would contain the townships of McClure, Wicklow, Bangor, Herschel, Monteagle, Carlow, Faraday, Dungannon, Mayo, Wollaston, Limerick and Cashel, along with the Village of Bancroft.

The north-western region would consist of the townships of Galway, Cavendish, Anstruther, Chandos, Harvey and Burleigh.

The regional chairmen are to be appointed at the executive's next meeting, and may be elected at future annual meetings.

OTTAWA — Parliament Hill is bang in the middle of the Christmas-New Year's recess, but that doesn't mean there is nothing going on around these chilly, graystoned buildings.

You won't find many cabinet ministers about — it's the annual search-for-the-sun season and many are down south — but things are hopping in the civil service as they prepare for the next session of Parliament.

Economics made most of the news out of Ottawa in 1975, and certainly 1976 promises to do exactly the same thing. Jean-Luc Pepin and the Anti-Inflation Review Board are promising to be as big a thorn in the government's side as was the Food Prices Review Board. M. Pepin has even been making noises about government spending, sounding very much like an ex-official auditor general, and that could prove embarrassing.

There will have to be cuts in government spending if the anti-inflation program is to work, and that in turn, will hit some of the government's favorite programs, schemes which have been extremely valuable politically.

Opportunities For Youth and the Local Initiatives Program have both drawn heavy fire from political critics, because there is more than a suspicion that funds for these programs have been allocated with strong emphasis on the politics of sponsors and applications. Take away OFY and LIP and you've removed considerable political leverage that perhaps won't overly concern the government, seeing that a national election is years away.

The civil servants who are preparing the mechanics of the government's program for the next session of Parliament are aware of the need for at least the appearance of restraint, and so that's what we'll hear when the new Throne Speech is delivered at the opening of Parliament.

Unfortunately, despite the call for restraint, much of the thinking is going to be channelled into devising new ways to collect tax dollars to fill a treasury which is not only empty but well on the deficit side. Last year governments at all levels in Canada spent more than half the nation's gross national product. The percentage will increase again this year.

OTTAWA and Small Business

By KENNETH McDONALD

At a recent meeting with Prime Minister Trudeau, the president of the Canadian Federation of Independent Business remarked that Canada's small business community would gladly trade the whole Department of Industry, Trade and Commerce, together with its palatially housed army of bureaucrats, for some sensible changes in the Unemployment Insurance Act.

Most of Ottawa's commercial costs go to support a small segment of the business community. For example, the main purpose of the Export Development Corporation is to serve as a sales finance company for Canadian branch plants of foreign-owned multi-nationals.

The fiscal and monetary policies which were designed for a market economy collapsed when conglomerates became powerful enough to set and maintain their own prices. Two sets of rules are needed now — one for the owner managers, the doers and risk-takers, and the other for the bureaucracies of big business, big-labour and big government.

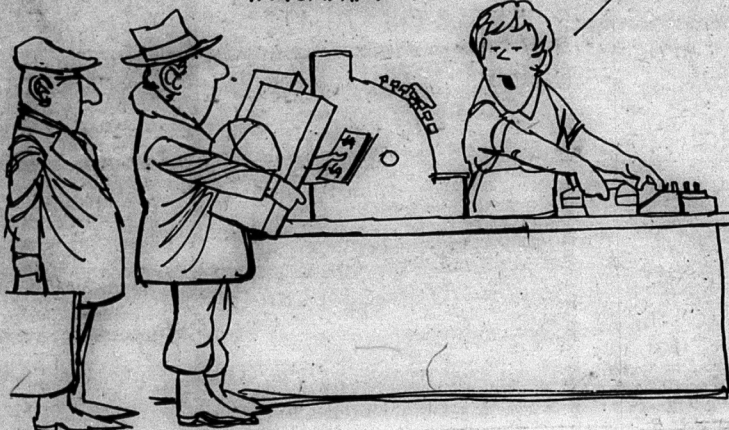

The first set of rules requires new tax policies to encourage entrepreneurship; new government purchasing policies with set-aside provisions for small business; guaranteed loan programs at favorable rates; and tough measures to maintain competition.

Such changes will strengthen and enlarge the competitive sector which employs more than half of all Canadians. By doing so they will increase small business activity and thus provide a more effective check on the private bureaucracies than Ottawa's attempts at regulation.

The pattern has been set by Japan, where the government has established five distinct finance institutions to meet the needs of small and medium enterprises. By joining together in cooperatives — of which there are already 50,000 — small firms gain the scale advantages of big business without sacrificing the driving force of their own entrepreneurship.

It pays. Small business creates new jobs at one tenth the cost of big business.

BILL SMILEY

This crazy world

By BILL SMILEY

It's a pretty cock-eyed world we live in these days. Everything my generation was brought up to respect and admire has become a subject of derision. Everything we were taught to despise has become an object of veneration. Or so it seems to these rather glassy eyes.

There's no denying it's an interesting time to be an inhabitant of the world. Just as it must have been an interesting time in about 600 A.D. to be a Roman citizen. Raging inflation, vandals at the gates, but free bread and a new smash hit at the Colosseum, bill changed every Thursday.

Perhaps the only thing for the sage or the cynic to do, in order to retain his sanity, is to stand on the sidelines and chuckle. The alternative is to stand on the sidelines and sob.

I prefer to chuckle, with only the occasional, quickly choked sob.

I'm chuckling with about the same amount of hilarity as Cassandra, the Trojan princess. She was given by the gods the gift of prophecy, with the proviso (the gods always had a catch in it) that nobody would ever believe her glimpses into the future.

Right now, I'm chuckling merrily about the Olympics. About two years ago, and again last year, I spelled it out, loud and clear, right in this very space. We were going to be taken as we have never been taken before.

Just recently, we entered Phase 2 of my predictions. That outstanding Canadian, that huge frog in the big puddle, Mayor Dropout of Montreal, was right on schedule.

He dropped out, and turned over a debt of about half a billion (not million, billion) dollars to an even bigger frog in an even bigger puddle, M. Bareassa. The name itself is prophetic; that's the way we're all going to wind up.

Phase 3 consists of M. Bareassa handing over the muddle to Pierre Fuddle-Duddle, the biggest frog in the biggest puddle of all.

And I don't think I have to tell you what Phase 4 consists of. If you can't see the handwriting on the wall, either you have a reading disability or you are not a taxpayer.

Let me assure my readers, my assistant department head, Miss Sauve, and my shuffleboard partner, Mr. Chenier, that the foregoing remarks are not racist. I am not even a Zionist.

I don't care whether I'm conned by a Jew or an Arab, a Chinaman or a Texan, a Presbyterian, Ukrainian or a black Catholic. All I care about is the fact that I'm being conned.

In fact, my liberal and unprejudiced views are known far and wide, with the exception of one Walter Somebody, a Jap in Alberta. One of my best friends in the air force was an American. One of my favorite students is an Australian. I mean, how broad-minded can you get!

Well, that dispensed with, let's turn to other examples of our crazy, mixed-up world. Everything is either backwards, or upside down.

A friend told me this. She is a highly qualified teacher, who quit to have some babies. Recently, she was offered a part-time job, teaching, and was interested, as her babies are past the stage where they require 28 hours of care a day.

Her potential employer told her: "We are told you are an excellent teacher. But there is one serious criticism of you. They say you are a disciplinarian."

Ten or 15 years ago, a principal who managed to bag a good teacher and a disciplinarian would have been shouting from the rooftops: "Hey, I got me a good disciplinarian." This is how principals talk. It would be the equivalent of a coach announcing he had just signed Johnny Rodgers or Bobby Orr.

Today it's a flaw. She didn't take the job, and the world is that much shabbier.

Still on education. It used to be something you took for one of two reasons. If you were rich, you went to college to become well rounded. If you were poor, you went to college so that you would someday be rich and able to send your kids to school to become well-rounded.

Not so today. Going to college has become a career. My son-in-law, after 20 years of education, is just starting a five-year course. He'll be a grandfather if and when he graduates.

Even closer to home, it's a crazy world. For the first time in her life, my wife has a weight problem. She's gaining, instead of losing. At the same time, she has acquired a long-slumbering passion for gourmet cooking.

With typical courage, she has tackled both problems simultaneously.

Turner says he won't run

It looks as though John Turner won't be a candidate for the leadership of the Liberal Party of Ontario.

Don Mullan, president of the Hastings-Peterborough Provincial Liberal Association, today announced that Mr. Turner has informed him that he is "sincerely committed to returning to private life."

Mr. Mullan sent a telegram to Mr. Turner earlier this month, urging him to seek the leadership.

In reply, Mr. Turner said: "Thank you for your telegram suggesting that I run for the leadership of our party in Ontario."

While I appreciate the force and goodwill of what you say, I am sincerely committed to returning to private life."

Mr. Mullan, one of the delegates to represent the Hastings-Peterborough riding at the leadership convention slated for Toronto in late January, says, "I don't know which candidate I'll support now."

If Mr. Turner runs, I'm definitely behind him.

But there are several other candidates among the group seeking the party leadership who I feel could make a good premier for the province, and I'll look them over pretty carefully before making up my mind."

Winding Up

A workman winds London's famed Big Ben clock three times a week with a half-horsepower electric motor. The job takes 40 minutes. Before electricity was introduced in 1913, two men labored five hours to complete each winding.

The truth of a matter sometimes is difficult to perceive through the lies of the beholder.

Fire destroys garage

MARMORA - A combination garage and steam bath owned by Mr. and Mrs. Leonard Paschie, of Mississauga, on the south side of Beaver Creek, was destroyed by fire Sunday evening.

Damage was estimated at $3,000. and was at least partially covered by insurance. In addition to the building, a number of bicycles and a trail bike were lost in the fire.

The family was spending a few days at their cottage during the holiday season and someone had started a fire in the steam bath in preparation for using it.

The fire was reported at 8:00 p.m. to Marmora Volunteer Fire Department by Mr. and Mrs. Vernon Burr, who live across the Creek from the Paschie cottage. The fire had made too much headway before the firemen arrived so they confined themselves to protecting nearby buildings. They did not leave the scene until 10:00 p.m.

Mr. and Mrs. Burr feel the Marmora Volunteer Fire Department should be commended for their prompt arrival on the scene. It was only a matter of minutes when they arrived after the alarm had been given.

PeeWee A's down Tweed

The Madoc PeeWee A's downed a team from Tweed 10-1 in a game Dec. 19.

In the first period Madoc scored four times, with marksmen Paul Mason, from Robert Empey; Bill Bateman, from Bryan Willemssen; Danny Brown, unassisted; and Robert Empey, unassisted.

The second period saw Madoc score only one goal, by Danny Preston from Scott Shaw.

In the third period Tweed scored their only goal of the night while Madoc picked up five more. Scorers were Danny Preston from Carl Johnston; Paul Mason unassisted; Randy Gray, from Bill Bateman; Darryl Love from Ian Johnston; and Paul Mason, unassisted.

In a game Dec. 20, the PeeWee A's were defeated 9-1 by a team from Frankford.

Madoc's only goal was scored in the first period by Randy Gray, assisted by Bill Bateman and Darryl Wood.

The next game will be played Friday, Jan. 2 with Madoc at Stirling for a 7 p.m. contest.

Ontario lowers the boom on education spending

The province lowered the boom on increased education spending and announced a freeze in new capital projects. Meeting with about 400 school board representatives from across the province, Premier William Davis, Treasurer Darcy McKeough and Education Minister Tom Wells all offered the same message — the days of wild spending are over. Property taxes will have to cover more of the burden of education costs, Wells said. Ontario is determined to cut spending, and any further money will have to come from local tax increases.

Davis asked school boards for "self-sacrifice" to help build "an affordable society."

McKeough, stressing the province will keep its overall spending increases to 10 per cent, warned of major mill rate increases next year and said the province is not going to bail out local councils and local school boards in 1976.

Wells said school board spending has increased by 61 per cent to $2.6 billion, during the last five years, while enrolment has actually dropped two per cent. Provincial grants to school boards jumped 92 per cent, or almost 20 per cent a year during that time.

This year, the province will increase its financial support to municipalities by just eight per cent, Wells said, an extra $230 million in total, and of that, school boards will get $151 million.

This means an increase per pupil of eight per cent, with an extra $80 per pupil at the elementary level, a maximum of $12,080 for each elementary pupil and $1,556 for each secondary school pupil.

Anything above that will not be eligible for provincial assistance. "The local mill rate will become a strong discipline on education spending," Wells cautioned.

In addition, capital projects will be cut by $35 million or $40 million, a program which means projects which hadn't been given final provincial approval before November 1, 1975, simply won't be built, at least not next year.

Wells added that money school boards save due to unpaid teacher's salaries because of a strike, such as the Toronto school board strike, "must be put into a special fund, and this fund must be used to reduce the mill rate level on local taxpayers next year."

"Thus, the taxpayer will receive a specific allowance for the school services denied him during a strike."

In a move to place even more pressure on school boards to cut costs, the province plans to insist on separate tax bills — one for city costs and one for education.

Reduced speed limits effective February 1

Ontario's reduced speed limits take effect next February 1, James Snow, minister of transportation and communications said. "I am assured the change over can be effected within two or three days," the minister told the Legislature.

During the change-over period speed will be enforced according to the posted limit. The government announced previously that it intended to reduce speed limits to 60 miles an hour from 70 on most of the major highways and to 50 miles an hour from 60 on other provincial highways.

Snow announced two exceptions to the government's original intentions.

On the Trans-Canada Highway 17 link between the Manitoba and Quebec borders, the speed limit for both passenger and commercial vehicles will be 55 miles an hour and the speed limit on Highway 11 from North Bay north and west to Rainy River will also be 55 miles an hour.

The changing of speed limit signs begins February 1, Snow said.

Old speed limits will remain in effect until the signs are changed.

And he lifted up his eyes on his disciples, and said:

Blessed are you poor for yours is the kingdom of God.

Blessed are you that hunger now for you shall be satisfied.

Blessed are you that weep now, for you shall laugh.

HARD - LINE STATEMENT

Smith tries to engineer a quick retreat

Correctional Services Minister John Smith tried to engineer a quick retreat from a hard-line statement that Ontario teen-agers should be forced to carry signed identity cards with their photos on them.

Smith, ridiculed by Opposition members and even some of his own cabinet colleagues, said he "meant to say" the identity cards would be optional and meant for 18-year-olds as an aid to beer store operators and people who work in bars. Smith had implied all teenagers should carry the cards and had also announced that parents who don't know where their children are should be prosecuted.

Opposition Leader Stephen Lewis, during a shouting match with Premier William Davis, called the proposals "hard-hat, reactionary, mindless."

Davis said Smith had identified a problem, but he didn't think his suggestions would be a solution to it.

Lewis said Davis' attempt to bail Smith out for his comments were "beneath his dignity." He said the suggestions don't really deserve a serious reply except that they were made by a cabinet minister and therefore are given a lot of authority. Lewis called Smith's proposals "stupid, totalitarian in content and destructive."

Smith, insisting that identity cards would be only for teenagers who want to drink and therefore would have proof of age, said he still thinks the suggestion is "very practical". As for arresting parents who don't know where their kids are, Smith said he was "flying a kite...you're trying to pull down my string."

Tories seeking funds, federal party coffers

The Progressive Conservatives are asking fellow Conservatives throughout the Hastings Federal Riding to contribute to the party "in one way or another."

Kel Kincaid, of Madoc, president of the Hastings Federal P.C. Association, says in a letter to Tories that "after the federal election last year, and the provincial election this year, all Conservatives have been asked to donate to the party."

Under the election expenses act, however, he notes, "there are generous rebates of Federal Income Tax available to those who wish to regularly contribute to the P.C. party."

Many people have asked if we intend to make use of the provisions of this act for the on-going needs of the party - we cannot think of any better way of having Mr. Trudeau's government help to contribute to our party."

Under the Act, 75 cents of every $1. donated to a registered political party, up to $100., will be returned by the federal government by way of a tax credit when it comes time to settle tax accounts. In other words, if a person donates $100. to a party, he may deduct $75. of it off his payable tax.

In amounts over the $100. mark, 50 per cent is similarly refunded.

Mr. Kincaid suggests to his fellow Tories that if they agree it's a good way for the PM to help contributions, to send in their cheques to Box 1256, Belleville.

DEATHS

Alexander John Park - Suddenly in Kingston General Hospital, December 24, 1975 - loved son of James and Violet Park, formerly from Toronto, dear brother of Eleanor (Mrs. H. Hayes) and Wallace, uncle of Jeff, Brad, Andrew and John. A memorial service was held on Friday, December 26, by Rev. John Peters, and music was played by Mrs. Barbara Sanderson. Interment will take place at a later date.

W. Frank, President, is pleased to announce the appointment of W.A. (Bill) Sutherland as Manager of the Belleville Office of W. Frank Real Estate Limited.

Mr. Sutherland, a graduate of Ontario Agricultural College, has a wide background in agribusiness and farm management. He is a native of Stirling, Ontario, and received his elementary education at Stirling High School.

For the past 5 years he has been a Senior Farm Sales consultant with W. Frank Real Estate Limited. Mr. Sutherland is also past president of Ontario Shorthorn Club, York County Soil Crop Improvement Association, Ontario Landrace Breeders' Association, Markham Fair, Ontario Institute of Agrolgists (Central Ontario Branch). He is past chairman, Canadian Livestock Records Committee; past chairman, Beef Cattle Committee, Royal Winter Fair; Past President and Director, Canadian Shorthorn Association; Past Director, Canadian Murray Grey Cattle Association; Past President Markham-Unionville Lions Club and a member of Bowmanville Lions Club and a member of Agricultural Institute of Canada.

Mr. Sutherland's background and experience in farm land and building evaluation has established him as one of the foremost authorities on rural real estate in South Central Ontario.

His appointment is in accord with the Company's policy of expansion to provide the best service in all phases of real estate.

Mr. Sutherland, who now lives in Bowmanville, will relocate in the Belleville area.

W. Frank Real Estate Limited operates 17 offices from Toronto to Kingston.

French language instruction - is it really worthwhile?

Many people question the value of French language instruction in our elementary and secondary schools.

Students may learn about it, some say, but what good does it do them? They don't use it, outside of school classes, and in very short order forget almost everything they had learned.

It costs too much, say others...hundreds of thousands of dollars each year in the Hastings County school systems alone.

"Why teach French anyway?" some ask. And they don't want 'that bilingualism bit' in the way of an answer either, noting that the province of Quebec has passed legislation making French the only official language in that province.

"If French only is good enough for Quebec", they reason, "English only should be good enough for Ontario."

To get the reasoning behind the stepped up French language instruction in Hastings County, this newspaper questioned Ronald Robertson, head of the languages department, at the Belleville Collegiate Institute.

He admits there is some objection to the language being taught, but feels the program is a "must" for the educational system.

"It's an individual thing," he reasoned. But he notes that with more and more secondary school graduates wanting to go on to university, the universities are tightening up entrance requirements, and many require a second language. The students therefore demand it.

BCI, he says, offers Latin, German and Spanish in addition to the French language instruction, but French is by far the most popular.

As for forgetting the language, once they leave school, Mr. Robertson agreed that "the biggest percentage do forget."

But he says it is the same for any other individual with a little training in a new language; if emerged in an area where it isn't spoken, it eventually becomes lost.

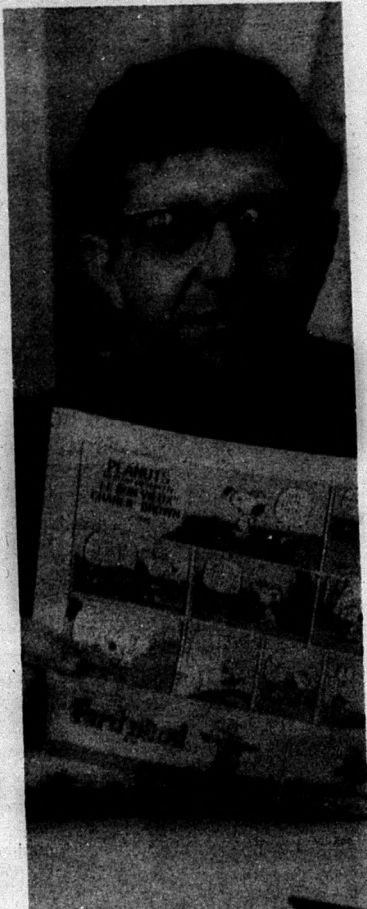

But he says he is getting letters from former students who now have federal government jobs who are downright "scared" about the possibility of losing promotions, and perhaps even their jobs, because they don't have the second language the federal government wants everybody in the civil service to eventually acquire.

"And when they get older, they find it harder to pick up a second language."

The time to do it therefore, is in one's younger years. The school system is the logical place.

Besides, he notes, a second language gives students an insight in other cultures, and in the case of French, the opportunity of exchange visits with students in Quebec.

The visitations vary in length, with a week long ski trip to Mont Sainte-Anne being about the most popular. The locals stay with a French Canadian family, go to school with their host, and enjoy the various activities of rural Quebec.

RONALD ROBERTSON, foreign language department head at BCI, looks over a French language comic section used in some classroom instruction.

Other trips involve single students where English and French speaking children will enjoy a summer holiday with the French speaking parents, and then return to Ontario for a holiday with the English speaking family here.

Mr. Robertson finds that senior students "express themselves very well," and is hopeful they will continue to use the language after they leave the school system.

"Knowing a second language comes in helpful in trips and in obtaining certain positions of employments."

"And as for those who spend so much time and effort to learn the language, only to forget it, Mr. Robertson says "they are only cheating themselves."

LOBA 1193 holds monthly meeting, instals officers

The ladies of the Star of the East, LOBA 1193 held their monthly meeting in the lodge room at the Orange Hall Dec. 18, also installing their new officers and holding a Christmas gift exchange.

The new officers for 1976 were: Worthy Mistress Gladys Ashe; deputy Worthy Mistress, Edith Keller; Jr. Deputy Mistress, Karen Bailey; recording secretary, Jean Bell, financial secretary, Kathaleen Ashe; treasurer, Maude Deline; chaplain, Hilda Anderson; guardian, Alice Bronson; director of ceremonies, Doris Francis; first lecturer, Dorothy Lees; deputy lecturer, Marjorie Ashe; pianist, Marjorie Holland; inner guard, Irene Ashe; outer guard, Pheobe Deline; standing committee, Betty Ashe, Mary Whitman, Ruby Holland, and Bertha Ellis; auditors, Ida Wickens, Karen Bailey and Doris Francis; finance committee, Irene Gordon and Dorothy Lees; sick and visiting committee, Ruby Holland, Irene Gordon and Hilda Anderson; degree captain, Ida Wickens; lunch committee Irene Ashe.

CHSS girls curling team compete

The Centre Hastings Secondary School girls' curling team competed Saturday for the Southern Ontario title.

The team first met Oakville and defeated them 10-3.

They then competed against Cookstown but, in a close game, were defeated in the 10th end by one rock, 9-8.

The girls travel on to Colborne to compete in the Junior Tankard.

The players are Deb Simon, skip, Nancy Guenette, vice-skip, Cheryl Smith, second, and Joyce Brownson, lead.

Holiday visit

Mrs. Margaret Derry visited with her daughter and family, Mr. and Mrs. Hugh Coburn, in Burlington over the holidays.

A lunch was later served and Christmas gifts exchanged.

A get well card was passed around and signed by each member for Mabel Adams who was a patient in the Kingston General Hospital.

Club holds children's party

The Land O Lakes GRS Club childrens' party was held Dec. 14.

A large gathering of club parents and children attended the party, held at the Tweed Hungerford township hall.

Upon the arrival of Santa Claus, the children received a gift and a bag of candy.

Each member brought canned goods and other items were presented to the Salvation Army to help them with their Christmas giving.

The jacket crests were announced as available from President Ken Ray.

The ladies later prepared lunch after which a social time was held.

Services held

for William McBeath

William McBeath died Dec. 22 at the Stirling Towers Nursing Home in his 82nd year.

He was the husband of the late Olive McBeath, father of Marjorie of Hawii, Duncan, of Madoc, and Jean, of Madoc.

He also leaves eight grandchildren and two sisters.

He rested at the MacKenzie Funeral Home, Madoc, where services were held Dec. 24. Rev. E. Hawkes officiated. Interment was in O'Hara's Cemetery. Pallbearers were Ross Devolin, Gerald Reid, Mike Quinn, Bill Bird, Gary Briggs and Wayne McBeath.

Congratulations to

IT HAS BEEN ESTIMATED THAT JOHN WESLEY FOUNDER OF METHODISM PREACHED APPROXIMATELY 40,000 TIMES!

OFTEN, HIS FIRST SERMON OF THE DAY WAS GIVEN AT 5 A.M.

AT THE AGE OF 6, HE WAS RESCUED FROM A BURNING HOUSE. HE BELIEVED HE WAS SAVED FOR A REASON.

JOHN'S BROTHER CHARLES WROTE SOME 6,000 HYMNS.

IN 50 YEARS TIME HE TRAVELED SOME 225,000 MILES ON HORSEBACK TO DELIVER CHRISTIAN MESSAGES.

WHEN SECY. OF STATE SEWARD BOUGHT ALASKA FROM RUSSIA IN 1867, HE GOT IT FOR AROUND $7.2 MILLION. HIS CRITICS CALLED IT "SEWARD'S FOLLY".

POSTAGE STAMPS WERE FIRST INTRODUCED IN ENGLAND IN 1840. THE FIRST ONE BORE A PROFILE OF QUEEN VICTORIA. IN 1847, STAMPS WERE AUTHORIZED IN U.S.

Samantha READS YOUR STARS

ARIES (3/21-4/19): You tend to want everything yesterday. There is a need to develop patience. Time elapses between the planting of the seed and the bearing of fruit on the mature tree. The same applies to human endeavor; overnight success is rare. Wait and work and you'll win, Aries.

TAURUS (4/20-5/20): Your feet are firmly set on the ground, Taurus. Your need for security leads you to the acquisition of the material goods of the earth. This is fine; you work hard and deserve success. But do stop to enjoy the flowers along the way; they are also the goods of the earth.

GEMINI (5/21-6/20): Like the butterfly, you flit from one new experience to another, Gem. Pause once in a while to assimilate what you've learned. Only if you understand where you've been can you know where you are.

MOONCHILD (6/21-7/22): Stop worrying; you've made it through another year. Before you start biting your nails over the new year, take time to count your blessings. There are so many of them that you just may not have any time to worry.

LEO (7/23-8/22): Some of the other signs may envy your self-confidence. There is no way you can better put your warm-hearted generosity to work than by encouraging others to feel as good about themselves as you do about yourself.

VIRGO (8/23-9/22): You strive so hard for perfection and become frustrated when you feel you don't measure up to your own high standards. Remember that no human is perfect. One can only become less imperfect. You're one of the best, Virgo; accept yourself and be happy.

LIBRA (9/23-10/23): A peacemaker and a peacekeeper, the scales of justice and balance are your symbol. Harmony is at the end of your rainbow. But peace for the sake of peace doesn't always bring harmony. A sacrifice of principle will bring unrest within. Stand firm when you feel you're right.

SCORPIO (10/24-11/22): Your zest for life and the intensity with which you tackle it are marvelous. You make a great friend, but a formidable enemy. A scratched Scorpio must cope with desires for vengeance. How about some forgiveness?

SAGITTARIUS (11/23-12/21): Your questing spirit can soar the heights of attainment or be trapped in the maze of your own learning. Know your goal and keep your eye fixed upon it. Like the North Star, it'll be your guide upward.

CAPRICORN (12/22-1/19): The mountain goat, your symbol, must look where it's going in order to reach the top. You, like the goat, tend to be of the same single-minded purpose, sometimes to the exclusion of all else. Don't exclude the beauty and love around you.

AQUARIUS (1/20-2/18): You love humanity but sometimes find it hard to establish a closeness with an individual. You may hesitate to give a commitment and become involved. Work on it gradually; it can be wonderful.

PISCES (2/19-3/20): Where others have to be told to notice the intangibles of life, they are your food and drink. You sometimes need a gentle tug the other way — reality can be infinitely more rewarding and challenging than ivory tower dreams. If you'll excuse a pun, "it's the real thing."

For And About Teenagers

THIS WEEK'S LETTER: "I am almost 18 and like everyone else I have my problems. I have one that I just can't seem to find an answer for. I am now engaged. But I have letters from a boy far away that I was once engaged to—before. I just can't make myself throw the letters away. My parents keep telling me to get rid of them, but I hid them, instead. It doesn't bother me unless something is brought up, or every once in awhile when I see them. Why? I'll never see that boy again, and I know it. I wouldn't marry him if I could, because I'd be afraid to. Why am I the way I am? How can I overcome it? Please help me. I don't want my boyfriend to find out—it would hurt him, and I love him too much to hurt him. What's wrong with me?"

OUR REPLY: Nothing is wrong with you. And you don't need help. The truth is you know the answers to all the questions you asked. In fact, if the real truth were known, chances are you might marry the old boyfriend and hurt the new one. But only you can answer those questions for sure. You can either throw the letters away or keep them. Either way, you decide, it's your responsibility. Make certain you're being honest, though, especially with yourself.

Flight Into Egypt

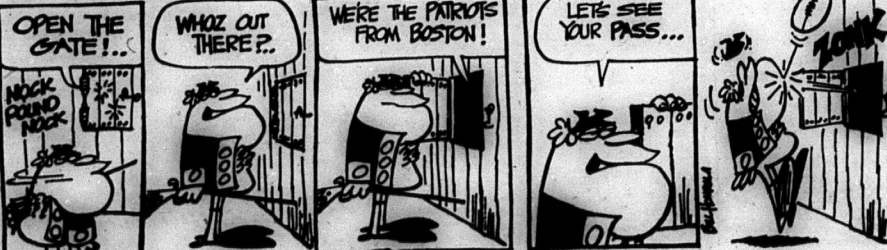

And when they were departed, behold, the angel of the Lord appeared to Joseph in a dream, saying, Arise, and take the young child and his mother, and flee into Egypt, and be thou there until I bring thee word: for Herod will seek the young child to destroy him.

When he arose, he took the young child and his mother by night, and departed into Egypt:

And was there until the death of Herod: that it might be fulfilled which was spoken of the Lord by the prophet, saying, Out of Egypt have I called my son.

Our New Year's Message
On behalf of IGA, good health and happiness to all in 1976.
During the past four years I have had the opportunity of meeting thousands of our customers through personal contact and group discussions. These encounters have been stimulating and have helped IGA to serve you better. We look forward to a continued, friendly rapport with all of our customers.
Thanks to everyone who used the services offered by IGA Consumer Affairs Department throughout the years. I will continue to be your voice to IGA management and your source of food shopping information.
Please feel free to contact me any time that I can be of help to you with food pointers.
May 1976 be a good year.
Mrs. Green is available to talk "shopping" to groups. Please call (416) 259-6633, or write —
